MARKET SPECULATION

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 23.—Stock market speculation was blamed today for the triple murder and suicide which took the lives of Ernest L. Snyder, 68, a wealthy or-chardist, his daughter, Mrs.
Madge Sheppard, 35, her husband, Charles Sheppard, 36, and their son, Ernest Sheppard, 5.

According to state police, when a hired hand at the palatial home of Snyder at Harding, near here, went to work this morning, he found a note telling him to call Ralph Hollister, of Avoca, a brother-in-law of Snyder.
The employee went to the garage, then and found Snyder's body, with a bullet wound in the head, hanging from the garage rafters.

The employee called the state police, who entered the house and there found the bodies of the daughter, son-in-law and grandson, all fatally shot.
Ernest, the grandson was Snyder's namesake.

PA NEW OBSERVES

While the Pa Newc family was riding on the Butler road about three miles beyond Portersville, early Thursday evening, Mrs. Pa Newc in regular back seat driver style commended the driver of the car to stop. The cause of the commotion was discovered as the car was brought to a halt.
Poised in the green field between the road and the dense woods two beautiful specimens of deer were standing.
The Pa Newc family watched the two animals for a minute or two, and then a rattling truck came along the road, and the deer darted into the woods.

And by the way, there is more activity out around Portersville than that community has seen in years.
Work is in progress on improving the Perry highway leading from the town towards Pittsburgh. On this side of the town a loading station is being established, where trucking is being centred for the Perry highway project both toward Pittsburgh and towards Harlansburg.

Foresight of some city employees is showing a pleasing result at the present time. Some years ago vines were planted along the retaining wall on the Neshannock near the city electrician's building on Water street.
The vines cover most of the wall on the creek side this season, and add much to the attractiveness of the scene.

Horseshoes, the favorite pastime of the letter carriers is played with as much gusto by the firemen of the Park avenue station. The fire fighters are engaged in several close matches each evening at the court beside the station.

Help will be provided at cemeteries about New Castle on Memorial Day by Boy Scouts according to an announcement today. The council organization is doing a fine piece of work here, and this is but another of the many times that worthy assistance has been furnished.

Mystery Attends Killing Of Woman In Illinois Town

Mrs. Marie Pelletier, Mother Of Four Children Slain
Near Her Home

BELIEVE ROBBERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

(International News Service)
BERWYN, Ill., May 23.—Police squads waged a concerted search today for the slayer of Mrs. Marie Pelletier, housewife and mother of four children who was mysteriously shot and killed a short distance from her home here last night.

A few moments after she left her home to buy provisions for the next day, three shots roused the quiet neighborhood. Mrs. Pelletier's body was found lying in the parkway two doors from her home. She had been shot through the heart and through the hand.

No eye-witnesses of the shooting could be found and police considered the theory that she was slain when she resisted a holdup man. For her purse could not be found. On the ground were two shells from an automatic pistol.

The woman's husband, Louis and their son, Lester, 24, identified the body. Officials questioned both, but neither could offer any clues. The husband was held for further questioning.

Police were puzzled when four blood-stained handkerchiefs were found in the Pelletier kitchen.

MAKES LONG TRIP AT ADVANCED AGE

SAMUEL W. BELL

Former sheriff of Lawrence county, Samuel W. Bell, 89, who is coming here from San Diego, California, by airplane and train, expects to arrive in New Castle about 8 o'clock this evening, according to a telegram received here today. The telegram was dated at Columbus, O. Mr. Bell expected to arrive earlier today but was delayed.

Mr. Bell is coming over the Transcontinental Air Transport lines which provide passage by train during the night and by airplane during the day.
He is a veteran of the Civil war and Memorial Day exercises and to be present at the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which is to be held in New Castle during the week of June 8.

Official Decorator Designated In City

It is the wish of the Grand Army of the Republic Encampment committee to have all public, and business buildings, as well as the homes of the city decorated during the state encampment June 8-15.

The United Bankers service, Clifford Swick, Ellwood City, manager has been designated as the only official decorators in the city for this encampment, because of the fact that its bid for the street decorating was half that of the nearest competitor and it is believed that it can and will furnish decorations for all places and purposes at the most reasonable figure.

Those figuring on decorating for the encampment should see to it that the person seeking their business, have the credentials of the Better Business Bureau, the Chamber of Commerce and the Encampment Decorating committee. Such persons represent those entitled to the business under the contract between the Encampment committee and the United Bankers service. You will be helping the encampment committee by doing this.

through mud that was ankle-deep in a wheat field, fifty American Gold Star mothers today visited the grave of Quentin Roosevelt, son of the late Theodore Roosevelt, who was shot down with his plane in aerial combat during the World War.

As these women ploughed through the gummy ooze, the same mud that became a horror to the soldiers during the war, they picked poppies that sprinkled the young green wheat with spots of brilliant color.

They laid the poppies in a banked mass of fiery tints over the flier's grave.

At Coucy-Le-Chateau, the Gold

the famous German "Big Bertha" sent

A basket lunch was served at Ser-

Government Observers Report
Quiet And Orderly Pri-

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Republican senatorial nominee in Pennsylvania, and his two defeated rivals, Senator Joseph R.
Grundy and Francis H. Bohlen, were invited today by the Senate campaign fund committee, to appear Monday and explain their campaign expenditures.

Each candidate was advised to bring along the chairman of his campaign committee and all books relating to expenditures or contributions. The committee then will study the reports filed before taking further steps in investigating the Pennsylvania primary.

Orderly Election

The committee had set up elaborate arrangements to detect frauds ballot stuffing and other irregularities and its precautions apparently may have had something to do with the "orderly and quiet" election that was held. At any rate, the committee's "observers" reported the balloting was done in "orderly fashion" throughout the state.

The committee will decide early next week on its next step toward investigating expenditures in the recent Illinois primary. It has been delaying a visit to Chicago and other Illinois cities to hold a first-hand inquiry into expenditures by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who won the Republican nomination there. As the tariff will be debated next week, the Illinois visit probably will be postponed for another week.

West Virginia Bank Cashier Is Robbed In Daring Manner

(International News Service)
BENWOOD, W. Va., May 23.—West Virginia got its first taste of modern criminal methods today when two unmasked bandits held up J. W. Johnson, cashier of the Union Bank of Benwood, rendered Johnson unconscious with a stream of tear gas expelled by a gun and escaped with a bag containing $400 in currency.

The holdup occurred on the Wheel-city. Two automobile were used by the bandits. One car crowded Johnson's machine against a concrete wall, wrecking Johnson's car and damaging that of the bandits.

The two men leaped into Johnson's wrecked machine and discharged the tear gas gun. The cashier was overcome.

When he regained consciousness, the bandits had abandoned their machine for one parked nearby and were disappearing northward in the direction of Pittsburgh.

Complaints Made Of Slow Work On Road Improvement

Road Near Cascade Park Is Not Likely To Be Finished Until Late In Summer

SPEED IS DESIRED BY COMMUNITY

Complaint was made to the county commissioners this morning that grading over the Big Run and railroad bridge at Cascade Park, is proceeding at a snail's pace. The bridge over the railroad was completed last fall and the Big Run bridge soon after, but the filling in necessary has not yet been completed.

Commissioners say that they have nothing to do with the work, as it is under the direction of the state department. The contract for grading was let to a Kittanning man who sublet it to a firm in this city.

When the work was started a detour was made east of the improvement. This detour has not been kept up as it should have been and it is reported that a number of automobile springs have been broken, and at least one collision has occurred on the temporary bridge which forms a part of the detour.

After the bridges were finished a considerable fill had to be made, and it is this work which has been holding the completion of the improvement up. When it is completed the road will have to be concreted. At the present rate of progress it is feared that it will be well into the summer or fall before the road can be opened to travel.

As there is a great deal of travel to Cascade Park during the summer there is likely to be great annoyance and congestion on the detour. Citizens believe that it is up to the state to see that the work is speeded up.

RIO DE JANEIRO IS NEXT STOP FOR GRAF ZEPPELIN will bring the old world so much closer to the new.

It was Pernambuco's signal honor to first greet the Graf. Dr. Hugo Eckner, veteran commander of the airship, and those on board. Pernambuco was making the most of it and even the veteran travelers among the passengers and crew could not help but be moved by the wholehearted adulation and welcome tendered them.

The city hailed with triumph Dr. Eckner's announcement that he would not leave until around midnight for Rio de Janeiro, the Graf's next stop. Pernambuco, then, would have the honor of the Graf's presence longer than the larger metropolis since it was planned by Dr. Eckner to remain only three hours at Rio.

Airship Re-Conditioned
Crowds milled about the airship as mechanics swarmed over the craft, refueling, re-stocking the larders, and checking over the faithful, sturdy motors which had so unceasingly pushed the Graf ever onward.

Troops and mounted police were busy at the field keeping the curious away. Photographers and autograph hunters were on hand everywhere. Boarding and rooming houses in the city were overflowing. Many were turned away, but it seemed to bother them little. There was too much to see—too much that must be remembered and told for weeks to come.

The Zeppelin's passengers—four women and fifteen men—strolled about the streets, many of them luxuriously inhaling lungfull of tobacco smoke that had been denied them while on board the airship. Impromptu receptions were arranged and the freedom of the city was literally the Graf Zeppelin's.

National Officers to Speak.
After greetings have been extended, the business part of the conference will be taken up with different state and national officers scheduled to speak.

Heading the list will be William J. Gorman, Brooklyn, N. Y., president of branch 41 and member of the national executive committee of the carriers. Others will include John Quay, Meadville, national state vice president; Chris J. Halberstadt, Philadelphia, president of the Philadelphia state association; Harry J. Kinzler of Pittsburgh, first state vice president; and D. P. Daugherty, Harrisburg, secretary of the state organization.

Congressman Swick will probably speak if he is in attendance, and it is expected that district officers will also be asked to respond with a few words. Interspersing the business program will be a short entertainment of orchestral music and specialty dances and songs by little Miss Rose Tusciano. It is expected that David Parsons, formerly of New Castle but now of Warren, O., still a member of the New Castle branch, will contribute a vocal solo if he is present. Watkins Matthews will present a solo on his musical saw.

Special invitations have been forwarded to the Youngstown letter carriers although that branch is affiliated with the Ohio association. It is expected that several will come here to represent them. Clerks and other employees of the New Castle postoffice, including Postmaster E. W. Crawford and Assistant Postmaster J. G. Leslie also have been invited to attend.

Outstanding among the business matters to be discussed will be the state convention of the carriers at Erie next Labor Day, the district conference always serving as a pointer to the state convention.

New officers of the northwest district will also be chosen during their meeting tomorrow night.

Presiding tomorrow will be W. M. Carrol of Erie, district president. Other officers whose terms expire are W. E. Clark of this city, vice president, and J. S. Robinson of Johnstown, secretary.

Officers of the New Castle branch whose organization will serve as host to the others are as follows: President, Clifford Roberts; vice president, Walter Leslie; secretary, Fred Kuech, and treasurer, Frank Krepps. Roy Graf-ton is collector of dues; George Swisher, collector for the M. B. A., while W. E. Clark is collector for the sick and accident insurance.

The close of the evening will mark the adjournment of the conference. A buffet lunch and general social time, arranged by a committee composed of John Wilson, Benjamin McCann, Carl Weide and Francis Augustine, all of the local office, will follow immediately after the conference has been officially closed.

POPPY GIRLS TO BE ON STREETS AT EARLY HOUR

proximately $500 was realized from the Buddy Poppy sale last year, every penny of which was used locally for the relief of disabled and distressed World War veterans or their families.

In addition to supplying aid to comrades in distress, in the matter of temporary sustenance, emergency medical or hospital treatment, veterans' bureau liaison work, etc., the proceeds contribute to two other worthy causes.

Helps Disabled Men.

It furnishes a pittance to those disabled veterans in hospitals, who are not receiving compensation from the government, and who have no other method of making a living or securing funds for little luxuries at the hospitals.

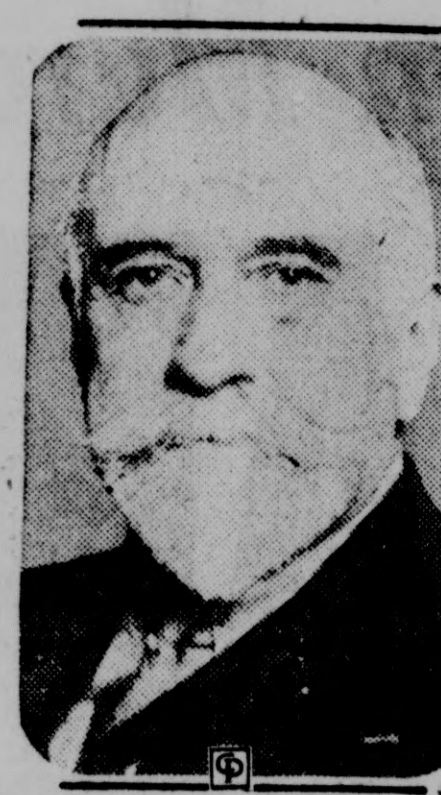

It also helps the Veterans of Foreign Wars to maintain their national home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. One from each poppy sold by the McBride post is contributed to this cause. This home is used as a refuge for the orphans of deceased or totally disabled veterans. Here the children are reared in "family units" under the supervision of a "house mother." Wherever possible, mothers and their children are able to live together. The V. F. W. home provides these children with all the comforts available, including clothes, education, and eventually a vocation that will permit them to make their own way.

The V. F. W. home, located on 512 acres of beautiful farm land and founded in 1925, is developing rapidly. Several V. F. W. state organizations plan to follow in the footsteps of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Michigan, which have already erected modern building units at the national home, dedicated to the memory of their deceased comrades and the care of their orphans.

The girls will also assist the post in making their annual distribution will be chaperoned by members of the ladies auxiliary to the Harry L. McBride post, and it is hoped that the public will accord them the same courteous treatment they have in the past.

STAR LORE

THE EARTH AND SOLAR SYSTEM FALLING THROUGH SPACE

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The solar system is falling through space! The sun being the controlling body that by its great mass holds the planets in its gravitational grip, carries them with it in its thrilling fall of 13 miles a second, in a direction 10 degrees southwest of the bright summer star Vega. All the planets must necessarily fall together at that same relative orbital positions near the plane of the ecliptic. The direction of the line of motion with which the entire solar system is falling makes an angle of about 55 degrees with the plane of the ecliptic.

PINCHOT-DAVIS; PARTY NOMINEES FACE WET THREAT

general aspect of the November elections.

Phillips Not Candidate
Announcement already has been made that a party name will be pre-empted and a wet ticket placed in the field to oppose the Davis-Pinchot combination. Although no candidates have been announced for the proposed ticket, speculation concerning the likelihood of Thomas W. Phillips, defeated anti-prohibition gubernatorial candidate in the late campaign, entering the fight was stilled with the definite statement that Phillips would abide by the results of Tuesday's balloting.

Robert K. Cassatt, chairman of the Pennsylvania Branch of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment which backed Phillips and Francis Bohlen in their quest for the gubernatorial and senatorial nominations, said:

"When Phillips consented to make the fight for nomination, he stipulated that if defeated in the primaries, he would not be asked nor expected to be a candidate in the fall."

Speculation today centered on the personnel to be placed on the wet ticket. It was believed that the anti-prohibition forces would be hard put to sift the available candidates for governor and choose a man who could command the harvest of votes reaped by Phillips.

Overtures may be made to Professor Bohlen to head the independents as candidate for senator on the wet slate according to reports today. These reports, however, were unconfirmed this morning.

Brilliant Banquet Marks Annual Federation Meeting

A brilliant occasion, and fittingly observed, was the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs held in the ball-room at The Castleton Thursday evening, when a hundred and twenty-five, including members and guests, gathered about the artistically decorated tables.

Colors of pink, green and blue were used tastefully in the menu cards and novelty dolls made by the art club and garden clubs. Three tall pink tapers in crystal holders flanked the large floral centerpiece. Snapdragons and roses at the oblong table which were seated Mrs. Charles Greer, retiring president of the Federation, and the guest speaker of the evening, Miss Sara Soffel, an attorney of Pittsburgh and other notable guests. Numerous small tables seated groups from six to eight, decorated in the same manner, arranged in perfect order, formed indeed a spectacular scene. A delicious menu, in several courses, was served by candle light.

The appointed toast mistress, Mrs. H. L. Dague being unable to attend, Mrs. Charles Greer, presided in a pleasing and efficient way. Upon speaking a few words of welcome, and the pleasure assured for the events to follow, Mrs. Greer opened the program, all joining in singing of "Pennsylvania" with Mrs. Paul D. Welsh of the piano. As a courtesy the ladies of the various committees stood up for recognition as being responsible for the elegant arrangement of the affair. The newly elected officers of the Federation were also received in the same manner. Mrs. S. M. Matheny, president; Mrs. S. D. Pearson, first vice president; Mrs. C. W. Morrow, second vice president; Mrs. Albert Treser, recording secretary; Mrs. William Cosel, corresponding secretary and Mrs. John Whitten, treasurer having been named at the afternoon session.

Mrs. Jacob P. Rentz, representing The Reading Circle, presented the Mrs. T. W. Phillips Horticultural Award to be given to High School graduates from Lawrence County to Miss Marjorie Rhodes, representing the high school, Miss Rhodes in turn thanked Mrs. Rentz and the Reading Circle, and accepted the privileges of the award, in behalf of the school and students, and assured all that it would be used to the best advantage.

Award for the best attendance was also made by Mrs. Charles Greer, to the Sorsos Club their president Mrs. S. E. Crawford accepting. It was the second time for such a honor to be bestowed upon the club.

An original poem composed by Mrs. W. L. Campbell of "Pennsylvania" was read, being well received. The contest for the best poem, song, and music on Pennsylvania, for which Mrs. Greer offered a money award for the best contribution, has been withdrawn until next year, due to the fact that only one thus far, had been entered.

The toastmistress, introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Miss Sara Soffel, Attorney-at-Law of Pittsburgh, the possessor of a magnetic and pleasing personality. Her topic, "Child Conservation" was discussed in an excellent manner, giving many facts and revealing many points of vital interest, among which she touched upon Child Labor law of Pennsylvania, and the steps taken to better conditions. The laws and regulations made as time goes on by the different States to exempt children under age from engaging in any occupation that will lead to physical distress, termed as "Occupational diseases" were presented, giving examples of such cases. She told of the fine work done by famous Dr. Mary Riggs Noble, and heartily endorsed the necessity of detention homes, and of some laws that should be adopted. She told the many ways in which this work had been advanced, and the International Organizations showing the certain measures taken that have furthered this great work. Attorney Soffel in summing up her talk of vital interest and importance, in a concrete manner assured all that something definite has been accomplished in Pennsylvania toward Child Labor elimination.

The program especially arranged under Mrs. Paul Welsh for this occasion, which was well conducted by the Westminster College Glee Club and the music club of New Castle.

The program is as follows:
Theme and variations... Gabrielowitz
Serenade... Dr. D. M. Dr. M. Dr. M.
Miss Claire Greer, piano; Frank Colgrove, cello; Donald Cameron, violin; Nocturne... Curran

MR. GRUNDY, able industrialist, unpaid and powerful lobbyist for industrialism, will not return to the Senate to which he was appointed. Mr. Davis, Labor secretary, and a Labor unionist beat Grundy overwhelmingly at the primaries Tuesday.

Opposition to the tariff is supposed to have cut Mr. Grundy's vote. There was probably some other, bigger power back of Mr. Davis.

MR. McBRIDE says the prohibition cause only got $1,000 altogether from Henry Ford and Mr. Rockefeller hasn't given any money to the Anti-Saloon League since 1926.

It was in or about 1926 that many who had favored Prohibition and hoped for the best possible results changed their minds.

There is no indication however that the Rockefeller family has changed its mind on Prohibition. But it has stopped contributing money.

Perhaps it has changed its mind about the Anti-Saloon League.

Worry no more about the world coming to an end. A Canadian scientist says the sun is about ten billion years old and will last at least ten billion years longer. Ten thousand million years is a long time.

While the sun lasts the earth will last. The human race may be partially, or completely wiped out at intervals, compelled to begin all over again, working its way up from microscopic creatures floating in salt water.

"Where we stand now there was once ice about 4,000 feet thick. The ice will come again, go again. Ultimately it will remain."

So says Dr. A. B. Reeve. He does not believe that this world is just a machine, or that spiritual things are of unimportance, for which much thanks. Even the earth would have no existence if there were no spirits locked up in our brains to see it, and make it real by understanding it.

WE HAVE, by the way a new ancestor, nothing less than a fish fossil, with a hinged neck, that lived about 200,000,000 years ago. He was found near the City of Buffalo, N. Y., where he used to swim when the northern part of the United States was covered with water.

That fish with the hinge in its neck was a necessary part of our evolution, if you believe science.

Now we have hinge all the way down our necks, and all the way down our spines to the last joint, all we have left of a tail we once carried around.

CHINA apparently means to be up to date, in war. The French authorities in Indo-China have seized a shipment of poison gas for the Nanking government.

France suggests that Germany supply the poison gas. The German foreign office denies it.

The important thing for this peace loving country is the proof that, when war comes, fighters turn naturally to poison gas.

LONDON, which often knows more about our affairs than we know, says money will be even cheaper than it was. The bank rate may be reduced to 2½ per cent.

Paris reports money "unobtainable." It only that had been the case last October, when the sky was the limit and everything was going up. Then people wanted money and had to pay 15 and 20 per cent to borrow it. Now they don't want it and can get it for almost nothing.

BOMBAY reports 200 more injured in another of many Hindu riots. Mrs. Naidu, poetess, replacing Gandhi, now in jail, as leader of the Hindus, has been arrested with Gandhi's son.

Gandhi promises to provoke arrests until all the jails and other buildings are full, and wonders what Britain will do then. It is a difficult question.

If you put a million Hindus in jail, there would be 219,000,000 left to carry on Gandhi's "civil disobedience" campaign.

GANDHI tells an interviewer that India demands "full freedom." Propagandists for the Indian revolution in America say that before Britain took control of India it was a great and free nation. History provides little information to that effect.

WOULD the administration and congress tell the nation what, if anything, they propose to do with Muscle Shoals?

There power goes to waste worth millions a year.

That power could produce fertilizer that farmers need.

If an individual or corporation possessed and failed to use such vast potentialities of wealth, insanity experts would be called.

IN 1929 this country imported 1,000,000 tons of nitrate of soda, containing 150,000 tons of fixed nitrogen. Nitrate plant No. 2 at Muscle Shoals would produce 50,000 tons of fixed nitrogen a year. Muscle Shoals cost the United States more than $150,000,000.

It would employ thousands of American workmen, now idle, increasing domestic purchasing power, saving the American farmer $12.83 a ton that he now pays to the Chilean government as export duty in nitrates. The work now done by Chile and the Germans would be done in the United States.

The Florence, Alabama, Chamber of Commerce, most reasonably, asks the Republican administration to think this over.

IMPORTANT POINT
A mysterious building had been erected on the outskirts of a small town. It was shrouded in mystery. All that was known about it was that it was a chemical laboratory. An old farmer, driving past the place at work had been started, and seeing a man in the doorway, called to him.

"What be ye doin' in this here place?"

"We are searching for a universal solvent—something that will dissolve all things," said the chemist.

"What good will that be?"

"Imagine, sir—it will dissolve all things. If we want a solution of iron, glass, gold, anything, all that we have to do is to drop it in this solution."

"Fine," said the farmer. "Fine! What be ye goin' to keep it in?"

False Values In Hero Worship Confuse Issue In Cagle Case

Public Adulation Of Athlete's Football Ability Blamed For His Attitude Toward Obligations To Academy

Christian K. Cagle's contract with the government takes first place in the discussion of his departure from West Point on the eve of his graduation from the United States Military Academy. That attitude toward him is tempered by his football record is evident and some blame the nation for falsely evaluating the relative merits of athletes and soldiers. Cagle is condemned generally for failing to fulfill his obligation of service in the Army. Some comments emphasize the need of higher pay for officers, in connection with the Cagle statement that he expected to receive a large amount in civilian life.

"Red" Cagle is a gallant and skillful football player," says the WASHINGTON STAR. "His country had reason to anticipate that he would prove no less outstanding in the military service. He has chosen to desert the field in which he undoubtedly would have shone, as he shone on the gridiron. That is not a very inspiring example to leave behind for those who will follow him on the palisades of the Hudson."

He should have been kicked out," remarks the NEW YORK EVENING POST, "but he is after all, such a youngster and such a heroic youngster, that we find it in our hearts to be sorry for him. Here's hoping that he makes of life the same brave success that he made of football!"

West Point authorities are clearly justified in requiring prompt resignation of Cadet Christian Keener Cagle. Flagrant violation of Army regulations cannot be condoned," says the BIRMINGHAM NEWS, and continuing: "In this case, the prescribed penalty should be as it has been, unflinchingly applied. The famed football star's reported appraisal of the value of a lieutenant's commission does not tend to mitigate his offense. Mr. Cagle's sense of values hardly indicates that he has in him stuff that great soldiers are made of," concludes The News.

The MANCHESTER UNION is more severe in its judgement, this paper saying: "The further developments in the case of Cadet Cagle are calculated to strengthen the popular opinion that the star of the West Point football team is getting off altogether too lightly in view of all the circumstances of the case. Apparently the Army authorities are disposed to accept his resignation, and let the whole matter drop. Considering the fact that he remained at the Academy for more than two years after he had broken the rules of the institution by marrying, that in effect he deceived his superiors in regard to his status for that length of time, it would seem that a refusal to accept the resignation and dishonorable discharge of the offender from the service would be entirely justified."

Approval of the Academy's action by the ANNISTON STAR, in view of the revelation of Cagle's marriage is expressed in the words: "Quality of violating the regulations and of deception regarding the infraction of the rules, Cagle could hope for no special consideration should the officials of the Academy have had it in their power to show leniency. As the TERRE HAUTE STAR points the picture, Cagle has not played the game. No sense of obligation restrained him when the lure of the dollar beckoned. His reported marriage automatically ended his military career. This example on the part of an outstanding cadet will not improve discipline at West Point. Instead of graduating with the adulation of the cadet corps and the good wishes of the nation's football army, he sinks away to take a coaching job at a Mississippi college."

More lenient is the opinion of the DETROIT NEWS, which asks: "But had not Cagle drawn heaven knows how many thousands of dollars through the turnstiles of army games and had he not therefore with something to spare, paid his score?" So also the CANTON NEWS. "In the delight which he gave his country on the field of football, Mr. Cagle figures he has paid his debt to his country without further fighting on other fronts." The LOUISVILLE TIMES thinks that it is deplorable that he considered football such a transcendent importance, it must at the same time be remembered that the considerations which led to this disproportionate and artificial valuation were extremely powerful and much complicated, and that it was as young man under extraordinary pressure that he made the wrong decision.

American publicity methods, which "made Cadet Cagle what he was—a name known on every newspaper sports page," are blamed by the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL, and this paper asks: "If publicity is leading our football stars to do foolish things, isn't it time to go a little easier on the kind of publicity that exploits individuals in sports?"

Cadet Cagle's comment on the "gentle poverty" of a young second lieutenant in the army, in his original letter of resignation, before the news of his disqualifying marriage leaked out, has called attention to the need of better pay in the military and naval service.

As the JERSEY JOURNAL says: "The officers of the United States Army cannot be blamed for wishing that Congress would increase their pay. Neither can they be blamed for some attention on the pay question." The CHATTANOOGA NEWS agrees that "the pay of $1500 a year for junior officers is ridiculously inadequate, particularly since, in peace time, second lieutenants must remain second lieutenants for many years. Yet," continues this paper, "the youth who enters West Point agrees, by his entrance, to see it through."

shares "the feeling of a great many observers of our military establishment, that army officers are underpaid, and we agree that perhaps some upward revision of the salary schedule would be desirable for the general good of the service. But Mr. Cagle had all the facts before him when he entered West Point," contends this paper, "the government placed all its cards on the table."

The conviction that "there will be no social and the policy of trying to make men with West Point education and training live on $125 a month," is voiced by the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS. The LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT notes that "service in our army is very much like service in our whole governmental structure, with a few exceptions. We still stick to the naive belief that the butcher, the baker and the public utility can be paid with the glory that our public servants win."

On the other side of the question the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL says: "It is usually agreed that four years in West Point gives a young man a different outlook on life. There is no major general in the army who would exchange his position for one in private life. Many times more remunerative."

Little interest is expressed in the suggestion that some of the officials at the Military Academy may have known of Cagle's marriage and overlooked it, papers generally seeing no likelihood of such a state of affairs. Here and there the necessity of the rule against the marriage of cadets is questioned. Says the SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN: "The charge that certain officers at the academy knew of the marriage but supposed the fact in order that Cagle might continue to play on the team, is not only stoutly denied, but is ungenerous."

Of marriage, the OAKLAND TRIBUNE remarks: "It is probable that the case of a man so well known will draw new attention to the rule and make new demands that it be explained and defended by the authorities at West Point and in the War Department." Says the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE: "Some engineering corporation will probably get the benefit of Cagle's technical training. He became an engineer. Sam sticks to an ancient prejudice against cadets getting married."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

FORLIGNERS IN MEXICO

The Pathfinders loitered in beautiful Guadalajara and Harry Carr writes about many Mexican things in the Los Angeles Times.

"It is curiously interesting to see the direction that national temperament takes in Mexico. If you hear that a foreigner is in business here you know the business when you hear the nationality."

The department stores of Guadalajara are all French. No one else has ever been able to get to first place. "The mining operations are either English or American."

"The manufacturers are in the hands of Germans; also most of the banks. Sidewalk peddlers are Syrian."

"The most popular foreigners are Americans, Germans and English. They don't like the French because the French never mingle with the natives. They live for the day when they can go back to Paris. The Mexicans hate Syrians. Germans ordinarily make the money, but a part of the land. They go to great pains really to acquire the language in all its fine points."

"No one will ever know what Mexico has suffered from revolutions. It is something not to be calculated in."

PUBLICITY ON PLANE ACCIDENTS

THE air commerce act requires the department of commerce to investigate the causes of all airplane accidents, to record its findings and conclusions and to make them public. When the law was passed in 1926 there were no precedents upon which to base legislation of this nature and, as a result, the statute was faulty in certain aspects.

No objections have been interposed against the administration of the act so far as the investigation and the recording of the causes of accidents are concerned. But Senator Bratton has been contending that the reports of the department do not fulfil the requirement that findings shall be made public. The department's defense is that the law does not protect it from legal consequences of making public its verdicts.

So Senator Bratton won a victory last week when he put through the senate a resolution calling for complete information with respect to all accidents that have occurred since May 20, 1926, of which there is a record, including therein among other matters the names of persons involved, complete findings as to primary and contributing causes and full information about the pilots and the planes.

It is believed air commerce and aviation in general will benefit from full publicity on accidents, by showing them to be avoidable.

OLD FIELDS YIELD AGAIN

Seventy years ago the Pennsylvania oil boom got under way, eventually bringing fame and fortune to Rousseville, Tidioute, Titusville, Oil City and other towns in Northwestern Pennsylvania. But in three decades or so the new industry passed on to Ohio, Indiana, Oklahoma and other points west, so that for many years now Ohioans and other Americans have thought of the Pennsylvania oil fields as distinctly played out, as dead and gone as the nineteenth century.

So there is surprise for most readers in the news that Pennsylvania has been coming back as a petroleum-producing state, as have Ohio, New York and West Virginia. The Pennsylvania field in 1929 averaged a production of 64,086 barrels a day, 6,385 barrels over the 1928 average and not far below the daily output of 83,000 barrels or so, reached when the field was in its prime in 1880 and 1881.

Reliable figures supplied by the bureau of mines show that Pennsylvania and the adjoining states produced no less than 23,891,618 barrels of crude petroleum last year, an increase of more than 10 per cent over the previous year and a total increase of more than 37 per cent in the last five years.

There is encouragement as well as astonishment in this revival of productivity and profit in a field thought of by uninformed Americans elsewhere as exhausted long ago. The water flooding and other modern methods so successful in restoring the old wells to profitable usefulness were doubtless prompted by the growing demand for petroleum and its products, notably gasoline. Thus the old rule that demand will have its supply, regardless of circumstances, gains a new illustration in an old place.—The Cleveland News.

NAVAL POMP

Modern warfare has made moles out of the men engaged on land, forced them into muddy trenches from which they creep under cover of night or rise and attack behind a screen of smoke by day. In sharp contrast to all this the naval forces at sea are picturesque, theatrical, full of the glamor of war.

Until the twentieth century organized war has been full of pageantry. A grand rhythm governed the tide of battle. There was a dignified note to its drama; a slow and ponderous movement of its forces, which were costumed for the part. Today among the land forces none of this ostentation is left. Only among a fleet of naval vessels, huge and beautiful steel fortresses afloat, is still preserved the impressive pomp of ancient warfare.

Nor is this naval pomp a fictitious thing. It exists, is recognized and is not infrequently used. Roosevelt sent the American fleet around the world in 1908 in order to impress other nations as well as test the reliability of the engines. When the United States took over the Virgin Islands, Washington directed the whole fleet to steam in a long column around our new possessions in order to impress the inhabitants thereof. It was Beatty's sense of values that moved him to stage a great naval parade when the grand fleet and our American squadron brought the surrendered German men-of-war to England.

Isn't there some determining connection between these facts and the world-wide reluctance to scrap the superdreadnaughts and battleships in the face of disarmament demands and indisputable evidence of aircraft's superior fighting strength? But for the masses' love of pomp and royalty and the larger ships of war would not have survived the post-war reckoning.

MINISTER TO CANADA

Announcement that the president has selected Mr. Hanford MacNider of Iowa to be Minister to Canada will be received with satisfaction. Mr. MacNider, who served as Assistant Secretary of War, also has the distinction of having been national commander of the American Legion. He was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for meritorious work during the war, and he has besides a number of citations for bravery.

Mr. MacNider has the double advantage of having served his country in civil and military posts. He is a first-class business man and is familiar with questions that are likely to arise between the United States and the Dominion of Canada. By picking out one of this type for such an important place the president is keeping up his record for first-class appointments.

Old Implements Recall Days Of Hand Labor And Old Industrial Methods

Old rifle.
Piece of flax.
Wooden pitch-fork.
Broad-axe.
Powder horn.
And an old broom, are a few of the odd curios which can be seen hanging on the wall in the corner of the office of Charles G. Martin, St. Cloud building. They are just intimate objects, and yet, no matter how preoccupied you may be, they can't be passed by with a mere glance. Curiosity makes you wonder what the secrets are that these tokens hide.

What battles the powder horn has probably seen! The horn may have held the powder that killed many of the foe, during the Civil War. And the rifle—it would tell an interesting tale, if given the gift of speech.

The piece of flax was made on the Hunter farm, on the Harlansburg road. It was made in the days when men plowed the ground and women made all their own material for their clothes. That was a long time ago, friends.

There were no saw mills in the era when the broad-axe was used. Logs were split into rough planks, by brawny woodsmen who wielded this heavy axe as if it was no larger than a court er's gavel. The long handle is warped and shaped, making it more suited for its purpose.

Just as queer looking, is the wooden pitchfork. The prongs are held apart by wooden blocks. The curious antique probably served very faithfully, until it was set aside for an iron pitch fork.

Remember the pictures of witches in the Mother Goose books. They were usually shown flying in the air on their broom. Perhaps the broom on the wall of this office, once belonged to a witch. It certainly greatly resembles a witch's broom, with its long handle and bushy base.

Another object of interest is a small, rusty and weathered pick. It was used to extract gold from rocks and was found, buried 8 feet in the ground under the Alamo, and sent to Mr. Martin.

Then there is a sickle and a large clock, which was the first brass works clock ever made.

Also of interest are the old coins which Mr. Martin has collected over a long period of years.

Mr. Martin is one of the many local people who are interested in all sorts of old curios, and his collection is certainly one of which to be proud.

Winsome Girl Riders With Robinson's Circus

Famous men and women riders of Europe and America are among the celebrities with John Robinson's Circus, the world's pioneer circus, which comes to New Castle for afternoon and night exhibitions on Saturday, May 31. A few of the notable equestrians are the Hollis Family, Reno McCree Duo, and Rudy Rudyoff Troupe, and they are certain to give an interesting exposition of riding.

Two of the stars of the ring are the Misses Bessie Hollis and Isobel McCree. Many wonderful feats of equestrianism will be offered by these two slender sylph-like girls of twenty. The present tour is the first made on this side of the Atlantic by these dainty and charming riders.

In addition to its equestrians, John Robinson will have superior attractiveness in every other way. The acrobats, clowns, aerialists, gymnasts and tumblers are also world notches. The menagerie is a five continent exhibition of strange wild animal life and the doors to this department will swing ajar one full hour in advance of performance time.

"Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt," the last wonder in circus spectacles, will open the exhibitions at 2 p. m. and 8 o'clock.

money. It must be calculated in a period of nineteen years during which time the government was in the hands of brackens acting as governors of great States. The most promising thing about Mexico of today is that the class of executives is improving. I have met the governors of four Mexican States. Three impressed me as earnest, progressive, far-seeing men.

"No matter how small the town in Mexico, some one is sure to come up and announced that he has lived in the United States.

"An old ragamuffin with the shreds of two pairs of pants, one ragged shoe and one sandal, came up to us in the hotel lobby. He said he had worked in Los Angeles and Beaumont. He couldn't get back across the line; but two of his children were born in Los Angeles, and he cackled with glee to think that they can't be kept out of the United States.

"In a tiny mountain town we met another Mexican. He had been a waiter in a winter hotel at Tampa and a sailor in the Navy. He is now an inspector of steel in a mill in Cleveland. He came down to Mexico to visit his father and mother, and now he can't get back, owing to the new immigration laws.

"He is married to an American girl in Cleveland and they have a baby. She is in the United States, on the wrong side of the line, dancing in a picture house, and writes him letters which he showed us with great pride. They said: 'Dear husband, I love you. I adore you. The baby is well and I am well. I am dancing in a theater.'

"In another town in Michoacan we met a boy who had spent one year at the University of Illinois. He had to come home when his father lost his estate in one of the revolutions. He is forgetting his English but looks forward to the day when there will be a lot of American tourists down here.

"We should have known from the chicken that no Mexican ever cooked it. It was at a luncheon they gave us in a town on the border between Jalisco and Michoacan—in a camphor grove. We saw the peasant woman hovering over the open fire and there was something the way she hobbled around—as though her feet were sore. "She finally turned around and we saw that she was a very old and a very weakened-up colored woman. I tried to talk to her, but she had forgotten how to speak English. I suppose her story went back to some far-away cotton field and a moonlight night and a Mexican boy.

"The Mexicans are making what many people consider a dangerous experiment with their army. They are turning it from a scattered go-as-you-please band of guerrilla fighters who lug along the women and children, goats and chickens, into a disciplined modern force. It is to be seen how so markedly individualistic people as Mexican Indians will take to European discipline.

"The Secretary of War—Gen. Amaro—has gone to the best source for his army models.

"The uniform he has adopted is half Russian, half German. "He is modeling his cavalry on the English; his infantry on the French; his aviation corps on the American lines.

"Mexican automobile drivers are the wildest and the most skillful of any I have ever known. If the accelerator isn't down to the level of the floor they do not think they are having a ride.

"They go whooping at full speed through village streets so narrow that the hub caps almost touch on both sides. There is a wild scattering of children, burros, pigs and steers. But nothing ever seems to happen—except that you get gooseflesh.

"If Mexico ever gets good roads a new market for American automobiles will be opened that will cheer the manufacturers up considerably. In some of the towns of Michoacan they have bought automobiles with no place to go.

"If ever a country was fed up on revolutions, it is this one. "Even the peasants realize how incalculable has been the cost in poverty, in suffering and in lost opportunities of this horrible twenty years of warfare.

"The collapse of the last one was a great lesson to the army group. They realize that the policy of the United States made that one and all future revolutions impossible. Instead of resentment, the Mexican people are almost pathetically grateful. "They want roads and they want to go to work. All they need now is foreign capital."

Perfectly: An American prefix. See perfectly awful and perfectly grand.

PRESIDENT AND SENATOR FIGURE IN A "FISH" STORY

(International News Service.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 23.—Cited for asserted illegal trout fishing, Roy Fellom, Jr., 17, told the "game warden."

"You can't arrest me. My father is a state senator."

Which was right, Fellom is the son of State Senator Fellom of San Francisco.

That didn't halt the "game warden," who said:

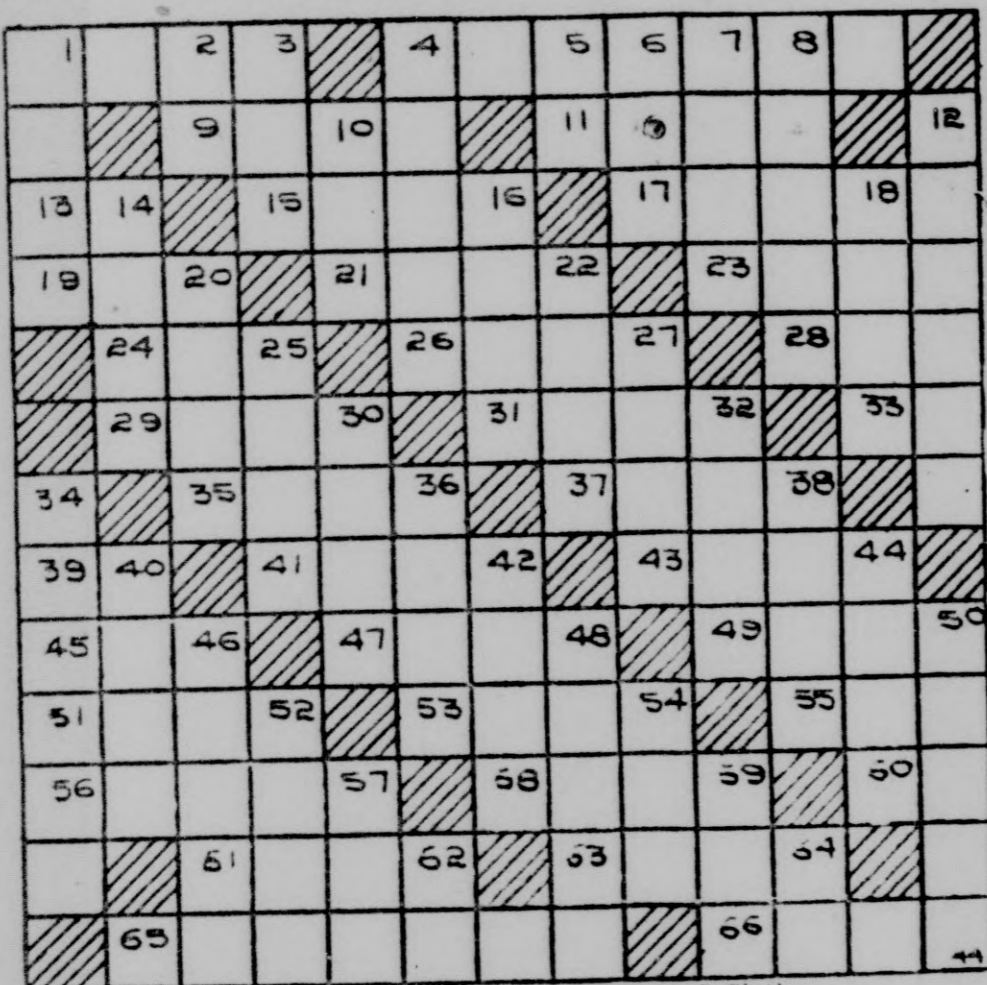

"You'll have to go higher than that, my brother is president of the United States."

And the "game warden" introduced himself as Theodore Hoover, dean of the school of engineering at Stanford University, and brother of the President.

Young Fellom, with two high school chums, had blundered unknowingly into the Hoover 1600 acre estate in Santa Cruz county. The county lists Hoover as a special deputy game warden—salary $1 a year.

Hoover ordered the three high school boys to appear before a peace justice.

Peter's Adventures

OUT OF SIGHT TO SAFETY

Mr. and Mrs. Great Water Beetle would have done anything in the world for the boy who had saved their lives by hiding them under his hat in the nick of time and right under the very nose of their cruel cousin. So when he asked them to learn to fight, in self-protection, they nodded.

"We'll try to remember to play our part!" chorused they. "Next time we feel like making for the safety of the reeds we'll try to remember our promise."

"Good!" whispered Peter. "Of course I don't mean that you should get into a regular battle with the Monster of the Pool but just a little scrap might teach him not to be such a bully. He who fights and runs away lives to fight another day you know. My word, though, I shouldn't be detaining you here. Brown Water Beetle is out of sight, he must be rounding the lower edge of the pool. In a moment more he will spy you and it will be just as well if you have had time to practice fighting before you meet him. He means well, so do you—but it will be hard for any of you three to change your real nature. Do you know I imagine I should lose all my pull with Brown Beetle if he guessed the trick I played upon him. My wouldn't he be mad if he knew you had eavesdropped. Best for all of us that we take no chances. Hurry up now friends, off with you! You're lucky if you make your get-a-way before Brown Beetle shoots round the turn."

Peter's last words stirred the Great Water Beetles to action. A kick, a splash, and Friend Husband had disappeared beneath the surface of the water, a faint cry of farewell and Friend Wife was out of sight. Peter watched the ripples marking the spot where the couple had been, and sighed with relief. A great weight was off his mind.

Civil War Veteran And Wife Near Parting

(International News Service.)
LONG BEACH, Cal., May 23.—An enfeebled Civil War veteran and his wife whom he married in 1877, face the parting of ways. The aged couple are James N. Mason and Henrietta Mason.

Grimly dragging his "game" leg, the old campaigners of the days of General Grant and Lee appeared in court to file a suit for divorce and demand that his wife, Henrietta, be compelled to sell property valued at $25,000 that they might live in comfort.

In a voice that trembled with age, "Private Mason explained he was too old to work; that he could no longer support his wife and himself.

He asserted it was community property and that he was entitled to a share.

Mrs. Mason, prim in her black bonnet and dropping shawl, replied indignantly.

In a cross complaint she declared the property was hers. Besides, she charged her husband left her once and told her he was "never coming back." That was in 1907.

Furthermore "Jim Mason once associated with women of questionable character," her cross complaint recited.

Friends are endeavoring to effect a reconciliation.

America Arranges Jesuit Exposition

(International News Service.)
PARIS, May 23.—Dr. Gilbert Chinard, Professor of history in Johns Hopkins University, has been named an American representative in the Retrospective Section of the International Colonial Exposition to be held in Paris in 1931.

According to an announcement Dr. Chinard has been charged with the gathering together of historical data dealing with the exploits of the French Jesuits, such as Pere Marquette, in exploring the upper reaches of the Mississippi. The doctor will also obtain material concerning the pioneer work of French Huguenots in colonizing Georgia and South Carolina.

It is hoped that the journal of Pere Marquette, now at St. Mary's College in Montreal, along with his crucifix and prayer book may be loaned for the exhibition.

Doctor Chinard also hopes to obtain the loan of the Bible used at the Huguenot Church at Charlestown, Ga., three hundred years ago.

RICHMAN BROTHERS

131 E. WASHINGTON ST.

READ THE FACTS

In 1879, our first modest factory was established in Cleveland, as the outgrowth of a little shop in Portsmouth, Ohio, where my father began to make good clothes seventy-seven years ago.

From that day to this, we've made the best clothes we knew how to make. We've improved the quality and added more value, year after year, as wider experience and greater resources have made improvement possible.

We're proud to sell these clothes under our own name . . . to back them with a guarantee which pledges not only our long reputation for business integrity, but every dollar of our assets.

The modest factory of 1879 has grown to the largest clothing factory in the world, employing 3800 skilled needle workers throughout the year. Every one of these employees is a part owner of this business . . . every one connected with this company is the owner of stock purchased out of their weekly earnings . . . evidence of their supreme faith in the quality of their product and the destiny of their company.

A second factory in Lorain, Ohio, adds thousands of suits, weekly, to the immense production of our Cleveland plant. Fifty-five retail stores in 50 cities, and 750 factory trained and bonded sales representatives, place Richman Brothers

Clothes within convenient reach of every man in the United States.

Yet this is not a chain store organization. Our stores are factory branches, or service stations, established to facilitate the original Richman plan of selling "direct from our factories to you" . . . a plan which saves you the middleman's profit on every purchase.

The costly appearance and quality of Richman Brothers Clothes place them in a class so far above their price that there is no basis for comparison . . . they establish a standard of value without precedent in clothing history.

This crowning achievement of Richman's unparalleled progress, gives assurance that when it is possible to produce finer clothes of greater value, they will bear the Richman Brothers label.

Added proof of Richman leadership will be found in the splendid showing of new suits we now offer for summer wear . . . suits that are fashionably correct in every detail . . . tailored of fabrics identical in quality with those featured in many stores at $50, or higher . . . a variety that affords wide choice of the

1400 Different Plants In Indiana

(International News Service.)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 23.—There are more than 1400 different kinds of plants growing on the Indiana Dunes at the southern end of Lake Michigan.

Among them are some 25 species of wild orchids, and such other rare flora as the pitcher plant, tamarack, gold-thread and bunch-berry.

These facts are revealed in "Flora of the Indiana Dunes," the only book in print containing descriptions of all the flowering plants of the Dunes regions.

The book, just issued by the Field Museum of Natural History here, is the work of Donald C. Peattie, writer and botanist, formerly on the staff of the United States Department of Agriculture, who has devoted considerable time to exploring the Dunes and collecting and studying their flora.

The Dune area has long been known as one of the richest and most interesting botanical regions of the United States, but never before has a complete record of all its plants been published.

Many of the plants described are found also throughout the Chicago area, and the state of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

CHICAGO, May 23.—A $5,000,000 hospital, 30 stories tall, with kitchenette apartments for wealthy convalescents, will be built on Northwestern University's downtown Chicago campus.

The hospital will adjoin and be operated in connection with the university's medical school. Booth are Methodist institutions.

The three-room kitchenette apartments will be rented at $100 a day. However, more than two-thirds of the patients will be cared for at rates less than the present average hospital cost and much of the treatment will be free. George W. Dixon, president of the Wesley trustees, said

Auditors Comment On Expenditures

Mercer County Auditors Make Recommendations In Annual Report Filed Today

MERCER, Pa., May 23.—The report of the Mercer county auditors, J. W. Black, W. H. Davis and William Elder filed here in the office of the county prothonotary, is a very interesting document because of the recommendations made by the trio. The financial portion of the report shows the amount spent in 1929 for charitable purposes in the county amounted to over $28,561.54 which is $10,000 in excess of the 1928 costs. This does not include the cost of the home upkeep.

The practice of awarding contracts without asking for bids was criticized by the auditors, who recommended to the commissioners that all contracts in excess of $500 be submitted to bid.

The practice of drawing money in advance for expense was rapped by the officials, who suggest that expense of officials be paid on submission of accounts.

"We demand a settlement of these surcharges," is the text of the report referring to the surcharge against W. H. Jones amounting to $440.64 and $600, the unpaid part of the surcharge against George D. Bagnall. "These accounts should be cleaned off the records," write the auditors. Attention to an agreement between the commissioners and Mercer borough is another notation. The agreement is to the effect that the borough is to pay half the cost of lights around the court house.

The Bell Telephone company also agreed to pay $25 a year for pole privileges on bridges in Sharon. The report concludes, "Nothing has been paid for a number of years. Why?"

BOYS LEAD GRADUATES

The graduating class of Mercer high school of 1930 is unusual in that seven of the 11 honor students are boys.

It is doubtful if any of the previous classes in 80 years of academic history of the public schools equals this figure. The prevailing result has been a preponderance of girls on the honor roll with a scattering of boys. The A-B student, whose average for four years is 90 per cent or better, qualifies for this list. The four girls on the list were better than 95 per cent.

MABEL KIRK

ANNA MAC EWEN

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 23.—Miss Mabel Kirk, Stoneboro, and Miss Anna MacEwen, Dormont, are two of the 12 Westminster college coeds who will symbolize clover in the annual May pageant Saturday afternoon. This tableau, in the third and last episode of the pageant, will be one of the most colorful in the fete.

Others in this part of the pageant are Elizabeth Ferrail, Canton, O.; Lois

Davenport, New Castle; Louise Adams, New Wilmington; Elinor Wilson, New Wilmington; Helen Biffer, Clinton; Margaret Brickley, Cresson; Lillie Braham, New Wilmington; Mabel Kocher, New Castle; Elizabeth Work, Dormont; and Doris Shoaf, West Elizabeth. Lois Davenport is student director; Edith Round, New Castle, student accompanist; and Louise Adams, student costumer.

They are Julia Richards, Mary Belle Duncan, Helen Rickard and Helen Whieldon. The boys, who have averages from 90 to 95 per cent, are William Richardson, Wald Patterson, Craig Gault, William Albert, William Kehler, Dudley Johnson and Harry Black.

The class numbers 40. It is unusual for the fact that the major portion of them will attend college next fall.

TO SELL AUTOS

Two automobiles valued at $1,000 will be sold under the hammer, if the court orders asked here today by District Attorney Leo McKay are granted by Judge J. A. McLaughry.

The cars were taken in transportation of liquor and under the laws are eligible to sale as a result. They are the property of John Miklen and John Puntereri.

THORN TO RETURN

John Thorn is expected home for a short visit this week. Mr. Thorn has been in Hollywood since the first of the year. He has been the recipient of the most flattering of press notices during his stay. He expects to return to the home of the "talkies" in the early fall to continue his work. He is considering a stock engagement for this summer.

TERM NEARS END

Good progress has been made in civil court here.

There remained yesterday by 18 cases for trial. In the Sam DiCerbero vs R. E. Hahn case a verdict for the defendant was returned. The action of J. G. McNulty vs Robert Trotter was discontinued. The action of Isadore Berkowitz vs Myer Zuckerman is settled; that of A. Payne vs Myer Zuckerman is also settled.

The following list of cases are reported settled by attorneys: Bertina Nathan vs A. Payne, Charles Rainey et al vs Mike Predal et al, Charles

Rainey et al vs Francesco Campagno

Harry Myers vs Shirli Sproull.

On trial finished yesterday is the action of Bert Kerr and Ruth his wife vs West Ridge Transportation company. The action is to collect for an auto accident at Osgood. In No. 2 court under Judge James Chambers, Mabel Dell of Indianapolis is suing E. E. Randall et al to collect $2,000 due her for work, she claims. The defendant is from Ohio. Reserve Officers Hear Address By Army Air Officer

Tells Of Needs Of Country In Protecting Country In Any Future Conflict

NEXT MEETING WILL BE HELD IN FALL

Meeting of the Shenango Valley chapter, Reserve Officers association, held last evening at the Elks club, was featured by a stirring and most interesting discourse in the air defense needs of this country by First Lieutenant Samuel C. Eaton, Jr., air corps U. S. A., and commander of Rodgers field, Pittsburgh.

The affair opened with the usual dinner which was attended by reserve officers from the entire district, consisting of Beaver, Butler, Mercer and Lawrence counties.

Following the dinner, a short session was held with President John D. Kennedy presiding. President Kennedy in his opening remarks urged upon the officers present the importance of their active participation in the Memorial Day exercises in their respective localities.

He then introduced D. Roy Bradford, proprietor of the Bradford airport, west of the city, who expressed his pleasure at being present.

It was then decided to dispense with the dinner meetings of the chapter during the summer months, activities of the chapter to be resumed in the fall.

Lieutenant Eaton was then introduced and proceeded to tell of the situation at Panama Canal zone, with regard to the matter of adequate defenses, he having been stationed there three years. From that he went into an informal discussion of the recent naval limitation conference in London, in which he said this country had not gained as much as desired because of the lack of trained diplomats.

He remarked in his address that the foreign nations that we had assisted during the World war had forgotten what we did then and were jealous of our wealth and importance and were watching an opportunity to best us in any way possible. He said this country must do something in the near future to offset this.

In event of war, he said, there would be only one real method of defense and that would be with our aircraft and he urged that it be placed on a par with the air forces of other countries, some of whom might naturally be expected to be among our opponents, in some future argument of nations.

Those present at the meeting were: John D. Kennedy, first lieutenant, finance reserves; Samuel C. Eaton, Jr., first lieutenant, air corps; D. Roy Bradford, J. W. Thompson, second lieutenant, tank reserves; Robert M. Strickler, Jr., first lieutenant, infantry reserves; D. A. McQuiston, colonel, 395th infantry reserves; Joseph Cowan, Jr., lieutenant, 395th infantry reserves; Harry A. Solberg, second lieutenant, 1301 service unit; F. D. Perrine, first lieutenant, engineer reserves; Paul A. Welsh, first lieutenant, field artillery reserves; J. R. Sharp, first lieutenant, 295th infantry reserves; B. S. Keenan, first lieutenant, 343rd medical regiment; Lewis E. Burnside, major, 22nd engineers; C. E. Imbrie, major, medical reserves; W. F. Jackson, major dental reserves, 27th general hospital; L. J. Herman, second lieutenant, infantry reserves, 1301 service company; H. K. Bell.

Allegheny County's Population Figures Are Released Today

Allegheny County Shown To Have 1,341,458—Bigger Than Greater Cleveland

Over 300,000 Increase In Ten Years Time Is Surprising To Officials

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 23.—Allegheny county's preliminary and unofficial population figures for 1930 were announced today as 1,341,458, embracing the area provided for under the recently defeated metropolitan charter plan.

These figures show Allegheny county to exceed the population of Greater Cleveland, including all of Cuyahoga county, O., by 143,645. Greater Cleveland's population, according to recently announced figures, is 1,197,813.

Census officials said some slight changes may be made in the final tabulations but that the changes would be insignificant and probably would not materially change the figures.

The increase noted today is at the rate of 13.1 per cent since the 1920 census which gave Allegheny county 1,185,803.

The figures today bear testimony to the rapid growth of the county south of the Ohio and Monongahela rivers where the population has grown more than 100,000 since the 1920 tabulations with a ratio of increase of 29 per cent. North of the rivers, the increase was 12 per cent, with the territory between the Monongahela and Ohio and the old portion of Pittsburgh showing only a per cent growth rate.

The figures in the various districts:

Twelfth census district 305,920 269,618

Thirteenth census district 448,440 345,979

Fourteenth census district 587,096 552,530

The runaways were caught about half a mile from the station, returned and tied to a hitching rack nearby and broke the tie line, ran away the second time, upsetting the wagon and destroying a number of trees in the residential section of the town.

Council Takes No Action On Request

City councilmen today in session at the city building took no action on the request of J. C. Gillfillan that he be paid $2,500 for land taken when the city obtained extensions of Park and Boyles avenues to North Jefferson street.

CORNS

Out To Stay Out—Roots And All
Magic Oxygen Salts Bath Never Fails.
No More Burning Aching Feet.

No matter how many corns you have or how painful they are—soak your feet for 15 minutes in a delightful soothing and revitalizing Radox footbath for 3 or 4 nights—then lift corns and callouses right out—roots and all and they won't come back either unless you wear shoes again which aggravate your feet.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layers of corns, each night penetrating the pores further and further, carrying the salts right to roots of corns which are so loosened they can be lifted out bodily. Your feet are made strong—healthy—vigorous—hard skin on heels and toes goes also.

Radox's of New Castle, Inc., and all good drugstores, are stocked with Radox—if they aren't insist upon them ordering it if you want to experience great foot-joy and comfort.

City Invaded By Sharon Aviatrices

It takes something very unusual to make New Castle people lift their brows in puzzlement. Sharon high school seniors were just unusual enough to accomplish that feat, on Wednesday afternoon.

The city was going along with its business, very normally when all of a sudden, out of the clear sky, came sixteen pretty aviatrices. If the aviatrices had arrived in the accepted manner, that risk in airplanes. New Castle people wouldn't have been so puzzled. But they arrived in town, on the running boards of a large touring car. They shouted, in unison, the Sharon "locomotive."

It was a stunt of the Sharon graduating class. They were all attired in regulation white aviation suits—white helmets and goggles and they certainly had their day.

Seniors To Have Annual "Sing"

OVER 100 MEMBERS IN SENIOR CLASS

(Special to The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., 23—Traditional in the commencement week activities at Westminster College is the "Senior Sing," held annually on the south steps of Old Main until the old building was destroyed by fire in 1927. Now this function of the graduating class is held on the south terrace of Old Main Memorial about on the approximate location of the old south steps.

The 1930 graduating class, 105 strong, will gather on the south terrace tonight for this first activity of the commencement season. The "Senior Sing" follows the last college class for the seniors, and expresses the mingled feelings of the seniors upon completing their college work.

The committee in charge of the sing tonight includes: Margaret Reed, Butler; chairman, Genevieve McCartney, Sharon; Ruth Lewis, New Castle and John Cassidy, Sharon.

The seniors will appear in cap and gown for tonight's ceremony and will sing, in addition to the alma mater and other college songs, 15 parodies as popular songs which have been written by members of the class.

Pups tear up a shoe for the fun of it—not because they mean any harm. They are like Senators with a new treaty.

Accommodations, Pennsylvania State Encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, New Castle, June 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 1930.

I will be glad to care for . . . Ladies . . . Men with (without) breakfast during above encampment.

Memorial Service To Be Held Sunday

Water Service Will Be Held At River And Church Service In First Christian

The annual memorial service for sailors and soldiers sponsored by the Ladies of the G. A. R. with Mrs. Eliza Kerr in charge, will be an outstanding event in the city Sunday evening.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. will meet in their hall at the city building and will march to the North street bridge over the Neshannock river where reverence will be shown the sailors who lost their lives in the wars. Rev. C. S. Joshua of the Croton Avenue Methodist church will speak at this service and the choir of his church will sing several selections.

Following this river service they will march to the First Christian church on the square where the members of the G. A. R. and all soldiers and sailors of the various wars will be guests of honor in a memorial service, with Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church, delivering the sermon, "Our Memorials." There will be special singing and members of the senior high school band will play some patriotic numbers. A male quartet and church choir will also have special numbers.

This service is not alone for the members of the G. A. R. but for the Spanish war veterans and World war veterans, with their auxiliaries and friends.

In case of rain Sunday evening the water service will be held in the city building.

College Woman Taller Now Than Decade Ago

Freshmen girls come to college today healthier, heavier and an inch taller than their sisters of a decade or two ago, Dr. Caroline Croasdale, physician at the New York State College for Teachers, finds. Dr. Croasdale's observations are based on records covering a period of fifteen years in which thousands of college girls all over the country have been weighed measured and their general physical fitness noted.

Dr. Croasdale attributes to today's girls to outdoor games, better nutrition, and more scientific care of little children from infancy to high school. The future work of the college medical departments. Dr. Croasdale believes, will be not corrective but constructive, for while there always will be individuals falling short of the average superior girl physically, girl is becoming, within her own range nearer perfection than she ever has been.

The modern girl has an outdoor freshness, which even the use of cosmetics does not conceal. She glows with the good health swimming, hockey, walking and all such outdoor activities have produced." continued Dr. Croasdale. "I think generally speaking, that the change in dress has aided development. Fewer clothes, more exposure to wind and weather have made today's girl more vigorous. Girls wear bigger shoes than they did. They wear larger gloves. Their clothing is looser and lighter. They dance and swim, walk and live a large part of every day outdoors in the sun and air.

good health, strong muscles, and superior physical development, even as women used to be of tiny feet, undeveloped hands, small waists and skins never touched by the sun."

All post-war records for the course were recently broken by T. W. Green, who walked the 50 miles from London to Brighton, England, in eight hours 15 minutes 41 seconds.

Statistician Cites Occupation Changes

Startling Figures Given By Dr. Patterson Reflect Altered Family Life

"White Collar Class Grows Far More Rapidly Than Laboring Group"

The story of the changing civilization of the United States is told in the statistics of occupation since 1850, which reflect an altered family life, the great growth of manufacturing and the decline of agriculture, according to a study made by Dr. Ernest M. Patterson, head of the department of economics at the University of Pennsylvania.

"We see the decline of agriculture, the great growth of the middlemen of the lower grades of personal and domestic service, the rise of the higher-paid services, such as those of the professions, and the increase in governmental employees. There is no slackening in our growing use of machines. Our budgets are including more and more expensive items. With the new inventions we are acquiring new habits and losing old ones," Professor Patterson says.

"Agencies of more rapid communication are developing at a phenomenal rate. The family continues to lose its functions to industry and the state, one of these functions being recreation, which is becoming a large commercial activity.

"Changes in consumption are shown, for instance, by the fact that the numbers occupied in producing silk goods in the United States are increasing much faster than are the numbers producing cotton goods. Occupation statistics provide us new facts concerning our social classes, the 'white collar' class, as measured by the professions and the clerical occupation, are increasing more rapidly than the laboring class. The domestic servants are becoming less numerous, while waiters are increasing in numbers.

"The great wealth in the United States finds expression in more expensive standards of living," Dr. Patterson says. "Our pioneer fathers were scarcely familiar with such things as dentists, bathrooms, refrigerators and newspapers. Today we feel that they are necessities. Since 1850 the number of plumbers, gas and steam fitters has increased 11,000 per cent. Dentists, having increased about four times as fast as the population, are 19 times as numerous as they were in 1850.

"Barbers, manicurists and hair-dressers are so in demand that they have increased eight times as rapidly as the population over the same period. The higher plane of living is even apparent in the greater expense of death and burial. From 1870 to 1920 the number of undertakers increased two and a half times as rapidly as the general population."

Habits brought by new inventions and wealth are shown by the 500 per cent increase in chauffeurs between 1910 and 1920, and 700 per cent more garage keepers. Candy makers increased 23 per cent between 1914 and 1925 and ice cream makers 122 per cent in the last census decade. The spread of another social habit is shown by the great growth of social and welfare workers, who increased from 16,000 in 1910 to 41,000 in 1920.

From 1900 to 1920 the population increased 39 per cent and the urban population 49 per cent, yet the number of waiters increased 113 per cent, and during the latter part of the period the number of restaurant keepers increased 158 per cent. Delicatessen dealers increased about three times as fast as the population since 1910. Employees engaged in canning and preserving fruits increased 37 per cent from 1911 to 1925, despite the increased use of machinery.

Debate Promised On Rivers And Harbors Bill For Next Week

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 23.—Next week probably will see the enactment of the $120,000,000 house omnibus rivers and harbors bill providing for federal aid in improvement of hundreds of waterways and harbors, Senate leaders predicted today.

Modified in several major projects by the Senate Commerce committee, the big bill faces stiff opposition in a number of its provisions. Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader of the Senate predicted the measure would take up all of next week in debate.

Committee Passes On Islands Bill

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 23.—The House bill, granting independence to residents of the Philippine Islands after five years of temporary constitutional government, was approved today by the Senate committee on territories and insular affairs. The vote was 8 to 4, indicating the bill will be fought in the Senate.

The measure provides for tariff autonomy within five years by progressive steps. The first year free trade would continue with the Philippines, subjected the second year to pay 25 per cent of the duties charged against other nations. Each succeeding year the tariff would be increased 25 per cent of the duties charged against other nations until in five years there would be full tariff exacted against the Philippines.

During the five years the Philippines would be placed under a temporary government with a local constitution. At the end of that period a referendum would be taken in the Philippines on the question of independence and if carried favorably the residents would be free to govern themselves.

Wheeler Framer Of Volstead Act

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 23.—The real author of the Volstead act was disclosed today by the senate committee before the late Wayne B. Wheeler, for many years the generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon League.

From the files of the league, Senator Basine (R) of Wisconsin, produced one of the dead dry leader's confidential reports today, which after setting forth that Wheeler had drawn up the bill, said:

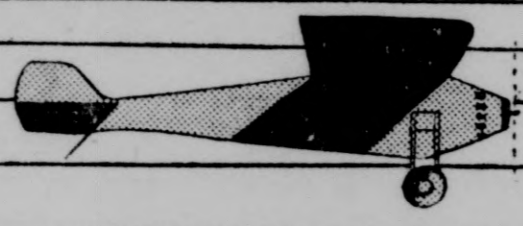

"When I (Wheeler) presented the bill to Mr. Volstead he made several suggestions and changes and after a conference with a number of our friends in congress the bill was endorsed."

Volstead was at that time chairman of the house judiciary committee.

Gets No Requests To Speak Russian

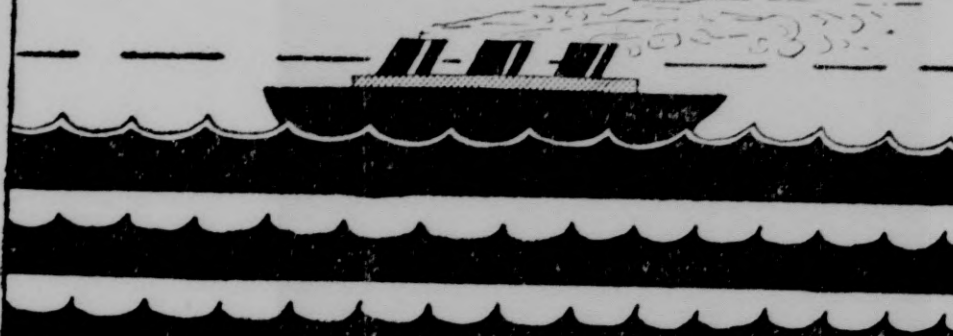

HARRISBURG, May 23.—Dr. William C. Sandy, director of the bureau of mental health, State Department of Welfare, is of the opinion that Russian immigration to Pennsylvania has practically ceased. At a recent mental hygiene conference speakers in foreign languages needed interpreters. One speaker acted as his own interpreter and after translating his speech into five languages asked if anyone required a Russian interpretation. There was no request.

SIMPLICITY IS FEATURED IN NEW WEDDING FROCKS

By ALICE LANGELIER International News Service Staff Correspondent. PARIS, May 23.—Summer wedding gowns will certainly be very wearable and simple ones, judging from those that are coming from the smart dressmakers. The day seems long past when brides chose gowns for the one day only. More practical, and yet just as pretty and chic, they have come to realize that it is far wiser to select something that will be worn the day after and many more days to follow. If she does choose white, nothing could be simpler, in white satin or crepe, draped about the body and ending in a long train. After the ceremony is over, it can be easily ripped up, dyed and made into a smart afternoon frock.

Molyneux is showing just such a one in blue-white satin, charmingly simple with four or five pleats laid across the front and worn with just as simple a veil of tulle. More often than not, the gown is not white, but a color which will look well afternoon or evening so there isn't even dyeing to be done. In this case, of course, the large capeline replaces the veil. Several of the recent smart brides of the capital are selecting lovely printed mousseline de sole for their wedding frocks with the bridesmaids, if there are any, in plain colors.

A number of others prefer afternoon ensembles, such as a one-piece frock in crepe, with hip or knee-length jacket over it, sometimes trimmed with fur. A very smart one recently seen at the 16th Mairie, which is where nearly all the chic brides are to be found, had the frock and jacket with a collar of beige fox, the frock collared with beige and black printed silk. Very simple but equally chic, is another wedding ensemble of mousseline printed in gray roses with yellow hearts. The jacket is without a collar but bordered with black fox and the sleeves shirred in original fashion. Germany Has 35,000 "Verbotens". (International News Service) BERLIN, May 23.—Though Germany has gone long way away from the old police state in which most things were "verboten," there are still 35,000 police ordinances in force in the country, according to a statement of the Prussian ministry of the interior. The ministry is making efforts to reduce this number and to unify the "verboten" orders of the various guests at the breakfast. Your version of the truth isn't the only one. The other man's "light breakfast," though ten times the bulk of yours, may be light for him. Teach the boy to be a good mixer. Bradford Man Is Seriously Wounded By Rain Of Bullets

Just As Man Is Leaving Hospital, Unknown Assaults Fill Him With Lead

(International News Service)
BRADFORD, Pa., May 23.—Joseph Barber, whose life is said to have been threatened recently, was in a serious condition in Bradford hospital today suffering from gunshot wounds inflicted by unknown assailants last night.

Barber had just left the hospital, where his wife is ill, when the report of a shotgun rang out. The leaden pellets splattered about Barber's car. As he jumped from the machine and ran into the shelter of nearby shrubbery a second charge was fired.

Six of the pellets entered Barber's body, one entered the upper left jawbone and the other penetrated his back just below the left lung.

The quiet of the hospital gave way to screams as the wounded man, blood streaming from his face, ran into the ward where his wife lay ill. Barber told police the shots were fired from a coupe that had been parked, with engine running, outside the hospital.

Jim Baker Given Long Prison Term

Young Man Who Confessed Wholesale Crimes Gets 40 Years To Life Imprisonment

(International News Service)

Baker had boastfully confessed, according to the police of this city and Detroit, that he had perpetrated at least ten murders and holdups in various parts of the world.

Historic Hotel Is Gutted By Flames

Pocono Hotel At Tannersville, Penna., Is Damaged By Flames Today

(International News Service)
STROUDSBURG, Pa., May 23.—Fire broke out in the Pocono hotel at Tannersville early today gutting the three-story stucco structure and causing a loss of $50,000.

The structure was formerly called the "Larned hotel" and was one of the oldest historic hostleries in the state, dating back to colonial days prior to the Revolutionary war. It had been remodelled in recent years.

The hotel is the property of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Trach, an elderly couple who have been in poor health for some time. The excitement proved too much for the aged couple and they are now under the care of physicians.

About 15 guest and a number of employees were forced to flee in their night clothing to escape the flames.

Old City Of Corinth Beginning New Life

Some of the changes that have been brought about in Corinth since the arrival five years ago of 2,700 children who have been evacuated from Turkey by the Near-East Relief are thus summarized in the New East: "Today Corinth numbers between ten and eleven thousand inhabitants. The town that in 1923 lay drugged in dirt and disease, now hums with activity. In the last two years 300 new houses have been built, in the erection of which five graduate boys, taught carpentry in the orphanage, have helped. There is a fine new hotel by the seashore. There are two open-air cinemas. A theological school with 70 enrolled pupils has sprung up on the northern seashore. The bishop of Corinth, a young man and a strong factor in the progress of the town, is erecting an industrial school for girls that will accommodate 200 and will be supported by funds derived from the port customs."

STATESVILLE, N. C., May 23.—(UP)—Even the chickens have caught the spirit of the age and are stepping on the gas to keep up with the fast pace man has set, according to W. B. Crowson, poultry raiser, who heard one of his roosters crow at the age of 17 days. It is said this young VIENNA, May 23—Vienna travel bureaus, shops and hotels are more optimistic this year than they have been for many seasons over the expected tourist traffic here. The advance guard of the summer tourists has already reached here, and the heavy trans-Atlantic bookings have cheered most businesses here into action. Transportation companies are mapping out fuller schedules for ship, train and plane and are making ready for what is expected to be a record year.

Fifty Indian Nationalist Volunteers Nabbed By Police In Raid On Salt Depot

REPORT PARTIAL STRIKE IN BOMBAY

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 23.—Fifty Indian Nationalist volunteers were arrested when they attempted to raid the salt pans in the Wadala suburb of Bombay today, according to an Exchange Telegraph Dispatch.
A partial partial strike was in effect in Bombay as a protest against the Dharasana "Atrocities."
Nationalist sympathizers viewed with great resentment the action of police who were reported to have injured more than 600 volunteers in the course of raids on the Dharasana pans, beating the raiders with their batons though the raiders were "passive" in their tactics.

New Automatic Telephone System Installed By P. And O.

Above is shown the switching apparatus of the new automatic telephone system which is being installed in the office building of the Pennsylvania Power Company and the New Castle Electric Railway Company. This new system will be placed in service Saturday night. It embodies the very latest in telephone equipment and some features that are entirely new to the field of telephone communication.

The first automatic dial private branch exchange telephone system in New Castle will be cut into service tomorrow night, supplanting the present manual system in the offices of the Pennsylvania Power Company and the New Castle Electric Street Railway Company.
Engineers and construction crews of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania have been working on the construction and installation of the new automatic system, which embodies features especially designed for the local utility's needs for several months. But it will require only a few minutes for the ceremony of changing over from the old system to the new when the time comes Saturday evening.

Then in the presence of city officials of New Castle, officials of the power and railway utility and officers and engineers of the telephone company, Hon. Fred L. Rentz, president of the News Company, will pull the cord cutting out the old system and cutting in the new, the transition from the time honored method of making telephone connections among the various offices of the utility to the most modern method yet devised by American ingenuity being made almost instantaneous.

Everything Ready

Cross connections between the dial system and the old manual system will be provided before the cut over is made. Small insulating blocks will be placed between the contact points of the line relays upon which the cross connection circuits terminate. Cords will be fastened to the blocks so that as fast as Mr. Rentz pulls the cord the new system will be in service ready for the first calls.

The inauguration of this telephone system has been looked forward to with great interest. Not only is it the first dial system branch exchange installed in New Castle, but it also includes features which are embodied in a telephone system for the first time anywhere. Especially interesting, because it is the first application of the kind ever made, is the inclusion of specially designed apparatus which will permit of dial telephone communication between distant points. The installation, incidentally, represents an investment of upward of $10,000.

Inasmuch as all telephone communication among the local offices of the Penn-Ohio System, as well as to and from the substations and outlying offices of the company, will be over the new system from Saturday night on, the installation is of particular importance to employees of the company. For their benefit District Manager L. B. Round and Railway Superintendent C. C. Coulthard have arranged for a meeting this evening for all employees to enable them to familiarize themselves with the new system.

Instruct Employees

From 7 until 8 o'clock the employees will have the opportunity to inspect the apparatus, engineers of the telephone company being at hand to explain the working details of the new mechanism. From 8 until 9 o'clock a meeting of the employees will be held in the Lecture Hall at which further explanations will be made and a special demonstration set of telephones will be used to illustrate the manner of making a call. This instruction set will be arranged that the employees will be able to see the automatic switches work as the call is made from one phone to another.

Under this system all the telephone stations on the power and railway companies' private exchange, including all those in the office building and also outlying stations at the electric substations, engineering office and line shop will be automatic in their operation. That is the person desiring to speak from one of these stations to another, will simply lift the receiver from the hook and then dial the number of the station he desires to call on the dial on the phone which has a revolving disc with a place for each digit, so that any combination of numbers may be made. The person calling will not require the services of the company's operator to make the interoffice connection. In the same way the operators of the New Castle central office of the Bell Telephone Company may be reached from any of the stations on the utility company's private branch exchange without requiring the services of the company's operator.

In this way the company's operator will be able to give her entire attention to the public calls, thereby rendering a more prompt and efficient service to customers.

The new system also will speed up calls among the offices of the company and thereby expedite business and will give all the stations of the company 24 hour outgoing service, seven days a week.

Newest Developments

In the dial equipment installed for the Penn-Ohio System have been included the latest developments of the Bell Telephone Company and also several features that are entirely new to the telephone field. For the first time anywhere it will be possible for a telephone user to dial connections over a distance that formerly would be considered by telephone engineers as between toll points, in this case New Castle and Youngstown.

It will be possible for a person desiring to speak from the New Castle office of the utility to the Youngstown office to obtain the connection by dialing through to Youngstown without the aid of an operator. Special equipment was developed in the Bell Telephone Laboratories to make this possible.

The new telephone system is made to provide for the growing needs of the power and railway companies in the New Castle district. The installation at first will provide for fifty stations, with switch capacity to increase the number as the requirements grow to approximately 100.

The Way OF THE World

SENSE FROM EINSTEIN

Writing to an American, Dr. Einstein says people must never forget that "the fruits of our labor do not constitute ends in themselves. Production should make our lives beautiful and noble and we should not permit ourselves to be degraded to mere slaves of production."

Something is all wrong with life when we do work which we do not enjoy under conditions which give us no contentment and no happiness. When that is the case we are indeed only slaves of production. Fortune are the boys and girls who are coming out of school in these commencement days and who know what they want to do. Loving their work, they will do well.

CRIME NEWS

After a survey of leading large city newspapers a sociologist reports that crime news makes up but two per cent of all the news in the paper. And this survey included 103 newspapers, so it is a fair average. And now comes a New York judge who tells us that in the light of these figures perhaps newspapers do not deal fully with crime. It has long been known that English newspapers print crime news in far greater detail. Justice Swedder concludes:

"Newspapers are the best links between the citizen and the courtroom. News is the most effective of teachers and for that reason it should be prepared and printed with tact and wisdom. The responsibility of the newspapers is stupendous and on it rests the reputation of a nation and that nation's public opinion, ideals, and common decency.

"There has been some criticism of the press as unfair. I do not believe that such criticism is justified. As a whole, newspapers are accurate and speak the truth. They would not exist for long if they did not. Nor do I agree with some that the printing of crime news is an incentive to crime. Rather I think it is a deterrent. It makes people think and some good generally comes from their thinking."

WHICH IS IT?

Be sure, if you can, whether a thing is really important or whether it is some rather unimportant thing that in your lack of balance you have thought too much about and wanted too much. If you will think it through you may come to the conclusion it doesn't amount to much after all.

HONOR THOSE WHO FELL AT SPRING

On the battlefield at Gettysburg we pause on Memorial Day to pay homage to those who fell in the bloody encounters at Spangler's Spring. From July 1 to 3 the battle raged in 1863 and the lives of many were saved by draughts of water from Farmer Spangler's spring. Both the ranks of the blue and the gray moistened their parched throats with its waters. All through the long nights sporadic fighting went on at the spring as first one side then the other sought to capture it. Photo shows the marker beside the spring on the battlefield.

British Girl Flier On Solo Hop To Australia Is Reported As Safe

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 23.—A plucky young British aviatix who for twenty hours had worried the English more than India or politics was safe today at the village of Hailuok, near Atambua, on the Island of Timor, according to dispatches to the London evening newspapers.

On a solo flight to Australia, which began at Croydon, May 5, Amy Johnson had reeled off her daily flights with precision, her light plane performing excellently.

Nearing her goal, she was unreported for nearly twenty hours, and the British public dropped everything else to follow and anxiously scan the newspapers for word of England's "Girl Lindbergh."
She planned to hop off for Port

Darwin, Australia, a distance of nearly 500 miles tomorrow.

Education In Playtime Invaluable

Our children get most of their real education out of school during their play time. When they can be out of doors with many others of their age they are having their best schooling. The vacant lot where a number gather for group games, work out their own rules of conduct, fight and quarrel and co-operate is the world's greatest university. There each child may learn to look after his own rights, to express himself, and learn to fit himself into the group with whom he will later live more seriously. Just to hang around with several other children on the drive, sidewalk, or the porch or home and argue about things, each attempting to excel in wise-cracks, each getting used to having tricks and jokes played on him, and reciprocating by tricks and jokes on his playmates, is training to be had in no schoolroom.

At different times I have, in these columns, deplored the habits of parents, teachers and other adults to laugh at children's errors, their questions and remarks, since such ridicule by adults makes children self-conscious and inspires feelings of inferiority in them. When we grown-ups laugh at children we make ourselves big bullies.

But when children joke at one another the effect is generally wholesome, particularly when they are pretty close matched in age and are accustomed to be among many other children. Such children do not grow up to be over-sensitive. Incidentally, they can better endure our barbarism toward them as they grow tougher by the jokes played on them by one another.

Hours and hours there are, however, when our children cannot properly be out of doors during their leisure hours, and there are many times when they will not have playmates in the house. Those beyond the age of 10 or 12 may find pleasure in games with the older members of the family or in reading. Besides the many good books they can have free from the library, let us hope they have some good encyclopaedias in which they can browse, some good histories and books of elementary science, too.

Children under 10 or 12 won't find reading very attractive unless it is simple and well illustrated. Not good for their eyes to read much, anyway. Fortunately, there are now a number of good magazines for them, written in large print, with many illustrations and many things for them to do. Encourage children of this age to save their pennies which they might spend for sweets for these better means of their amusement.

More and more these magazines for children are showing them how to make things from paper boxes and all sorts of articles found in any home. Throw out no empty boxes, and be sure to make available good tools, including scissors, paste, glue, hammer and nails, saw, crayons and paints.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

"Old fashioned girls are a bundle of selfishness and conceit. They are not as advertised."

Read that, you sedate ones, who have put the vamps on the pan and watched them sizzle.

It comes from Indiana, from a man who read the letter of "Office Girl" in this column, in which she explained that the reason so many girls were single, was that they wanted to be courted. That they didn't want to vamp their way into matrimony.

His letter explains that he doesn't approve of the vamp but that he can't see how any man can get happiness out of a woman who goes about with a holier-than-thou attitude, making him feel like the insignificant first cousin of a half baked peanut.

But the letter: "What do I think about 'An Office Girl'? A lot! Her letter was wonderful, but it only explains one side as the question. Here is the other: as a bachelor in my thirties, I've had many friends, vamps and the old fashioned kind. What she said was true, but it is also true that there is something wrong with these Old Fashioned Girls. If there were not, bachelors would not prefer the vamps.

"One old fashioned girl I used to go with—an office girl—had such a self-sufficient air about her, such an independence, such a superiority complex, that when in her immediate presence I always felt so small that I could have worn a peanut shell for a hat. Another one had such goody-goody ways, and such a holier-than-thou manner that she served to double my belief in the blessings of bachelorhood.

"Still another, who earned a fat salary as 'Office Girl' does, made me feel that she was far above the need of any man's protection, that she could 'kill her own snake.' I feared life with that woman would be one continual nightmare. Truly, Miss Allard, many old fashioned girls are a bundle of selfishness and conceit.

"I do not approve of vamps, but they do appeal to the man's protective sense, the most satisfying feeling a man can experience. Usually the vamp is not of such a high moral character as the old fashioned girl, and if the latter would only take stock and see a few of those faults that she is too superior to discover, it would be the vamps who would find themselves old maids. I know all of my bachelor friends would prefer old fashioned girls except for these stated facts."

That man has had experience, and he thinks! Now what do you old fashioned girls want to say to him?

Vienna University Gains 133 Students

(International News Service) VIENNA, May 23—An increase of 133 students this year at the Vienna university is hailed as an optimistic sign by the educational authorities here. The number enrolled in the university this last winter was 11,337 of which 5,009 attended the school of philosophy, 3,184 the school of law and 2,684 the school of medicine. One quarter of the students here are foreigners.

Artistide Briand Likes Ham And—

(International News Service) PARIS, May 23—Artistide Briand France's famous Foreign Minister and long-time Premier, has returned from the Naval Conference in London with an established taste for a bacon and egg breakfast. He is probably one of the very few Frenchmen who take more than a simple cafe au lait and petit pain for his early repast in the morning.

Monsieur Briand is a well-known angler and when this fact became known among his British friends, he was invited to go fishing in many parts of the English countryside, as well as in Scotland during the meetings of the Conference. One Scottish admirer sent him a fine fishing-rod accompanied by the following note: "A love of fishing disposes one for the love of peace."

"I Found the Way to Health and I Am Profoundly Grateful"

Philadelphia Declares that Words Can Hardly Express the Great Warmth He Has in His Heart Toward This Splendid New Formula With Its Potent Sun-dried Herbs, Effective Health Salts and Extracts. "In All My 52 Years I Never Felt Better Than I Do Today," He States.

What follows are not the words of an advertising writer, but the sincere personal experience of a man who knew what it was to be deprived of many of the common joys of health, and who tells in his own language just what Flaxolyn did for him.

"Deepest gratitude for health improved through the medium of this wonderful, simple compound forbids silence on my part," says Mr. Emanuel C. Smith, 516 N. Marshall St., Phila. "I only regret that words of mine entirely fail to describe how much I've gained at 52 years of age, and all through this most efficient natural cleanser, Flaxolyn. To me it was almost unbelievable—until I investigated. Folks, where constipation poisons hold health at stake, don't hesitate—give Flaxolyn a fair trial."

Professional Praise for Flaxolyn

Pharmacists here who come in daily contact with health-seekers of all ages, report that the success of Flaxolyn is unequaled by any like preparation in the history of local pharmacy. Thomas C. Martindale, noted radio health speaker, says: "Why shouldn't I be enthusiastically about Flaxolyn? I have personally seen the great amount of good it has done. I wish I could get up on the tallest building and through mighty amplifiers, shout the praises of this much-needed formula."

Easy Now to "Sweep Out" Toxins Causing Weak Appetite, Headaches, Restless Sleep, Tiredness—Without "Drastic" Drugs

You may have regular bowel action. But unless the movements sweep out the TOXINS, these sly poisons get right into the blood. Then there is trouble! Don't "doctor" sick headaches with drastic "dope" remedies. Don't cover up bad breath, white tongue, or that "dark brown" taste with mouth-washes. STOP these "tell-tale" conditions! Let Flaxolyn pleasantly, easily draw them out by the very roots, besides check the common cause of dizziness, constant fatigue, back and shoulder pains, gas, biliousness, belching and bloating.

Sincere Statements By Men and Women Who Have Found How True It Is That a Person Can Feel So Much "Peppier" and Often Show a Great Difference in Attractiveness—As This Simple Compound Clears the Intestines, Activates the Flow of Important Digestive Juices, Gently Stimulates Liver and Kidney Action.

"I am happy to say," is the unsolicited letter of Joseph H. Long, 341 Delmar St., Kutztown, Pa. "that after being sick over a year, I tried Flaxolyn and it has made me feel better in many ways. Mrs. H. C. Layer, Hammon, N. J. "One sentence expresses my thoughts regarding Flaxolyn—It's Great! It means that 99 out of 100 need."

"I told the druggist this morning," writes Mr. S. Brown, Harrington, Del. "that I feel a thousand dollars better since I've been taking Flaxolyn."

To all who seek energy unhampered by constipation's tax upon the body—keener appetite, richer sleep, clearer skin and other normally healthful benefits which so often follow as toxic poisons are banished, druggists here make this generous offer:

91,300 Phones Moved During Month In N. Y. C.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 23—About 91,300 telephones were installed or removed in Greater New York during the thirty day period prior to May 1 which date marks the annual Spring move of business firms in the city.

Manhattan led the other boroughs with some 50,600 changes, while Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island accounted for 30,500 moves and the Bronx registered over 10,200.

Nearly 29,350 changes were made during the first seven days in May this year with the record day occurring on May 1, when over 5,000 connections and disconnections were handled in New York City. During the two weeks immediately prior to Moving day telephones were being installed or withdrawn at the rate of 3,500 a day while during the first seven days in May the average daily changes made were 4,194.

Hundreds of installers were kept busy working day and night to complete the change while other hundreds of telephone plant men, working inside the many central office buildings made the necessary wire connections or disconnections on the big switchboards and associated apparatus.

In the general migrations during the moving period many subscribers receive new telephone numbers. When a business firm remains within the same central office district, however, it ordinarily retains its old number.

Relinquished numbers automatically go into retirement for a period, usually until a new telephone directory is issued both to avoid inconveniencing the new holders of numbers who would otherwise receive many calls for the old subscribers, made by persons unfamiliar with the change and to permit the routing of such calls to their proper destination. Calls for relinquished numbers are consequently routed to intercepting operators who inform the persons calling of the subscriber's new number.

When calls for an old number have diminished to less than two calls in two weeks that number is considered available for reassignment and soon thereafter re-enters active service. This unavoidable necessity for allowing abandoned telephone numbers a "leave of absence" ties up an average of 500 to 1,000 usable lines in each of the 182 central offices in the city all the time.

No Wife, No Money Is Wail Of Man Who Took Advice

READING, May 23—John R. Naftzinger, middle-aged Centerport resident, invested $1000 in a fortune teller's advice regarding the getting of a wife. Now he has neither wife, the $1000 nor good advice, except what the police have given him.

Some weeks ago he heard of a fortune teller who could advise him on matrimonial affairs, in Reading. He came here and paid a fee of $10 for the fortune teller's service.

He was advised to draw $1000 from bank, place it in a little bag, which the fortune teller sewed up and wear the bag next to his heart. In four days, she told Naftzinger, a woman whom she knew would become his bride would be here to meet him.

Naftzinger followed directions, then came back to Reading, but found the woman, a man, apparently her husband, and three children had left the city. When he opened the bag he found the money, 10 $100 bills, gone.

This College Boy May Some Day Be A Great Lawyer

ELYRIA, O., May 23—Two young Oberlin college boys standing on a curbstone here hailing motorists for a ride back to Oberlin were arrested by a policeman and brought to headquarters.

"You can't hitch rides in Elyria," said the sergeant, "it's against the law."

"What law?" inquired the students. "This here law right here," said the sergeant taking the volume from the shelf. "It says right here you can't stand in any road in this town and hitch rides. You fellows is in a fix."

The elder student gently took the legal volume from the officer's hand. He thumbed it carefully, found the right page and said:

"And I read here, officer, another section of the ordinance which defines the roadway as the part of the road which lies between the two curbs. We were standing on the curb; therefore we were not in the road. Sorry old thing, but it's the law."

The students marched back to the curb and hitched a ride to Oberlin.

Colorado Harbors Man Without Country

(International News Service)
CANON CITY, Colo., May 23—Another "man without a country" is causing worry for United States immigration officials here.

Louis Papos, a Greek alien, who recently completed a term in the state penitentiary here, is being held in county jail. He cannot be deported to Greece, as the latter country has repudiated his citizenship, and he never became a citizen of this country.

Papos cannot be deported; Greece doesn't want him.

The United States doesn't want him, and Fremont county is wearying of maintaining him in the county jail, and demanding that some Solomon in the immigration department find a solution quickly for disposing of the unwanted boarder.

Child Inhales Tack, Summon A Doctor

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 23.—

Call a doctor, if the child inhales a tack.

That was the lesson learned here when Billie Wangelin, 8, snuffed a tack up his nostril.

His frantic mother called police, who speeded to the home in an emergency automobile.

As the car plunged through the traffic, the police radio carried the message—"Try black pepper. That will make him sneeze it out."

Out came the pepper at the Wangelin household, but only the police sneezed.

It was necessary to call a physician to remove the tack.

BELGIAN KING WITNESSES U. S. COMEDY FILMS

By GEORGE AXELSSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, May 23—And then the King laughed so much that he lost his spectacles.

It all happened in a little hole-in-the-wall movie of the nickelodeon type on the Boulevards, whither Albert, King of the Belgians, had gone alone and most severely incognito in search of his favorite amusement, a good screen comedy.

They were showing an American slapstick farce of ancient vintage.

The King decided it must be good and quietly took his place in the long line at the box office. He had to wait his turn, just like the other customers.

A Belgian usher recognized the sovereign and called the attention of the manager, who apologized profusely and offered the King a box.

The offer was politely but firmly declined by His Majesty, who said that for the occasion he was just a plain movie fan among a lot of other plain movie fans and did not wish to be treated differently.

The King eventually laughed so much at the antics of the screen comedian that he dropped his pince-nez.

Whenever King Albert visits Paris incognito, he never fails to take in one or two moving picture shows, and he is said to favor the American productions.

He always walks on foot from his hotel to whatever theatre he has decided to patronize, and the sight of King Albert in a box office lineup is no uncommon sight for those Parisians who know their Kings when they see them.

DAILY ROUGHAGE IS AN ESSENTIAL IN ANY DIET

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation.
Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation?

Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed. Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied. Be sure to include it in reducing diets as a preventive for both constipation and anemia.

There are so many ways you can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and enjoy it. In any form, it is appetizing. It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals and soups and notice the added flavor. Many people soak it in fruit juices. Excellent in cooked foods. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. It is served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Ask for it! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Spera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Praise ye the Lord, for He is good and His mercy endureth forever. As watchmen wait for the morning, so may we wait for Thee. Bring our souls into the mood of hoping and trusting in Thee, our Father. Unite joy and duty, privilege and responsibility, for we can not offer a more convincing testimony before the Republic. O that patriotism would walk at the side of intelligence, that it may not be blind. Bless our whole country and lead it to seek not only its own interests and aggrandizements but the universal good and peace of mankind. May all our free institutions be pleasing in Thy sight and be a living force among all nations. Through Christ our Savior. Amen.

Cattle Drovers
Walk Stock 60 Miles

(International News Service)
MOUNT VERNON, N. H., May 23.—The present swift moving motor traffic proved no obstacle to Joel F. Perham and Henry Spaulding, veteran drovers, who walked 60 head of "young stock" from this town to summer pastures in Stoddard, 35 miles distant. They accomplished the feat in one day.

Although at times the heavy traffic sent the sixty bovines in as many directions, Perham and Spaulding directed their convoy to its destination safely.

Starting at 5 a. m. the two drovers and their convoy of bellowing heifers and steers passed through the town of Franconstown, Greenfield, Hancock and Stoddard, reaching the pasture bars shortly after dark.

Robin Redbreast
Halts Brick Work

MILWAUKEE, May 23.—W. F. Schellin has stopped repair work on his house. That is Robin Redbreast's doing.

Bricklayers had completed a veneer on the house as high as the second floor when Schellin called a halt. There's a robin's nest on a second floor window sill, and there are three eggs in it. One of these days there will be three baby robins.

Mr. Schellin would like to get the repair work done. He does not, however, intend to permit a wall of brick to interfere with an event to which a certain mother robin has been looking forward for quite some time.

Final Ballots Will Be Mailed To Membership Tomorrow; Polls Close

Results were announced this morning by the election committee, of the vote cast in the primary election for directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce. Gordon, D. S. Pyle, Hon. Fred L. Reitz, George T. Weintraub, H. B. Richards, John E. Elliott, L. B. Round, James M. Smith, Sr., Paul Butz, R. E. Long, J. W. Foster, W. W. Braham, C. H. Andrews, Ira M. Ramsey, R. W. Bolinger and Q. A. McBride.

From the sixteen above named men, six will be named to fill terms of the expiring members to the board, beginning June 1.

The final ballot is now being prepared in the Chamber of Commerce office and will be mailed to the membership on Saturday, May 24. The polls for the final election will be open until noon of Monday, June 2, at which time they will be closed and the election committee will then count the ballots and conduct the final election.

All members are urged to exercise their membership privilege of voting. Immediately following the general election, a reorganization meeting of the board of directors will be held at which time officers for the coming year will be named.

The election committee which counted the ballots in the primaries yesterday afternoon, was composed of L. W. McClung, chairman, per E. B. Reeves, James M. Smith, Jr., Joseph M. McMillen, Rudolph Theis, and John T. Offutt.

Pigeons Of Local Man To Be Entered In 200 Mile Race On Sunday

On Sunday, May 25, members of the Original and Girard Racing Pigeon Clubs will enter their racers in a 200-mile race, to be flown from Sidney, O.

W. H. Cooper of 109 South Jefferson street is a member of the Original Club and will enter some pigeons in this race. Cooper has a large loft of pigeons and some have made time record speeds.

Mr. Cooper will ship the birds he wishes to enter Sunday's race this afternoon in sealed crates.

Last Tuesday the third bird race of the season was flown from Marion, O., a distance of 125 miles. The race was originally scheduled for Sunday, but, owing to bad weather conditions, they were held over two days. The birds were liberated in Marion at 9:05 a. m. by the agent of the express company, and the first bird to report was Gallant Fox to the loft of J. Yavorick.

Gallant Fox seems to be a good name, as the Kentucky Derby was won the other day by a horse of that name.

In the pigeon race Gallant Fox made a speed of 1191.477. Leon H. and Little Charles of the Kilm loft took second and third places. Good time was made considering the cloudy weather which prevailed over the course. Prizes and diplomas were given the first two and three lots.

Out of the many scores of birds taking part in the 135-mile race, New Castle Boy, belonging to the Cooper lofts, took the 17th place, with a speed of 1042.059. Although that was good speed considering the number of birds entered, it was not as good a place as New Castle Boy usually takes.

A glance over the names of the various pigeons is interesting. There are such names as Amos, Carnation, Blue Gold, Question Mark, Little Jean, Jumbo, Sky Flyer, Lena, Jake, Dana Boy, Snowflake, Gallant Knight, Promising and Helen Winter.

It is probable that a further conference will be held between Mrs. Mountz and the attorneys and that some definite agreement will be reached as to her participation in the case.

A British royal wedding without the consent of parliament is null.

Seeking To Save Irene From Chair

Mrs. Mountz In Conference
Here With Attorneys
For Mrs. Schroeder

NOTHING DEFINITE
AS YET PLANNED

Mrs. Ella Mountz, of Smith Mill, Pa., will help Irene Schroeder if it is possible, according to her statement late Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Mountz came to New Castle for a conference with Attorney Thomas W. Dickey and Attorney Benjamin Jarrett, and after meeting Irene and talking the case over with the attorneys said that she would probably get interested in it.

Mrs. Mountz made no promises or definite statements as to what she intended to do. She merely indicated a desire to help the Gun Girl and have her sentence commuted from the electric chair to life imprisonment. For many years Mrs. Mountz has been an anti-capital punishment advocate and has interested herself in cases in various states.

Mises in Politics

She also interests herself in politics and was a delegate to the Republican National convention in Kansas City in 1928. Her husband was a wealthy coal operator of Clearfield County and Mrs. Mountz has used a great deal of her money in aiding unfortunates. Her only thought in the Schroeder case is to spare the girl from the chair.

It is probable that a further conference will be held between Mrs. Mountz and the attorneys and that some definite agreement will be reached as to her participation in the case.

A British royal wedding without the consent of parliament is null.

Tales Of Spain Told At Library

Tales of Spain were told by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian, to the members of The Magic Carpet, children's travel club, Thursday afternoon.

All the members of the club gathered in the main room of the children's department of the local library, and were thrilled by descriptions of the rolling country, the beautiful senoritas, the quaint houses, the matadors and language of the far off country of Spain.

Had She Known of Our Market Before

What would she have done? We'll let you hear the story of one of our patrons as told to us last week.

"For several years I've been experiencing difficulty in buying choice meat in this city, but after coming here the first time and selecting a nice steak I was very much impressed by the choice cuts of meat that you have in your market. One purchase was convincing—I had found my meat market for all future purchases. The courtesy shown by attendants—the cleanliness of your market—and the fact that your prices in a great many instances were lower than in other markets—were ample proof that from then on your market was my market."

Had she known of our market before, she would have purchased her meat here for the past several years. Perhaps you, too, are having difficulty in buying choice meats. You are invited to shop at our market tomorrow. One purchase is convincing—come in and see for yourself. We also handle a nice line of vegetables and groceries—a few of our specialties for Saturday are as follows:

Good Health, That's All, Cause Of Dodgers' Rise

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor.

BROOKLYN, May 23.—To those gentlemen greatly surprised at the sight of the Brooklyn Robins flitting about in the higher altitudes of the National league it may be imparted that the present success of Uncle Wilbert Robinson's collection of athletes is no mystery at all.

Briefly it is this: The Robins' current activities are being listed on regulation batting and fielding lists and pitching records instead of, as was the case in 1929, largely on hospital charts.

The return to health of some of Uncle Wilbert's costlier athletes must be blamed for most of the happy news emanating from New York's biggest borough.

Four erstwhile cripples who are now going great guns for the Dodgers are Glen Wright, a great infielder rendered impotent last year by a handball injury which virtually wrecked his arm; Jumbo Jim Elliott, who suffered so from an illness last year his baseball future was then regarded in doubt; Dazzy Vance, another hurler who couldn't get going last season, chiefly because of illness, and Del Bissone, first baseman, another Dodger cripple during 1929.

It was Robbie's hard luck that all these men were ailing last year, but it is his good fortune that they have all apparently rounded into shape for the current campaign.

Wright gave definite notice that he is back in the swim during the second game of a double-header with Philadelphia when he made a brilliant throw to first in a manner that he never excelled before his injury.

Vance has been going along at a fine clip this year but the greatest improvement is seen in Elliott, who has hooked the Giants and Pirates and has scored two successive shutouts in a season marked by terrific slugging and heavy scoring.

Bissone is clipping the apple in the middle 300's, some 75 points over his 1929 mark. He looks as strong as ever.

The remarkable return to form of the regulars and the surprising aid given them by a number of the first year men has led Uncle Robbie to unburden himself in this manner:

"Watch us go. This present winning streak is no fluke."

Start Memorial Fund For Thompson

Deceased Grove City Man, Lover Of Flowers, Will Have Memory Perpetuated

GROVE CITY, May 23.—The Henry Thompson Memorial Fund has been started after much agitation on the part of friends of Grove City's former Civic Planter, whose death left a vacant place in Grove City's civic life. The fund will have headquarters at the Reporter-Herald office and contributions from a dime to a dollar or one hundred dollars, will be accepted by the Memorial Fund Committee.

Mr. Thompson was an lover of the out doors and the beauties of it. During his years as civic planter, the bridges of Grove City were decorated with flowers, lamp posts carried flower baskets and numerous flower beds were well taken care of in the downtown district.

The Memorial committee are going to use fund to place flowers in these places.

HEADS DRAMATIC SOCIETY
Miss Medora Borland, popular coed will guide the affairs of the Crimson Masque the dramatic society of Grove City College next year. She succeeds William Ford and his vice president, Miss Ruth Daubenspeck, who have been very successful officers. Other officers recently elected are: Vice-President, Rowland Axtell; secretary, Margaret Monrow; treasurer, Tom Cathcart; business manager, William Ketter.

EXAMS TO START
Examinations at the Grove City College will begin Saturday, May 31 at 8:30 a. m., and last through the following Friday.

GETS BIG GOLD FISH
To catch a gold fish weighing over a pound is an experience that few fishermen have experienced but such is the fact of E. W. Clarkson early this morning while fishing in Wolf Creek near the Grove City Athletic field.

Mr. Clarkson brought the catch alive to his store on South Broad street and is displaying it in the window of his furniture store and it is attracting considerable attention.

Aged Man Recalls Lincoln's Voice

(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., May 23.—Much water has flowed under the bridge since the battle of Fredericksburg, but it seems like yesterday to Colonel William Leffingwell, of Denver.

Colonel Leffingwell, who fought with the Army of Potomac during the Civil War, celebrated his 98th birthday here recently.

"I feel fine," the white-haired old veteran said.

"You wouldn't give Lincoln a second thought to look at him," Colonel Leffingwell said. "But when you heard him talk—that man seemed to have a magic quality in his voice—a quality of sincerity and wholeheartedness that held everyone spell-bound. He was a great man."

Colonel Leffingwell has no desire to ride in an airplane.

"I've got enough sense to know when I'm well off," he grinned. "I'll stay right on the ground."

He is not opposed to women smoking.

"Let 'em smoke," says the Colonel.

AND OTHERWISE PREPARED
"Yes," said the undertaker, "college men are the easiest. They seem to be already embalmed."—Reserve Red Cat.

Scouts Asked To War On Communism

(International News Service)
EVANSTON, Ill., May 23.—Support Scouting—Counteract Communism! This was the plea of Dr. E. D. Kelly, Evanston Scout Executive, who in presenting his address to the local Scout council handed about samples of "Red" anti-Scout pamphlets, distributed by the Young Pioneers of America, juvenile organization of the Communists.

Dr. Kelly said that great difficulty was experienced in obtaining the sample pamphlets, due to the underground methods by which they are distributed.

"Socialism, pacifism and anti-patriotic policies are being promoted by the enemies of the constitution," Dr. Kelly said. "The Boy Scouts are not a 'tool of the rich' as the Red literature states. The Scouts are patriotic and their program promotes character and good citizenship. The more Scouting is promoted here the more will 'red' propaganda be nullified."

The pamphlets shown by Dr. Kelly have a heading called "The Boy Scouts is an organization for Capitalist Wars. Smash the Boy Scouts! Join the Young Pioneers!"

Wall Paints Blamed For Skin Diseases

(International News Service)
VIENNA, May 23.—Numerous organic disturbances, especially skin disease are caused by arsenic found in paints of walls and wall papers.

Professor Openheim told the Vienna Association of Physicians. He urged the authorities to see to it that wall paints and wallpapers brought on the market were free from arsenic and the authorities have already taken steps in that direction.

Scouts To Aid At Cemeteries Memorial Day

Troops Of County Prepare To Give Customary Service
Next Friday

TO HELP DECORATE
SOLDIERS' GRAVES

Aid will be given the various patriotic organizations of New Castle and other parts of the county in the decoration of old soldier's graves next week by the Boy Scouts of the Lawrence County council, Ralph E. Davis, scout commissioner announced today. It is an annual custom of the Boy Scout council here, as well as others throughout the land, to provide workers for the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other like organizations that each Memorial Day decorate graves of soldiers with flowers and American flags, to honor the memory of their war dead.

A schedule whereby the troops will know at what place they are to be, the work to be done and other explanatory matter has been prepared by Dr. Davis and is printed below. The graves will be decorated next Wednesday night.

Next Friday, Memorial Day, will see uniformed scouts from all the city stationed at the different cemeteries of the city, each willing to help anyone who desires assistance. They will also participate in the services of the day.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Ellwood City, Wampum, Wurttemberg, Bessemer, New Bedford, Pulaski, New Wilmington, Edinburg and Mt. Jackson scout troops will serve at cemeteries in their respective districts.

The following schedule has been prepared for the New Castle scouts: Wednesday evening, May 28, 6 o'clock—

Greenwood Cemetery: Eight scouts from each of these troops: ten, thirteen, fifteen, seventeen and fifty-five; for replacing flags and helping with flowers. (Two scouts from each troop, bring pliers and knives; for flag sticks.) Report to American Legion men.

Oak Park Cemetery: Four scouts from each of these troops: One, two and thirty-seven. (One scout from each troop bring tools as above.) Report to Veterans of Foreign Wars officials. One scout from each troop bring tools as above.

Graceland Cemetery: Six scouts from troop eighteen, three from troop five; report to Veterans of Foreign Wars officials. One scout from each troop bring tools as above.

Memorial Day, May 30
Scouts are asked to give service as below: reporting at cemeteries in uniforms, helping with flowers, bringing water, giving messenger service, and demonstrating the Good Turn generally.

Greenwood Cemetery: troops 10, 13, 15, 17 and 55
Oak Park, troops 1, 2, and 37
Graceland, troops 5 and 18
Valley View, troop 4 of Mahoningtown

St. Mary's, scouts from 50 and 51
St. Joseph's, troop 21

Time accordingly as services in these cemeteries are timed.

Special service—The scout office would like one bugler from 15 and one from 18; also one uniformed scout from each of these troops: 1, 5, 10, 13, 15, 17, 18, 21, 37 and 55; to report at scout office at 9:30 Memorial Day morning.

Told Of 7 Lovers But Forgot 8 Others

(International News Service)
BERLIN, May 23.—Bert van Gontard son of a well-known German industrialist, is suing for annulment of his marriage to his wife Sonia on the ground that she had had fifteen lovers before her marriage and told him of only seven of them.

He forgave her the seven, von Gontard told the court, but he could not live with her because of the other eight.

Frau Sonia von Gontard replied with a counter suit charging Bert with infidelity after the marriage and threatening to name several women prominent in the social and theatrical world of Berlin.

The case has attracted great attention because of the prominence of the couple and the principle involved in the case.

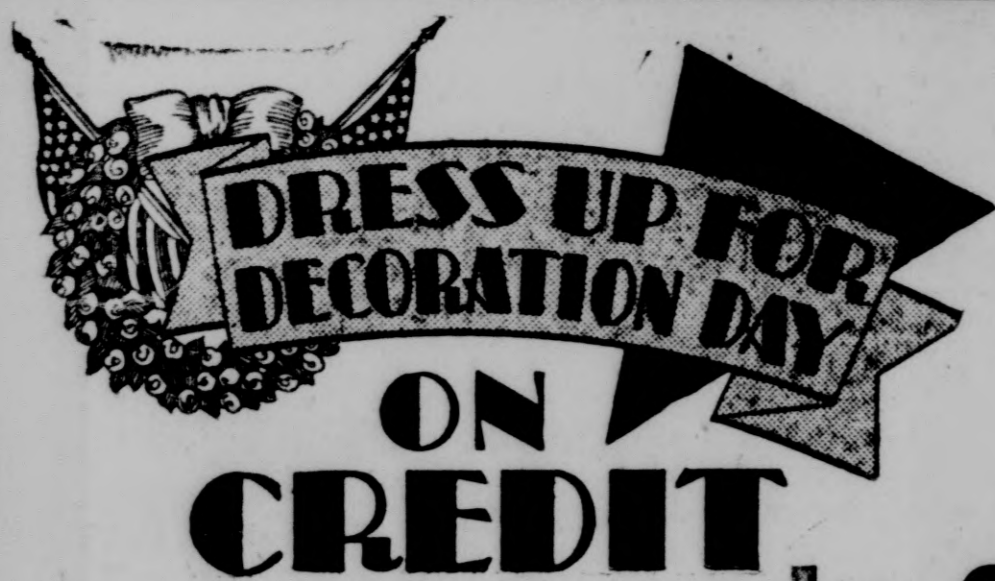

The superior court of Rostock has already decided in another case that the numbers of lovers before marriage didn't matter as long as the husband had known that there had been any and Frau Sonia's lawyers are citing this decision as a precedent.

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press

NEW YORK, May 23.—Every once in a while that grand old Roman of the stage, "Uncle Dan" Frohman gets to reminiscing. He told the other day of paying $35 a week to Maude Adams and $40 a week to Margaret Anglin. Henry Miller drew $60 a week under the Frohman banner, and he engaged David Belasco as stage manager at $35 weekly.

"Mr. Belasco was always a little jealous of William Gillette, who received a salary of $50," said the producer.

Later, when he opened the old Lyceum Theatre, then on 4th Ave., he sent for Belasco and told him he had a job for him at $75 a week.

"Gosh, can you pay it?" exclaimed the now great stage wizard.

AND NOW
"Ex-It" is the title of the new novel announced by the Vanguard Press for July. The book is described as a burlesque to end burlesques.

Well, we have had "Ex-Wife," "Ex-Husband," "Ex-Mistress"—and now "Ex-It."

There seems to be nothing left but

DISAPPOINTED.

District Attorney Crain who raids Mae West shows and other dizzy stage doings that smell of the sewer, finds himself in the position where he may have to raid a theatre owned by himself.

The Irving Place Burlesque has been on its good behavior for a week or two, and much of the free and easy humor has been toned down, for the D. A. hinted that action on his own property might be forthcoming. An announcer did not call it "the hottest show in town" last night. Nobody sold art magazines described by the vendor as "too naughty to be sold outside."

"Longacre Lil" took a look at the doings but soon came out saying: "If that's a hot show, I'm a watchmaker."

FROM LITTLE ACORNS.
On the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street is rising the Empire State Building, destined to be for a time the tallest building in the world and erected by a company headed by former Governor Al Smith.

This site was originally Thomson Farm, for which John Thomson paid, in 1799, exactly $2,500. William B. Astor later bought it for $20,500, and it was here the original Astor mansions were built.

When Thomson owned the farm it was described as being "along the Middle Road, near the three-mile stone and half mile north of Chelset Village."

ANTICIPATION.

There is a light in the window at No. 228 East 86th Street and "the boys" are waiting for the "good old days" to come back.

No. 228 is the headquarters of the Bartenders' Union that has been waiting for ten years for the word that "all is well again." On the wall is a sign reading "Bartenders Supplied at Short Notice," and John Speciale, the president, expects "the boys" will be in big demand again in about two years.

The organization has no objection to speakeasies, but it supplies bartenders only to "good speakeasies," he said.

The prohibition straw vote has got "the boys" all excited.

OLD STORY.
The lure of the ladies has long been recognized by big business. Now United Cigar Stores are trying to increase the sales to women by having feminine salespersons in several of the Manhattan stores.

The men clerks wait on the counter at the front of the store with the women lined up at the rear near the telephone booths.

PRIVILEGE
New York book dealers are contributing to the replenishing of the White House library. Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms," and other books banned in Boston, are to be included, a news item says.

More special privileges.

New Orleans Singer Makes Paris Debut

(International News Service)
PARIS, May 23.—An enthusiastic audience heard a new American tenor, Sidney Raynor of New Orleans, make his debut in Massenet's "Werther" at the Opera-Comique. Raynor made his first operatic appearance in New Orleans five years ago in "La Navarraise." After two year study in Italy, where he learned to sing the whole of his repertory in Italian, he made his German debut in "La Tosca" in Berlin.

Although his contract with the Opera-Comique still has some time to run, Raynor is scheduled for a San Francisco engagement together with Marie Jeritza. He will sing with the Austrian star in "Tannhauser" and "Salome."

PAGEANT DEPICTS SCIENCE PROGRESS

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 23.—Saturday afternoon at 4:30 on the college athletic field 200 students of Westminster College will present the annual May pageant under direction of Mrs. Mary C. McConaghie and assisted by Miss Doris Portman and Jack Hulme as well as a large staff of students.

The May fete has become a tradition at Westminster, with the college having the distinction of producing one of the largest and most original outdoor spectacles in the east. This year's pageant, written by the college class in pageant, under the direction of Mrs. McConaghie, symbolizes the victory of mankind over insects and disease through the increase in scientific knowledge and the elimination of ignorance and superstition.

Crowning Ceremonies
Miss Ruth Lewis, New Castle, last year's May queen will play the part of Vision. She will unbind Science, played by Miss Margaret Crooks, Brookline, Mass., this year's queen, and will crown Miss Crooks the new queen in the beautiful coronation scene which is in the third episode of the spectacle. Attendants to the queen, symbolizing Medicine, Entomology, Hygiene, Chemistry, and Physiology, are: Gretchen Turner, Cambridge Springs; Dorothy Brown, Bellevue; Kathryn Agnew, Dormont; Jane Faison, Wilkesburg; and Kathryn Johnson, Bellefonte.

Miss Eleanor Graham, Pittsburgh, vaudeville star of the senior class, has written the blank verse prologue for the pageant and for each of the three main episodes. James Blackwood, Cleveland, O., will play the part of the Zeitgeist, spirit of the times, and will read the blank verse. He has one of the few speaking parts in the whole pageant.

Episode I.
Episode I, showing man in conflict with the insect kingdom through disease transmitted by insects, opens with a tableau showing people of the earth. In this group are: Eleanor Sowash, New Wilmington; Caroline Daverio, Sharon; Elizabeth Veazey, Cleveland, O.; Naomi Allen, Pittsburgh; Helen Blah, New Castle; Ruth Rowe, Beaver; Jane Wallace, New Castle; Helen Baerman, Pittsburgh; Dorothy Kuh, New Wilmington; Mary Johnson, New Castle; Jean Duff, Wilkesburg; Genevieve McCartney, Sharon; Doris Goff, New Wilmington; Hazel Bower, Homestead; and Emma Koogler, Dormont. Miss Ruth Lewis, New Castle, is director of this group; Miss Catherine McClure, Blairsville, accompanist; and Miss Katherine Boobyer, Pittsburgh, costumer.

Scientists, representing Louis Pasteur, Walter Reed, and other men whose work has revealed the part insects have played in the spreading of disease, then enter. These scientists are represented by Walker Brownlee, New Wilmington; Samuel Stewart Wilkesburg; Louis Hazen, New Castle; William Hamilton, New Wilmington; and Harold Guy, New Castle.

May Queen Enters
Science, Miss Margaret Crooks, May Queen, then enters with her attendants, symbolizing Medicine, Entomology, Hygiene, Chemistry, and Physiology. Gretchen Turner is student director of this group; Margaret Reed, Butler, accompanist; and Jean Boyd, New Wilmington, costumer.

Disease and her attendants: Bubonic Plague, Yellow Fever, Malaria, Typhus, and Sleeping Sickness, diseases transmitted by insects, come on the scene. This tableau includes Mary Ecker, Emsworth; Mary Lou Braham, Butler, Virginia; New Castle; Virginia Boyd, Wilkesburg; Jean Boyd, New Wilmington; and Jane Swank, Beaver. Miss Mary Lou Braham is student director; Margaret Reed, accompanist; and Jean Boyd, costumer. The part played by Miss Jane Macrum, Oakmont, and Miss Charlotte Sample, Sharon, symbolizing mosquitoes at this stage of the pageant is very beautiful. A fantastic mosquito dance is enacted by the two in this tableau. Miss Rosemund Sowash, New Wilmington, is student costumer for the part.

Vision Arrives
Vision now enters, played by Miss Ruth Lewis, and the second episode of the pageant is ready to start.

The second episode shows man in conflict with the insect kingdom through the devastation of plant life. In the first tableau of the episode, a group of students symbolize cotton. In this group are: Martha McMurray, Conansburg; Margaret Ochiltree, Pittsburgh; Emma Ochiltree, Pittsburgh; Helen Cushman, Sharon; Edith Caldwell, Crafton; Mildred Lusk, New Castle; Imogene Millen, Irwin; Margaret Sankey, Mercer; Ada Miller, New Castle; Margaret Reese, New Wilmington; Mary Tea, Pittsburgh; Pauline Robinson, New Wilmington; Edith Roll, Coraopolis; Marion Ferver, New Wilmington; Edith Round, New Castle; and Mary Allis Hastings, Bradford. Miss Catherine McClure, Blairsville, is student director of this tableau; Claire Gross, Lionier, accompanist; and Helen Cushman, Sharon, costumer.

Cotton Pickers
The next tableau, showing cotton pickers, is composed of members of the college quartet under direction of Professor Alan B. Davis. These men are: Homer Dishong, Johnstown; Thomas Grenfell, Elizabeth; William Scott McMunn, Oakdale; William Frack, Unity; and two members of the women's glee club, Virginia Duff, New Castle; and Virginia Reicher, New Castle. Lewis Perkins, Sharon, is student accompanist for this part of the pageant, and Theodore Anderson is student costumer.

Miss Ada Walker, Aspinwall, next puts on a specialty dance, interpretative of a ball waltz. Miss Claire Gross is accompanist for the dance. Following this, Miss Mary Purvis, Butler, puts on another specialty dance, symbolizing fire. Raymond Sharp, young son of Mrs. Elmer Sharp of New Wilmington, will also entertain with an interpretation of a Japanese beetle. Richard Fuller, with a number of special tumbling stunts, will imitate a Praying Mantis. Jack Hulme and Ted Anderson are responsible for the last two specialty stunts and for the costumes.

Depict Corn.
The next tableau, depicting corn, includes Jane McKown, Pittsburgh; Katherine McClintock, New Wilmington; Katherine Boobyer, Pittsburgh; Mettie Round, New Castle; Marian Way, Pittsburgh; Dorothy Hopwood, Chestnut Ridge; Margaret Blackmore, Sharon; Margaret Morrow, Coraopolis; Ellen Young, Emon Valley; Sara Bigger, Clinton; Alberta Scott, Dravosburg; Mary Alice Neill, Conansburg; Miss Dorothy G. Brown, Bellevue, is student director of this group; Eleanor Graham, Pittsburgh, is accompanist; and Kathryn Agnew, Dormont, is costumer.

Miss Harriet Martin, New Castle, and Miss Catherine McClure, Blairsville, next give a duet dance interpretative of corn borers. Miss Margaret Smith, New Wilmington, designed the costumes for this act.

Episode Three.
Episode three, showing the coronation of Science by Vision, shows insects which were once thought ugly or harmful, but which have been found entertaining. The first group, imitating butterflies, includes: Sara Hemple, Dormont; Catherine Dick, Oakmont; Matilda Baldrige, McKeesport; Elizabeth Zehner, Wilkesburg; Hazel Bergland, New Castle; Catherine Elder, New Castle; Jane Nevin, Pittsburgh; and Marguerite McMinn, Brocton, N. Y.

Another interesting little tableau depicts moths. In this are Ruth Brown, Etna; Ruth Bovard, Sharon; Dorothy McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y.; and Ada Short, Wheatland. Miss Hazel Bergland, New Castle, is student director of these two tableaux; Miss Edith Round, New Castle, is accompanist; and Hazel McClelland, Edenburg, and Elizabeth English, Erie, are costumers.

Beautiful Tableaux.
A beautiful tableau which follows shows a clover field. This is symbolized by Elizabeth Ferrall, Canton, Ohio; Anne MacEwen, Dormont; Lois Davenport, New Castle; Louise Adams, New Wilmington; Elinor Wilson, New Wilmington; Mabel Kirk, Stoneboro; Helen Bigger, Clinton; Margaret Brickley, Cresson; Lillie Braham, New Wilmington; Mabel Kocher, New Castle; Elizabeth Work, Dormont; and Doris Shoaf, West Elizabeth. Miss Lois Davenport is student director of this group; Edith Round is accompanist; and Louise Adams is costumer. Bees are then imitated by Florence Groth, Cleveland, Ohio; Elaine Buzza, Coraopolis; and Elizabeth Masur, Pittsburgh. Miss Groth is student director of the tableau; Edith Round is accompanist; and Margaret Smith is costumer.

Flea Circus.
A flea circus to entertain the newly crowned queen is the next tableau. Under direction of Jack Hulme, a number of varsity athletes and others put on tumbling acts and gymnastics. Those in the group are: Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis.; Glenn Reifus, Sandusky, O.; Robert Deale, Sharpsville; Clinton Welsh, Homestead; George Cebula, Campbell, O.; Emmett Tweedy, Turtle Creek; Dale Cleland, Portersville; Donald Cleland, Portersville; Elmer Myers, Sharon; Victor Smith, New Wilmington; Kenneth Dyer, Pittsburgh; Donald Holt, Beaver; Robert Pollock, Pittsburgh; Raymond Sharp, New Wilmington.

The last tableau in the pageant, preceding the recessional, is the Flit squad. This group, dressed like wooden soldiers, will put on a drill dance. Those in the group are: Elizabeth Rose, New Wilmington; Cora Wil-

Operetta Given At Junior High

"The Feast Of The Little Lanterns" Presented At Ben Franklin

Closing a year of achievement in the field of drama and music the chorus of the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School presented "The Feast of the Little Lanterns" Thursday afternoon and evening in the auditorium of the school.

After seeing the production one cannot help but feel that the school system of New Castle is doing some outstanding work in the field of music for although the youngsters in the cast were all of junior high school age they performed in a manner that would have reflected credit on a class of seniors.

Choral Work Snappy
Every feature of the operetta was well done but the choral singing was easily the thing that stood out. Attack and release, volume and intonation, all of them unusually well done. Were this the only thing that was done well however the operetta would have been lacking. To this important feature can be added dancing that was graceful, dramatic ability that bespoke careful training, and back of it all a stage setting that was most artistic.

The leads in the operetta were Genevieve Thomas, Viola Dufford, Elizabeth Lewis, Elizabeth Taylor, They did their parts in a way that was a credit to them and their instructors, and the two crowds that saw the play went away satisfied.

The musical work was in charge of Miss Esther Gibbon, the orchestral work under Miss Evea Coulter, the dramatic work under Miss Joyce Wingerd, the dancing under Miss Muriel Findley. Each of the youngsters provided his or her own costume.

The Green room was beautifully decorated. The club now numbers 39 members who were present at the anniversary dinner Thursday. This club was started some two years ago and meets every Tuesday in the home of the International Institute on Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. Wickersham thinks that drastic penalties are futile. Unfortunately the other kind seem to be that way.

Tear Gas Mystery Baffles Officials

E. C. McCracken Almost Overcome When He Went To Open Poor Board Offices

When T. C. McCracken, fireman and assistant janitor at the court house, went to open up the rooms occupied by the poor board this morning, he was met by a blast of tear gas as he opened the door. McCracken was carrying a couple of cups of hot potatoes.

With tears streaming down his cheeks from the pungent gas he ran to the court house where he informed Janitor Clifford James and County Commissioners' Clerk, W. A. Eakin, that the office of the poor board had been filled with tear gas and that he had a narrow escape from being overcome.

Investigation showed that tear gas had undoubtedly been injected into the room, although for what purpose or by whom remains a mystery. The room had been securely locked when County Commissioner Calvin Bond and poor director M. B. Hogue left it last night.

It is surmised that some one either had a key that fitted the lock or that the gas was injected through the keyhole. The rooms had to be given a thorough airing before they could be used this morning.

The rooms occupied by the poor board are in the Waddington building across from the office of Sheriff Frank Johnson. An investigation is being made.

"NO MEDICINE IN THE WORLD LIKE KONJOLA"

Happy Lady Finds Health In New Remedy After All Others Fail Dismally.

MRS. ANNIE T. CARIFORD

"There is no medicine in the world like Konjola in my estimation," said Mrs. Annie T. Cariford, 705 Arch street, North Side, Pittsburgh. "My kidneys and stomach were a constant source of pain and torture to me, and I was on a diet of orange juice, but even that caused me distress. Finally my kidneys became so bad that I was hardly able to bear the agonies."

"The endorsements of Konjola were so in earnest that I decided to give it a trial. That was the turning point for my health, and from then on my condition grew better and better. My digestion was restored and now I am able to eat three hearty meals a day without fear of after pains. My kidneys are in good condition, and I feel like a new woman. I owe my health to the great powers of Konjola, and I recommend it whenever I get a chance."

Konjola has become the most talked of medicine in America because it makes good. And Konjola makes good even in the most stubborn cases when given a fair trial. Six to eight bottles are recommended as a fair test.

Konjola is sold by Love & McGown, the Druggists, 204 E. Washington St., this city.

"Out Of Gas""Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson*The Golden Text

"Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.
Matthew 24 and 25 record the solemn discourses of our Lord, spoken by him on that sad Tuesday of his last week in which he prophesied the destruction of Jerusalem and the end of this present age which will be ushered in by his second coming. Part of these prophecies were fulfilled in the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans under Titus in the year 70, and part of them are still to be fulfilled at our Lord's return. In this day of electric lights, and of oil stations on every prominent street corner, it may be difficult for our children to picture the oriental setting of this lesson. Such wedding processions, with maidens bearing oil lamps that flicker dimly through the midnight gloom, present customs decidedly different from the wedding customs of our day. Yet the lessons Jesus sought to teach are as applicable to this year 1930 as to that year 29.

Jesus applied the lesson to teach the necessity of spiritual watchfulness and preparedness in view of the uncertainty as to the time of his coming again. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh."

The Folly Of Unpreparedness

Jesus Christ is the Bridegroom of this parable, and the Church is his Bride betrothed to him, and to be united in marriage to him at his return in glory. All we have been invited to this "Marriage feast of the Lamb." Few, indeed, there are that do not intend ultimately to accept the gracious invitation to the wedding—ultimately, but with many there is no disposition to get ready until the last moment. Sometime, somehow, they expect to make their spiritual preparation for that final summons, "Behold, the bridegroom! Come ye forth to meet him." But in the meantime they "take no oil with them," oil representing here, as always in the Scriptures, the things of the Spirit of God. Herein lies the folly of those represented by the five foolish virgins of this parable. It is the folly of procrastination, of putting off until some uncertain future day the preparations which should be made now.

The Tragedy of the Closed Door
This is commencement time for many school and college youth. The season speaks of the preparations for life rather than for death. If these preparations to live the largest, fullest life are not made in youth, the time will come when it will be too late. "They that are ready will go in—and the door will be closed." There is such a closing of the doors of opportunity, and it is one of the saddest of life's tragedies. The tragedy of wasted opportunity, of unpreparedness for the crises of life and of death. The tragedy of hoping somehow to "get by" on some one's friendship, or borrowing from ourselves. School days are days of preparation against that day when the doors will be closed against the unprepared, when we shall want to be on the right side of those doors. In the days when those who have made adequate physical, mental or spiritual preparations for life are making the grade let us not be caught on the hill "out of gas."

(The International Uniform Lesson for May 25 is Matt. 25:1-13, the Golden Text being, "Take ye heed, watch and pray, for ye know not when the time is." Mark 13:33.)
(The suggested daily Bible readings for next week's study are: Monday, Matt. 25:14-23; Tuesday, Matt. 25:24-30; Wednesday, Matt. 25:31-40; Thursday, Matt. 25:41-46; Friday, II Peter 1:1-11; Saturday, I Tim. 4:6-16; Sunday, Psalm 40:1-8.)

Beauty Industry Lacks Text Book

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 23.—Wanted: A text book on beauty.
When state authorities suggested that beauty culture schools adopt standard reference books on subjects upon which candidates for State licenses must be examined, it developed that no one knew of any.
"Nearly all beauty culture books now used are written by manufacturers," said Miss Helen Lynch, a member of the Illinois beauty culture examining board. "I suggest a committee be appointed in this state and in conjunction with other states having beauty culture laws to select standard reference books, which should be written by physicians or authorities on the subject."

Gen. W. A. Clark Passes Away

Notable Figure In Progress
Of New Wilmington Dies
At Age Of 87

OF ROUNDHEADS

Presented Chemical Laboratory Building To Westminster College

General William A. Clark, aged 87, passed away at Wyatt's Lodge, New Wilmington, Thursday at 5:20 p. m. after a short illness.

Mr. Clark was born in New Wilmington March 25, 1843, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Clark and was prominent in the affairs of the town in his younger life.

At the age of 18, young Clark enlisted in the 100th regiment and took part in the Civil war, this regiment being known as the Roundheads. He was wounded at the battle of Bull Run, was in the hospital a short time and when he came out went back to the front. He was once national commander of the Union Veteran Legion.

Upon returning from the war he engaged in oil well drilling at Franklin, later going to Butler fields, where he was successful in his undertakings. In 1889 he returned to New Wilmington to educate his children at Westminster college, of which school he took an active part in developing as well as taking active part in the civic life of the town.

Mr. Clark and Prof. Thompson built the first water works at New Wilmington, which is still in use, and he built the first electric light plant in New Wilmington. He also built and presented the chemical laboratory to the college, this building bearing his name, and he also built the Bank block.

He built and managed a hotel at Neshannock Falls until it was destroyed by fire. The past ten years he spent at St. Mary's, W. Va.

He was a member of the Bible class at St. Mary's. A few months ago he returned to the town of his birth and was living at Wyatt's lodge. Mr. Clark was president of the 35th annual reunion of the Roundhead regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer infantry, which is being held in New Castle June 11, during the encampment and had planned on taking an active part in the program.

He is survived by a son, Dr. William Clark of New Wilmington and a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Ward of England and three grandchildren.

Mr. Clark was brought to Campbell's in New Castle and may be viewed by friends until the time of the funeral at 11 a. m. Saturday morning. Friends are asked to omit flowers and the funeral will be private.

MR. J. B. SMALLWOOD

kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. It is also a splendid spring tonic, cleansing and toning up the entire system.

"I used Ten Herbs for indigestion and a general run-down condition, and it gave me splendid results," was the statement of Mr. J. B. Smallwood, 133 East Otterman Street, Greensburg, Pa. "I had been in poor health for a long time. I was so badly run-down that I felt miserable most of the time. After eating I had gas and pains in my stomach, and sometimes I belched a sour liquid. Headaches and dizzy spells troubled me, and there were severe pains in my back and legs. I could not get proper rest at night, as I had to arise often, and this caused me to become very tired during the day. Constipation troubled me a great deal."

"A friend advised me to take Ten Herbs, and I found your medicine to be just what my system needed. It gave me freedom from gas and pains in my stomach. I no longer belched that sour liquid. Headaches and dizzy spells disappeared, and the sharp pains left my back and legs. Constipation was relieved. My appetite improved, and food gave me more strength. I began to sleep soundly. Ten Herbs did me so much good that I believe it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Union township supervisors today conferred with city council in regard to the city granting permission to the township to connect with the city sanitary sewer system.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which was held in council chambers, City Hall, Solicitor White was ordered to prepare an agreement which will be presented to the supervisors.

The supervisors stated that the township would like two connections, one at West Washington street and the township line, and the other with the main sewer near the stove works, which would take care of the Oakland situation.

The township will be asked by the plan to be prepared by white to help maintain the sanitary system and the sewage disposal plant, which is provided for by state law, according to Councilman Genkinger.

All the city council excepting Councilman Burns were present. Frank McCreary and Joseph Perkins were the supervisors present. County Commissioner McCullough attended the meeting.

C. H. Young, district engineer from the state board of health, Harvey Milholland, engineer for the township, and Engineers Miller and Hoskins of New Castle were also present and took part in the discussion.

MANY BABIES AT WELL BABY CLINIC

Over fifty babies were brought by their mothers to the Well Baby Clinic at the New Castle Dry Goods Building, Thursday morning, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock. The clinic is in charge of Dr. Wm. Wallace, with the state and county nurses assisting.

The clinic is conducted every Thursday morning, and has proved very beneficial in the preventing of illness in babies.

Man Falls 45 Feet From Bridge

AMBRIDGE, Pa., May 23.—His skull fractured and his body badly cut and bruised when he fell 45 feet from the Pennsylvania railroad trestle over the Big Sewickley creek yesterday morning, Walter Davis, 38, Ambridge, is in the Sewickley Hospital in a critical condition.

Mrs. Welsh of 211 Bank street, near the trestle reported to police that she had seen the man fall from the bridge. Police found Davis, unconscious, on the ground below the trestle.

Why is it wicked to spend $250,000 for a Senate nomination? The folly of buying a fine car, depends on the nick it makes in your bank roll.

Vermont Adopts Law Against Back Seat Driver Now

Is First State In Union To Legislate Against Interference With Driver

Now comes legislation directed at the back seat driver.

R. W. Bolinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, an A. A. A. unit, is authority for the statement that such a law has been added to the long list of diversified regulations now in existence.

He names Vermont as the state that is certain to win fame for its effort to silence those who attempt to combine passengers and chauffeurs.

"The back seat driver belongs in the category of national pests," said the A. A. A. club executive, "and has been made the butt of numerous jokes and cartoons. Some have gone as far as to suggest a national convention of back seat drivers."

"Anyway, there is hardly a motorist who has not been scared out of his wits at some time by the unexpected shouts and warnings from the back seat, which should be a rendezvous of silence in heavy traffic."

"The professional back seat driver, if there is such, usually begins to practice the art as soon as the car enters an area of heavy traffic, and the attention of the operator is fully occupied."

In support of his statement, Mr.
Bolinger quoted from the Vermont law as follows:

"A person shall not operate, attempt to operate, or participate in the steering or operation of a motor vehicle, except in an emergency, unless seated directly behind the steering wheel of such vehicle."

Celebrate Discovery Of Lockwood Island

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mass., May 23.—The 48th anniversary of the discovery and naming of Lockwood island and Cape Washington, Greenland, by Lieutenant James Booth Lockwood of the 23rd U. S. infantry, which at the time established a "farthest north" Arctic exploration record, occurred on May 13, this year. Lieut. Lockwood was second in command of the ill-fated Lady Franklin Bay expedition headed by Lieutenant, now Major General A. W. Greely.

Lockwood had volunteered for service in this expedition and performed the duties of surveyor and magnetic observer. On April 3, 1882, he set out from Discovery Harbor with Sergeant David L. Brainard and an Eskimo named Christenson. On May 6 they arrived at Cape Britania, Greenland, over which Lockwood hoisted the United States flag. Proceeding northward over an unknown country they finally halted at the most northerly point then reached by man, only 350 miles from the north pole.

Retracing their steps they arrived at Discovery Harbor on June 17, having accomplished in 60 days a journey of more than 1,000 miles across ice in sub-zero conditions.

Lieut. Lockwood died during the rigors of the winter of 1883-1884 when he was killed by a blizzard. He was Sergeant Brainard, like General Greely, survived, and later was commissioned to the rank of brigadier general.

Legless Cripple Saves Mechanic's Life

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 23.—Fred Beaver, a mechanic, probably owes his life to the massive shoulder muscles acquired by Virgil Thomas, 60, a legless cripple, in twenty-six years of using cane for locomotion.

Beaver was working under an automobile when a jack slipped, causing the car to fall on him and pin his head to the ground. His cries were heard by Thomas, who hobbled over and with a heave of his powerful shoulders, lifted the car so that Beaver could pull his head free.

Doctors said Beaver suffered brain concussion, and had a lucky escape from a more serious injury or death.

"Take Honey, Leave Money" Slogan Pays

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 23.—

owner. In months of operation the honey produced has found more money has been left by passing automobiles than needed to pay for the honey.

DOG CATCHER'S TACTICS CAUSE POLITICAL FIGHT

WINSOR, Ont., May 23.—One question, profound and epochal, may face all candidates for public office in campaigns here and in neighboring municipalities: "Who are you for, the dog or the dog-catcher?"

The somewhat unusual note in political battles is the result of a stormy controversy centering around Eugene LaMarr, demon Schnauzersnarer for the four allied townships here.

This air-dale arrester, in enforcing a local law which prohibits dogs from frolicking on the streets unleashed, has snatched up many a violet-scented pet from under the very nose of its owner and hustled it off to the pound in the company or dogs obviously unrefined and unscented. According to some critics, he even uses a bewitching bit of canine femininity who yamps stray male dogs into his heavily-mittened hands. These practices have earned him the dislike of many dog lovers.

So strong is the feeling on the dog versus dog-catcher question that it has become a political issue and an association is reported being organized for the express purpose of removing either the law or the dog-catcher.
The association may demand of every political candidate that his belief on dog-catchers form one of the openly expressed planks of his political campaign.

Meanwhile, LaMarr's enemies increase daily while his defenders entreat their citizens to "Keep the Dog Catcher Out of Politics."

Dad Needed A Bath So She Called Police

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 23.—The telephone rang at Police Headquarters here and Henry Brooks, the police
"hello man" answered.

A young woman was on the line
"Please send two officers out," she asked. "I want them to make father get up and take a bath!"

After digesting this dumbfounding request, Brooks informed the girl that police did not undertake valet services.

TRIPPER TOGS FOR SUMMER ARE TRIG AND TRIM

By ALICE LANGELEIR
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, May 23.—Trippers togs for summer travel are extremely trig and trim. Even the wooleens that make them have taken on a far daintier look.

Tweeds are very much in order for travel togs, but not the heavy, coarse variety which has been worn all winter. They are smooth and fine, resembling diagonals and chevrons. For short week end trips there are transparent and featherweight fabrics in wool and silk and wool mixtures.

Jane Regny is making a black and white tweed travel coat with fitted capelets over the shoulders, small standing collar and black leather belt.
A knitted cap in the same pattern as the coat completes it. Smartest women are not wearing the all-too-popular tweed hat and beret.

Terribly trim is a wool shantung travelling ensemble in a mixture of bright blue and white. The knee length coat is loose and flowing from the shoulders and has full length revers and cuffs of plain jersey. The frock has double cape-sleeves and a jabot of white pique.

Suits are very chic for summer fine, flat beige and brown tweed, with the jacket attached by buttoned points in front, showing the scarf of green sateen between the points.
The scarf replaces a collar as well.
There are three blouses to go with it, one of pink linen, and one of white and green. The hat is of green crocheted straw.

American Woman Is Held For Mayhem

(International News Service)
BUDAPEST, May 23.—Mrs. Ladislaus Nagy, American citizen, formerly of New York City, was sentenced to eight days in jail by a Budapest court for mayhem.

Mrs. Nagy had returned two years ago from America to Hungary, the country of her birth. While traveling in Paris, she telegraphed to her Budapest lawyer, Dr. Desider Vass, for money. As he did not comply with her wish, Mrs. Nagy became infuriated and hurried back for a personal conference with Dr. Vass. Words soon changed into deeds when Mrs.
Nagy beat up, first the lawyer, then the lawyer's wife who rushed to assist her screaming husband.

It took ten days for Dr. Vass to recover from the conference with his temperamental client.

The judge held it to be an aggravating fact that Mrs. Nagy was a very strong woman, while Dr. Vass was a much feebler man, and that Mrs. Nagy belabored him not only with her fists, but also with a telephone receiver.

Traffic Verdict Warns Motorists

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 23.—As a warning to motor vehicle drivers who cause accidents by their recklessness but escape liability because they were not themselves involved, traffic experts here are calling attention to a verdict returned recently by a jury in the Superior Court in this city.
The verdict awarded damages of $11,500 to Dudley A. Weaver, a truck driver, for injuries he suffered in an accident on December 28, 1927.
Weaver testified that he was driving a truck out of a lumber yard when an armored express truck crossed his path. To avoid a collision, Weaver swerved his truck so sharply that it overturned, breaking his right leg.
The express company which owned the armored car was held jointly liable with the lumber company for the amount of the damages.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight?
Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas.

H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.
You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

1,137 New Playgrounds Opened During Last Year

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 23.—Opening 1,137 public play areas last year, cities of the United States and Canada made their greatest annual stride in facilities for the people's spare time, say the Year Book of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, just issued.

These new recreation sites included twenty municipal golf courses, ninety athletic fields, ten bathing beaches, and 648 outdoor playgrounds. They brought the 1929 total of directed play areas to 13,397, which was 4,346 more than the total reported five years ago.

The expenditure of $33,539,805 reported by 890 cities was the largest yearly sum ever spent for public recreation. It exceeded the 1928 report by more than two millions and the 1929 report by more than thirty-two millions. Thirty-seven cities voted $4,501,127 in bonds for recreation purposes during the year.

"Demonstrated values in health, child safety and crime prevention, and as a factor in attracting industries and residents, account for the rapidly increasing municipal provision of land and leadership in play," the Association states. "Eighty-four per cent of the expenditures were met from municipal and county funds, twelve per cent from fees and charges, and only four per cent from private sources."

Leadership in recreation was reported by 945 towns and cities. The number of employed recreation leaders mounted to 22,920, or 2,158 more than the previous year. For the first time the salaries and wages paid such leaders was recorded and the amount reported by 657 cities was $7,059,865. Volunteer leaders who numbered 7,411, showed also a marked increase. During the year, 14,046 persons were enrolled in training courses for recreation leadership.

More than three million people a day took part in sports and other activities at outdoor playgrounds last year, it is estimated. On the basis of attendance reports from 565 cities, the total number of participants at the 7,661 outdoor playgrounds is placed at 274,099,562. This figure was divided by ninety, since a ninety day season strikes a good average for outdoor playgrounds. Not included in the three million are the patrons of thousands of recreation areas other than playgrounds.

From a movement for children, public recreation has grown to embrace a variety of activities for the free time of people of all ages, the Association points out. The shorter work-day and the approach of the five-day week add to the problem of the healthful and satisfying use of workers' expanding leisure. Recreation under municipal auspices which were popular with adults, included golf, tennis, hiking, clubs, and amateur art, music and drama groups. Athletics for industrial employees were listed by 290 cities.

Amateur athletic leagues reported at 8,620, showed a jump of more than two thousand over the 1928 figure. The roster for nine league sports totaled 1,230,003 players and 39,364,745 spectators. Tennis enlisted the most players, reported at 381,208, by 325 cities. Baseball was second with 247,643 players in 414 cities. Playground baseball third with 200,790 players in 325 cities.

The son of Rev. Dennis Goodsell, a retired home missionary pastor living in Berkeley, Cal., Dr. Goodsell was graduated from the University of California, A. B. 1902, and Hartford Theological seminary, B. D. 1905.

He also studied in the Universities of Marburg and Berlin and received the degree of D. D. from Pacific School of Religion in 1926.

"The commercial, philanthropic and religious activities of America thrust out the Near East have created a vast capital of good will in almost every nation from Egypt to Bulgaria and from Greece to Persia," said Dr. Goodsell. "The American business man in the Near East has made a fine reputation for integrity and efficiency. I question whether any great section of the world, not excepting China, has been the arena of more significant struggles and developments than have taken place in the Near East during the past quarter century. America's part in these changes has not been altogether that of a spectator. America is thought of by far easterners as the land of unlimited resources, unbounded energy, and hearty good will and idealism."

Special Breakfast For Legion Leaders

(International News Service) BOSTON, May 23.—A "Legion breakfast" will be tendered leaders of the Legion from all over the country on Tuesday, October 7th, the second day of the convention, according to an announcement of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the breakfast.

Henry L. Harriman, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, told of the plans in a communication to Col. Carrol J. Swan, president of the 1930 National Convention Corporation of the American Legion.

The special guests at the breakfast will be the National Commander of the Legion and all other National Officers, the Department Commanders and the Department Adjutants of the fifty eight departments of the Legion; these departments include every state of the union and every foreign country, where there are more than two posts of the Legion.

It is likely that in addition to these the Prince of Wales, Marshal Pétain or others, who may be here at the time, will likewise be special guests at the breakfast.

Film Firm Has New Developing Machine

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—Film experts of the Universal Pictures Corporation have invented a new type developing machine which is said to aid greatly sound reproduction by making possible a finer sound track. The machine is fifty feet long, three feet wide and eight feet high, and it has a capacity of 7200 feet of film per hour. Within thirty minutes from the time film enters the machine it is ready for the projector. The film moves slowly in the process and therefore frequencies as high as 12,000 per second may be developed on the sound track, according to C. Roy Hunter and Robert Pierce, the inventors.

VIENNA PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM MAKES CHANGES

By RUTH JANE WILLIAMS
U. S. National News Service Staff

VIENNA, May 23.—Independent thinking is the new goal of the Austrian public school authorities today. Before the war the student was crammed with knowledge. Under the new regime he is trained to acquire knowledge and to develop the faculties of his mind.

This is the explanation of the great changes in the Austrian school system which have taken place under his administration, by the School Board President, Otto Glockel.

The old system kept each subject apart from the others, President Glockel explains, while under the new, all subjects are related to each other and to life.

Less class work in the school room and less time between book covers—numerous excursions to places of industries and to institutions and more understanding and experience with the practical application of the things the students learn, are all part of the new schooling program.

Easier entrance to universities and more opportunities for industrial training and trade learning are among the reforms the president hopes to put through in the near future.

Note Anniversary Of Cuckoo Clocks

(International News Service) FREIBURG, Baden, May 23.—This year brings the 200th anniversary of the Black Forest cuckoo clocks, which are known all over the world. The first one was made by the clockmaker Frank Anton Ketterer in Schoenwald in 1730. Ketterer also discovered a method of making cogwheels by machinery, doing away with filing them out by hand.

Many queries have come in regarding 1930 census returns. Figures for many places are as yet unannounced, but a number of questions can be answered.

What is the population of Washington?

The 1930 census figures give Washington a permanent population of 485,716, a gain of 48,145, or 11 per cent of 1920. Suggestions for a recount have been made.

Did Cleveland, O., annex suburbs in time for the 1930 census?

No. The 1930 census figure for the city of Cleveland proper is 897,458, a gain of 100,617, or 12.63 per cent over 1920. The 1930 census figure for Cleveland with its suburbs within Cuyahoga county included is 1,197,818, a gain of 254,323, or 26.76 per cent.

Which is larger—Atlanta, Ga., or Birmingham, Ala.?

Census returns for 1930 show Atlanta having 266,557, a gain of 32.9 per cent over 1920, and Birmingham, 257,657, a gain of 44.1 per cent.

Is Memphis, Tenn., larger than Akron, Ohio?

Akron, according to 1930 census figures, has 257,378, a gain of 23.4 per cent over 1920, while Memphis has 252,049, a gain of 55.2 per cent.

What is the newest bridge across the Mississippi river?

A combination rail and highway bridge at Vicksburg, Miss., which takes the place of ferries.

To whom should I address requests for government pamphlets?

Such requests should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

(NOTE: The following pamphlets may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin and a large stamped self-addressed envelope for each, to Central Press Washington Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C.: "Who's Who in Hollywood" and Charles P. Stewart's treatise on "Our Government.")

Auto Crashes Take Big Death Toll

(International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—Automobiles in California during 1928 had a higher monthly death rate than the guns of the World War had on Californians during 1917-1918.

This was revealed in a set of figures compiled by the war department and made public today at the Presidio.

There were 155.8 persons killed in California by automobiles each month during 1928. The average monthly fatality rate among Californians during the war was 66.6.

(International News Service) CHICAGO, May 23.—Dr. Albert A. Michelson, noted physicist, has been revealed as a composer of music.

Dr. Michelson, in addition to being an accomplished violinist, is a skilled billiard player and, for his 73 years, an exceptional tennis player. He attained his principal fame light.

The donations have been large and steady all week, with the exception of the opening day Monday, when only $3,000 was collected. MORAVIA STOP

BIBLE STUDY

Last Wednesday at the Alliance church a Bible study of great interest was enjoyed by many. The topic used was "Ye are the light," many took part in open discussion, asking questions on the topic being studied. An interesting feature of the service was to listen to the different experiences of those who had been soundly converted during some series of revival meetings. Several young people testified to the saving and keeping power of Christ in their lives.

At the close of the service the young men of the congregation united with the pastor in a "good sing" accompanied by the piano-accompanist. These Bible studies will continue each Wednesday evening at 8:00 p. m.

There Are Softer Jobs

Boston is no baseball paradise from any big league angle, but it might become that if either the Braves or the Red Sox, or both, achieved the miracle of becoming actual pennant contenders. Not since 1916 when the Sox came through for the second time in succession, has the Hub had a pennant. The last flag won by the Braves was in 1914 when they went from last place in midseason to the top, and then captured World Series in four straight games from the Athletics. Both Boston teams have been in the doldrums of steady failure ever since. Managers and players have been tossed aside like old score cards. And now—

It is up to wise old Bill McKechnie to produce with the Braves, while the smart Heinie Wagner has the same problem with the Red Sox. Both have tackled their jobs with characteristic vim.

The Braves' latest pilot has a wealth of managerial experience. He developed pennant winners for the Cardinals at St. Louis and the Pirates at Pittsburgh, but was let go in each instance after his teams had flopped in the World Series. He starts at the Braves to scratch as possible in the first division and should they land in the first division, it will be a monumental achievement—if not a miracle—to the McKechnie's credit.

McKechnie was quick to grab the famous Burleigh Grimes when Barney Dreyfuss refused to pay that veteran pitcher more than $18,000 this season. The critics think Grimes will add much to the Braves' strength as the schedule progresses. "Mac" is also displaying a brilliant outfielder in Walter Berger, who has started as a home run hitter.

Wagner's first managerial assignment is even tougher than Bill's though not so much can be expected of the Sox since they finished last in the American League seven out of the last eight seasons.

During the winter, Ira Flagstead and other veterans were released, yet when that pruning was finished, the Sox seemed to be about the same as last year's mediocre machine. However, the team played with considerable strength during the early weeks of the current season. And Wagner appears to have a great new outfield star in Tom Oliver, who has been hitting like Ty Cobb in his prime. Nonetheless, if Heinie's out-stance after his teams had flopped in the World Series. He starts at the Braves to scratch as possible in the first division and should they land in the first division, it will be a monumental achievement—if not a miracle—to the McKechnie's credit.

Eskimo Children Have Toys Of Rare Beauty

Eskimo youngsters possess tiny spears and fish hooks cut from walrus bones, small crossbows with ivory-tipped arrows, beautiful little kayaks about a foot long cleverly fashioned from skins and manned with carved ivory hunters. East one holds a paddle of bone, a bone harpoon, a wee float of seal skin and delicate hide lariats.

Little sleds of ivory, only a few inches long, yet perfectly formed, with several ivory dogs hitched with reindeer harness are treasured possessions of Eskimo boys. Deer, whales, bears, seals—all sorts of queer fish and birds—are carved from pure ivory and given to the children at Yuletide. Beautiful little ivory birds of the far north, penguin and murre are cut so delicately from ivory as to astonish the examiner.

There are ivory thimbles for the girls, tiny ivory pins for their coarse black hair, toggles or clasps for fur belts, shopping bags of white fur from Arctic hare.

Some boys have a marvelous drum made from a thin strip of whalebone bent to form a circle. Both sides are covered with tightly stretched shark skin. Two little walrus bones are drum sticks and no snow igloo can contain the noise that radiates from the instrument.

Many of these toys reach American cities but are sold in curio shops and are far too expensive for Santa Claus to distribute.—Boston Herald.

USED CAR VIEWS

The present shortage of money is compelling more and more people to buy used cars instead of new cars.

This, in turn, has caused radical changes in used car policies. Instead of trying to sell the old car in the same condition it came in, the old car has been completely overhauled and placed in practically new condition. Used car buyers are seldom required to do anything further to cars purchased at Shenango Motor Company.

At this time there are several outstanding cars on the lot. There is a Ford in perfect running condition for $130 down and less than $20 a month. This car is easily in reach of nearly everyone.

Then there is a Buick, and if you want a good big car you'll take it at $110 down and easy terms on the balance.

A Whippet sedan for $90 down and $15 a month ought to interest some skilful buyer. A Chevrolet for only $65 down, and $12 monthly is bound to gain interest, as it happens to be a coupe.

There are other cars priced for cash that would make anyone wonder. $25 to $95, all good and all in the best of condition. Make it a point to call at Shenango Motor Company Used Car Lot first. You'll often save money!

HISTORY OF THE "BUDDY" POPPY

In 1918, the closing scene in the most horrible war of history was enacted. The aftermath of this terrible catastrophe are the heroes of sacrifice who are now in hospitals suffering untold agonies as the price of Democracy. To these Heroes and also to the ones who have answered the last call of the Great Master, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States have dedicated the "Buddy Poppy." What greater symbol of memory and devotion could have been selected than this?

Annually, throughout the United States, Veteran organizations and their Auxiliaries present these flowers to the public that they may have their opportunity to aid in a great benevolent work.

The name "Buddy" Poppy originated from the fact that these poppies are made by our disabled Buddies confined in hospitals and homes. This flower has been adopted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States as their National Flower.

It serves a manyfold purpose in that it gives the disabled Veterans a pleasant occupation, relieves the mind and soul of the thought of being entirely helpless, and yet compensates them for their labor. For each "Buddy" Poppy so made, the Veteran receives two (2) cents. About sixty thousand are made in the State of Pennsylvania each week.

To this cost, one cent is added, which is sent to the National Orphans Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, where children and wives of deceased ex-service men are given the comforts of food, shelter and clothing. An education is also given to the children in the public schools and colleges.

The actual cost of the manufacture of a "Buddy" Poppy, including material and other miscellaneous expense, is therefore, about five (5) cents. In addition to this must be added the expense of the selling campaign on Poppy Day. This amounts to nearly one cent each, and brings the total cost of each "Buddy" Poppy to six (6) cents.

"Buddy" Poppies are distributed and the benevolent contributions received in our city through the efforts of girl volunteers from our local high schools. From the proceeds of this campaign the local veteran relief work is carried on in the form of food, clothing, shelter, coal, gas, medicines, doctors' services and hospitalization for disabled veterans and their families.

It can readily be seen that unless the contributions are more than ten cents for each Poppy that the relief work in our locality will be greatly retarded. Each year this need grows larger and it is hoped that the public will contribute freely and liberally to this worthy cause and feel proud to wear a "Buddy" Poppy on Memorial Day as a symbol of reverence and memory to our immortal heroes.

Gasoline With More Power Is New Discovery

George Granger Brown, Chemist Discovers New Gasoline Formula For Cold Weather

(International News Service) TULSA, Okla., May 23.—Motors hard to start in cold weather are to be rejuvenated due to the discovery of a more powerful gasoline according to an announcement at the National Gasoline Association's convention today.

The new mixture, developed under the direction of George Granger Brown, professor of chemical engineering and director of research for the association, is the product of four years work.

The formula is noncommercial permitting anyone who may desire to use it.

According to Prof. Brown this new formula permits refiners to produce gasoline for all ranges of temperature.

The secret of the new "high powered" mixture, Prof. Brown said, is the restoring to gasoline of natural gas and naphtha which in recent years has been largely removed by refining.

The natural gas, he explained, is high volatile firing easily in cold weather. The naphtha having an opposite effect to the natural gas, retarding vaporization, gets in its work when the engine is hot.

The new blend consists of about 35 to 50 percent of natural gasoline and about 20 to 35 percent of naphtha, Prof. Brown said.

SALLY'S SALLIES

There's one thing most men don't understand about marriage and that is, the wife.

BRIDE OF ALL AGES AND COUNTRIES CLOTHES HERSELF IN LOVELINESS

The bride of all the ages and countries has always clothed herself in loveliness to meet her bridegroom, whether she could spend thousands on her gown or a sum of one or two figures only. At the extreme left of the picture is a $7,000 gown whose cost is much enhanced by a great piece of rose-point lace formerly owned by the late Empress Eugenie, wife of the last Bonaparte, Napoleon III. The second costume is a court representation gown of white georgeette with train of old Brussels lace. The third is a blue and white satin wedding frock, the finishing touches being supplied by exquisite Alencon lace. A bride of the middle ages is pictured fourth, posed by Lillian Roth of the screen. Towering headdresses and flowing gowns were then the vogue. Extreme right is the costume of a Tunisian bride displayed by Laura Williams, operatic star, at a showing of summer stives held in New York recently.

Stocks Display Recovery Today

Industrial And Utility Stocks Go To Higher Prices In Trading Today

U. S. STEEL IS ON UPWARD TURN

By W. S. COUSINS

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 23.—The consequences of the "oversold" condition of the stock market were seen today in the general recovery of the industrial and utility favorites, in a moderate increase in trading on the big board. Advances in some sections of the market extended from 2 to 4 1/2 points, with the preference again shown for the amusement, utility, electrical manufacturing and specialty stocks. American Tel and Tel rose 5 1/2 points, 4 1/2 per cent bonds sold for cash to permit purchasers to take advantage of the new stock offering.

Steel Moves Up United States Steel forged ahead to 172 in the early afternoon for a gain of nearly 3 points. General Electric was up 3 at 83; Westinghouse up 3 1/2 at 173 1/2; radio up 2 1/2 at 51 and American Radiator 2 points higher. Electric Light and Power led the advance in the utilities and sold up 3 points at 87 1/2. Philadelphia and Reading Coal sold at 25 for the first time this year, in continuance of the spectacular rise which had brought the stock up from 12. The strong buying movement in General Motors was still in evidence with that stock above 51.

The rally extended to other sections of the market in the early afternoon. United Corporation sold more than 1 point higher, in the lead of the popular utilities and United Gas Improvement was also in good demand. National Power and Light and Columbia Gas were active and strong. The oils met more opposition as the day wore on, due to the rumors of probable price cutting in California crude. American tobacco B led the move in tobacco shares, with a 5-point jump to 268 1/2. United Cigar stores and Schulte rose about 1 point each. Call money was in supply at 3 per cent.

Lord Strickland Is Fired Upon

(International News Service) LONDON, May 23.—Special reinforcements of police were rushed to Valetta, Malta, today as the result of a murder attempt upon Lord Strickland of Sizergh, prime minister of the Maltese government, who narrowly escaped serious injury or death at the hands of an assassin. Three shots were fired at Lord Strickland, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Malta declared, soon after he entered the court of appeals to attend a case in which the prime minister was appearing as plaintiff. As a result of the incident, an atmosphere of utmost tension prevails, the message added.

Judge Graff Goes Back To Armstrong County Court Bench

Governor Fisher Honors Petition Re-Appointing Judge Graff To Former Post

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 23.—Judge J. Frank Graff, of Kittanning, was back on the Armstrong county bench today, after serving on the superior court bench since February, when he was appointed by Governor John S. Fisher, to fill the vacancy made on the appellate court with the death of Judge William D. Porter.

Judge Graff came to the capitol here yesterday and resigned from the superior court bench and was immediately reappointed to the Armstrong county court from which he had been taken. Neither Governor Fisher nor Judge Graff made any announcement, but the governor made public a petition from the Armstrong county bar.

It was our understanding that Judge Graff would not be opposed as a candidate for the republican nomination to fill the full term of ten years. We feel that a grave injustice has been done to Judge Graff, the petition said of the primary election Tuesday in which the jurist was defeated for the superior court republican nomination. The petition then asked that judge Graff be reappointed to the county bench, which had been vacant since his appointment to the higher court.

While no announcement was forthcoming as to who would succeed Judge Graff for the remainder of the term on the appellate court, it was understood the governor would deliberate for some time before filling the vacancy.

Divide State For Milk Law Control

HARRISBURG, May 23.—Ralph E. Irwin, chief of the bureau of milk control, today announced that nine milk districts have now been established in Pennsylvania for the purpose of adopting proper control methods in conformity with the milk law passed at the last general assembly. These districts with a resident inspector are as follows: Harrisburg, Norristown, Forty-fort, Pittsburgh, Ebensburg, Lewisburg, Towanda, Meadville and Indiana. In addition, there are three supervising inspectors working from the central office in Harrisburg. "The object of these resident inspectors," Irwin said, "is to assure clean, safe milk to Pennsylvania's population. These men will assist the milk distributors in complying with the law by handling applications, making surveys and holding examinations for approved inspectors."

Petition Denied In Ballot Moving

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 23.—Judge James R. MacFarlane today denied the petition of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, who backed Gifford Pinchot in the primary campaign, in which the commissioner asked that 20 ballot boxes of the sixth ward here be taken from the Penn Avenue police station and placed in other custody.

Alderman Luke Sullivan turned the boxes over to the police because he believed the space in his office was too small and because there was ample room in the police station, it was reported. McGovern, backed last night in efforts to have the boxes brought to the sheriff's office, assigned aides to the police station and these watchers remained on guard throughout the night.

Returns To Nest After Forest Fire

HARRISBURG, May 23.—Edmund D. Groff, a deputy game protector at Worthington, has reported to the Game Commission an instance which officials say indicates the extent to which a female pheasant will protect the eggs in its nest. During a recent fire in Armstrong county Groff discovered a nest with eleven eggs directly in the path of advancing flames. Realizing that the flames could not be diverted Groff removed the entire nest, wrapping it in his vest and carrying it to safety. After the fire was extinguished Groff replaced the nest.

An examination the next day revealed the mother grouse contentedly settled on the eggs. Learning is wealth to the poor, an honor to the rich, an aid to the young and a support and comfort to the aged.

Highland P. T. A. Closing Program

Mrs. John E. Elliott Is Presented With Past President's Pin By Members

Rev. Margaret Joshua Of Croton Methodist Church Is Guest Speaker

The Highland Parents-Teachers Association closed the school season Thursday evening with a meeting in the school building, which was well attended both by the parents and the teachers.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Robert Magill in the chair and the pep singing was led by Lawrence Thompson, with Virginia Flynn at the piano. After the singing of several P. T. A. songs, Mrs. Magill called upon Prof. Roy Leslie, principal of the school for a few remarks, in which he spoke of the wonderful work done by the association since its inception a little over a year ago and said that the success of the organization had been due in a large part to the wise selection of officers and their leadership. At this point he spoke of the splendid work of the first president of the association and lauded her in words of highest praise, then presented to her, Mrs. John E. Elliott, a past president's pin, saying she was the first person to receive this pin and also to be a member of the school board. Mrs. Elliott gracefully thanked Prof. Leslie, and the members of the Highland P. T. A. for this wonderful recognition of her efforts, saying that, as a member of the school board, she would like to sponsor the organization of a parents-teachers association in every school in the city.

Daniel B. Woodcock, president of the school board and also a member of the Highland organization was next called upon for a few remarks and he stated very briefly his pleasure in being both president of the board and a member of the organization.

Program Presented
Mrs. J. H. Templeton, chairman of the program committee, then took charge of the evening's program and introduced Katherine Hoover as the first entertainer, who pleased with a piano solo.

The next number was a presentation of the dramatization of a song "The Rainbow Fairies" by students of 4B under the direction of Miss Allen. This number included June Evans, Jean Bogess, Bobby Clark, Isabel LaScola, Erma Staful, Mary Lou Emery, Marian Hildebrand, Barbara Parsons, Willard Tannery, Marion Brown, Bobby Sadler, Billy Nicholson, Nancy Heck, Morton Love, Nelle Young, Evelyn Atkinson, Maxine Templeton, Anne Miller, Hedyline Wimer, Frances Frazier, Helen Love, Daniel Woodcock, Billy Grossman, Billy Campbell, Courter Mills, Ruth Payne and Dorothy Brest.

Next on the program was an exercise "The Magic Box" by pupils of 6A: Frank Grovud, Dick Tanney, Mary McClellan, Edwin Wilson, Charles Cunningham, Eileen O'Leary, Thelma Morgan and Marjorie Hildebrand. This was a good will offering and took up the treasure boxes being sent to the Philippine Islands. It was under the direction of Miss Hutchison.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Margaret Joshua was introduced and spoke in her usual forceful, pleasing manner to the audience on "The Intellectual and Spiritual Setting." In opening her address Rev. Joshua said there were three great organizations in our land, the home, the school and the church and if we took away one the others suffered.

She took up the work of each organization in turn, emphasizing that the earliest training in the right kind of a home was what started the life of a child and the ideals held before him from the first would be what he followed, the home, she said was the greatest of these three but as the child becomes of the age to enter school, the teacher, especially the ones in the first grade influence his life to a greater extent than they realize and for this reason we must use care in selecting the teachers of our children; from the school she took up the spiritual training of the child in the church and church school and held out that the parents must set an example for the child in this part of their education.

In closing Rev. Joshua stated that these three, the home, the school and the church are so closely linked and interwoven that one can hardly get along without the other and all three go toward making our next generation.

Lawrence Thompson closed the program with the singing of a solo, "The End of the Year" after which the social committee, under Mrs. Morris Sadler, served light refreshments.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Some people there are who have influence in certain quarters. One chap I know has a lot of influence in a bank, and another has a lot of influence in a mill, but Ralph Gardner seems to have his influence centered in one spot, the weather man. Any time Gardner decides to put on some event that calls for super elegant weather, all he has to do is announce the date and the weather man seems to take a day off fixing up conditions to suit.

The night spring football game brought us weather that would have rivalled a night in Spain or Hollywood. And again today the weather man seems to have gone farther than usual in his arrangements for it promises to be a night that built for white flannels, straw hats, and tail tied drinks.

It is the night of the first annual New Castle Relays held for competition in track and field events among high schools of Western Pennsylvania, and about forty schools will be represented. The track is in perfect shape, the jumping and vaulting pits are ready, all that is needed is a crowd.

Some big shots in sport are going to be here. For instance, Elmer Layden. You remember Layden when he was one of the Four Horsemen at Notre Dame? He is a coach now, the football mentor of Duquesne. And Bill Haddock, Bill has been the daddy of amateur sport in this district since a few days after the discovery of gold in the Klondike, or it seems that long. He was sheriff of Allegheny County for a term but never relinquished his interest in amateur sports, being president of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the American Amateur Union.

Andy McDonald, graduate manager of Westminster College sports will be there, and a host of others.

Not that it will cost anything extra to see them for the idea of the meet is not money making. There is a charge at the gate of course, but this is an athletic meet that is being put on for sport's sake, and if there is a little balance in the treasury after expenses are paid, it will be more than surprising, it will be a miracle.

Starts at 7:30 tonight on Taggart Field, with forty high schools sending their best men. Not a bad idea to step out and see it.

Some day in the next few years you may find some of the names you hear tonight, in the Olympic lists. Get a look at the kids tonight and see a spectacle that will have the high schools of this section talking. It's big league stuff customers.

Claim Torture Used In Getting "Confessions"

(International News Service)
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 23.—Sensational charges that medieval tortures were inflicted on them to extort false confessions were made in open court by defendants at the trial of Dr. Matichuk and twenty-three other Croatian leaders here.

The defendants were charged with conspiracy to assassinate leading Serbian officials, blow up buildings and otherwise terrorize the country in order to overthrow the Serbian regime in Croatia.

Bernaditch, one of the defendants, testified that he was hung from the ceiling upside down and then beaten and kicked for twelve hours until he "confessed" anything the officials wanted. He repudiated his confession in court and asserted his innocence.

The torture, he testified was executed in the presence of Dr. Bedekovich, the police chief of Agram, where the defendants were arrested. After the torture, Bernaditch charged the police chief treated him to a good meal with wine and cigars and promised to reduce his prospective sentence from twenty to ten years if he would testify against Dr. Matichuk, who is the leader of the Croatian autonomy movement.

Thirty-five lawyers for the defense appealed to the humanity of the court to ease the situation of the defendants who, they claimed, were kept on bread and water in bare cells without even straw to sleep on.

Slavko Cihlar, former editor of the Hrvatski Agram, now living outside Yugoslavia but who was also imprisoned for a time at Agram, charged in the Berlin Tageblatt that beatings and killings were common in the prison, that the cries and groans of the victims could be heard throughout the prison, driving the women prisoners to hysterics, that needles were driven under the nails of one prisoner, a 15 year old boy, and that nails were driven into the bodies of three other prisoners whom he names.

Numerous prisoners, Cihlar charges have been deliberately killed in what is known as the "death cell." He blames the dictatorship of King Alexander for the terror.

JAPAN ADOPTS AMERICAN GAMES AND FILM SHOWS

(International News Service)
DENVER, May 23.—Growing Japanese tendencies are toward the modern and the American. The popularity of American things is rapidly increasing. Baseball is the national game. The Japanese have a fondness for American-made movies and imitates the dress and mannerism of our screen stars. Younger America is exemplified in the "Ginga" or "Broadway of Tokyo" by crowds of the "mobo" and "mobo," which is Japanese slang for the boy and girl flapper and and collegiate.

The picture, and the one vital to Captain Steintorf, is the ever-increasing export and import business between the United States and Japan.

With exports totaling $259,000,000 and imports $432,000,000 in 1929, Japan has become one of the six best customers of the United States, he explained.

"Japan is very rapid in developments," Captain Steintorf said. "Commercially, industrially, and financially, the Japanese are exceedingly progressive. America is playing an important part in this development, and as the Japanese expand in a commercial sense so will trade with the United States become greater."

Linguists Needed At Trial For Libel

(International News Service)
HAMMOND, Ind., May 23.—How much would you charge a man if he said this about you:

"Mga ojan, jotesinat hogv a verhovia egyelet is elvit ezer dollars?"

In a petition filed in Hammond Superior Court here, Mike Silvast, a laborer of Whiting Ind., charged that Steve Mraz, a fellow worker made the above statement. Mike thought he should have $5,000 worth of redress, claiming the statement was false and malicious and injurious to his reputation because in Hungarian it meant:

"You have done such good that you took one thousand dollars from Verhovia lodge."

Meaning in English as Silvast explained, that:

"Instead of Silvast accomplishing good for the Hungarian people, that on the contrary he had treated them badly and had stolen $1,000 from the Verhovia lodge, a Hungarian organization."

A flock of interpreters will attend this trial.

Women Adjudged Best Drink Mixers

(International News Service)
BERLIN, May 23.—Women are much better cocktail mixers than men if the verdict of the jury at a cocktail mixing contest held at the Hotel Adlon represents one of the eternal verities.

For prizes at that contest were won by women.

Lipstick Stains Worry Hotel Owners

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 23.—The old adage about the female of the species being more deadly than the male also applies to the implements used by the two sexes for facial adornment.

Chicago hotel managers, at a meeting here, agreed that lipstick is far more deadly to towels than the razor, long the pet annoyance of hotel keepers because of the minute cuts which soon cause a towel to wear out.

Ernest N. Raul, assistant manager of a hotel which operates a laundry doing work for seven other hotels as well as his own, said his company's expense from lipstick stains was enormous.

"Every towel so stained has to be put through three special laundering processes," he declared. "It's getting worse every day, too, because the guests apparently don't realize the extra work they are putting us to."

One hotel has warned female guests that towels stained with lipstick will be charged on their bills, and another has sought to solve the problem of offering the ladies paper napkins as cosmetic removers.

"Dad, how does the postoffice get its profits?"

"Well, you see, it's like this: suppose printed matter cost 1d for four ounces. Well, if your packet only weighs three ounces you still have to pay 1d and that is where the postoffice gets its profit."—Travaso.

Thompson Joins Chicago Opera Troupe

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 23.—Henry Thompson, dramatic tenor from Convent Garden, has been added to the artistic personnel of the light opera company at the Civic Theatre here.

Thompson, who has been in this country for six years in concert work, studied at the Royal College of Music, holding the open scholarship there for three years. His first operatic engagement was with the Beecham Opera company, of which Sir Thomas Beecham was the director. Following this, he studied in Italy with Lombardi for two years and then returned to the Royal Carl Rosa company.

Thompson came to America to join the French Opera Company in Montreal. He has had a wide experience both in grand and light opera. He was the leading tenor in the first performance of "Elektra" staged at Convent Garden with the composer, Richard Strauss, conducting.

His repertoire includes such roles as Otello, Samson, Radames, Thaddeus in "The Bohemian Girl," Henri in "The Chimes of Normandy," Miles in "The Lily of Killarney" and many others.

Automobile Brings Family To Grief

(International News Service)
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 20.—Add one more family to the list of those which have come to grief over ownership of an automobile.

Charles Bayles, 47, bought an ancient model flivver at a bargain.

Mrs. Bayles, his better half, with him absent, attempted a pleasure ride but instead drove the machine into a curbing, breaking a wheel.

Charles and his wife later indulged in so noisy an argument over the damage to the car that neighbors caused their arrest. They are now free on bond.

One reason why hip-flask parties seem universal is because few of the well-known commentators live out in the sticks.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of American Industry
Paper Making—(Part Five)—Wood Pulp

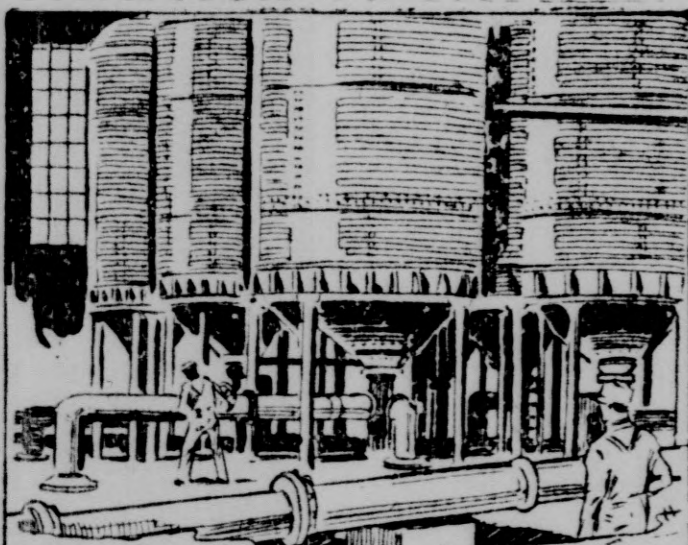

BY THE MIDDLE OF THE 19TH CENTURY, THE GREAT INCREASE IN NEWSPAPERS AND MAGAZINES LED TO SUCH A DEMAND FOR PAPER THAT PAPER MANUFACTURERS BEGAN TO LOOK FOR A NEW SOURCE OF RAW MATERIAL. THE SUPPLY OF RAGS, ALWAYS LIMITED, WAS HOPELESSLY INADEQUATE AND LIMITED THE INDUSTRY. NEW MACHINERY MADE A LARGE OUTPUT POSSIBLE. AFTER MANY EXPERIMENTS, WOOD PULP WAS FOUND TO BE A PRACTICAL RAW MATERIAL FOR PAPER MAKING.

IT IS ONLY BY THE USE OF WOOD PULP THAT THE PAPER INDUSTRY HAS BEEN ABLE TO MEET THE EVER-GROWING DEMAND. MANY PAPER MILLS HAVE MOVED CLOSE TO THE FORESTS, AND IN SOME PLACES LOGS ARE FLOATED FROM THE LOGGING AREAS DIRECT TO THE PAPER MILL. MOST OF THE PULP WOOD USED TODAY IS GROUND BY MACHINERY.

RAGS ARE STILL USED FOR MAKING PAPER. AFTER BEING WASHED, CUT INTO SMALL PIECES AND BLEACHED, THEY ARE PUT INTO A BEATING MACHINE, WHERE THEY ARE REDUCED TO A PULP. DURING THIS PROCESS, COLORING AND SIZING ARE ADDED TO THE PULP.

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF WOOD PULP IS OBTAINED BY "DIGESTING" WOOD IN HUGE TANKS FILLED WITH CHEMICALS. ONLY A SMALL AMOUNT OF "CHEMICAL" PULP IS USED IN MAKING THE CHEAPER PAPERS, BUT A MUCH LARGER PROPORTION GOES INTO THE MAKING OF THE FINER GRADES OF PAPER.

TOMORROW—PAPER MAKING (CONCLUDED).

TRACK MEET AT TAGGART FIELD TONIGHT

Close To 500 Boys To Compete In Meet

Over 50 Schools Entered; Meet To Start At 7:30 Promptly

Will Award 15 Plaques And Over 100 Medals To Winners

Close to 500 athletes from 50 or more high schools around this section will compete in the New Castle High School Night Relay Track Carnival, which will be staged under floodlights at Taggart Field tonight. The first of 35 events will start at 7:30 eastern Standard Time. Because of the novelty of the sport classic a large crowd is expected to fill the stadium to watch the first night track meet ever attempted in the United States.

Over 50 Schools
Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of the high school stated today that everything is set for this evening's performance. He also said that over 50 schools are entered. Some of the schools that will compete are: Erie Academy, Erie East, Meadville, Freedom, Rochester, Aliquippa, Aspinwall, North Braddock, Turtle Creek, East Brook, Midland, Youngstown, Rayon, Uniontown, Greenville, Bellevue, Washington, Pittsburgh, Peabody, Ambridge, Sharon, Monaca, Irwin, New Kensington, Franklin, Gove City, Ellwood City, McKees Rocks, Shenango.

Beaver, Warren, O., Evans City, Zelienople, Clairton, Wilkensburg, Butler, Youngstown Chaney, Kiltanang, Ford City, Homestead, North East, Rocky Grove, New Castle, Pittsburgh, Oliver, George Washington Junior High School, Benjamin Franklin High School, Union High, (New Castle), Bessemer, New Wilmington and Youngstown Chaney. Entries from Lawrence County are Benjamin Franklin Junior high, Geo. Washington, Union, Bessemer, East Brook, New Wilmington, New Castle High and Mount Jackson may enter a team in one of the races.

Keen Competition
With entries from so many schools one can see that competition will be keen. The school that wins the cup for the most number of points will have achieved an honor. "Winning from 50 or more schools is something to be proud of. Close to 35 events are scheduled. Among these events will be 15 relay races. Three field events will also be on the program. The pole vault, high jump, and broad jump are the only field events entered.

Coaches from all the schools entered reported yesterday that their co-teams are in tip top shape for the meet. All the New Castle entries report their tracksters prepared. New Castle high ended training on Thursday for this meet. Following the meet tonight the locals will travel to Pittsburgh where New Castle is scheduled to compete in the Pittsburgh University track meet. The locals won this meet last year.

Ellwood City Minus Four
Ellwood City's High school's track team which won the W. P. I. A. L. track meet and which is regarded as one of the best in this section will be minus the services of four of its track stars. Paul McMurdo, Frank Gross and Kenneth Knight left yesterday for Altoona, Pa., where they will represent this section of the state in the Pennsylvania State meet on Saturday.

Ellwood City was among the favorites to cop the local meet. Each of these four tracksters out, the chances of the Tubers winning the classic are slimmer.

Among the awards to be given at the meet tonight will be 15 plaques and over 100 medals to athletes placing first, second or third in any event. A trophy will be given to the athlete scoring the greatest number of points. The first of the 35 events will start promptly at 7:30 with the final event scheduled to get underway at 9:45.

St. Louis Cards In League Lead

St. Louis Cardinals Win Thirteen Games In Fourteen Starts To Take Lead

MEUSEL'S ERRORS MAKES HISTORY

By COPELAND C. BURG
I. N. S. Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, May 23.—It was in the fatal seventh inning and Bob Meusel of the Cincinnati Reds stopped to flick a fly off his right ear or something like that, the ball whizzed on, and today we have history.

Meusel's error, coupled with four singles, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a two-run rally as they defeated the Reds 4 to 2, won their 13th game in 14 starts and bounced right over Brooklyn at the head of the parade in the National circuit. It was the seventh straight defeat for Cincinnati. Socks Seibold wrote the downfall of the Brooklyn Robins, 6 to 5, as he scratched a hit in the ninth and Spohrer skipped over the plate for Boston's winning run.

Meantime Babe Ruth was etching deeper his name on the tablets of time as the Yankees ruined the Athletics and a few baseball records. Mr. Ruth and Mr. Gehrig each got three homers and the Yanks won two ball games 10 to 1 and 20 to 13. Fourteen circuit clouts were bludgeoned in the two contests.

Klein Hits Homer.
With two out and a playmate on base in the 12th inning, Chuck Klein, champion home run chucker of the upper circuit, goaled a homer and enabled the Phillies to defeat the brave Giants, 10 to 8. Leach, Ott, Lindstrom, Durst and O'Doul also got homers.

And Hornsby and Hartnett made home runs as common as aerial tenors by each blasting one, the Chicago Cubs lowering the Pirates 12 to 5. For the second time in two days the runaway Senators bagged a double header off the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 2 and 13 to 1. In the opener Hadley won a pitching duel over Gaston, and Burke held the ruddy hero to six hits in the nightcap.

Rip Collins was effective for the Browns and St. Louis beat Cleveland 3 to 2, while Detroit pounced all over Dutch Henry, abalaster hurler, and trounced the white Sox, 6 to 1.

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 23.—Harry "Bud" Brownlee, three-sport star from Lock Haven, is leading the Westminster College trackmen in points scored this season. In three dual meets, Brownlee has scored a total of 50 points.

Brownlee's points have been scored in the high hurdles, low hurdles, hammer throw and discus. He has won three high hurdles races, two low hurdles races, has won the hammer throw three times, placed second in the low hurdles once, and has won two thirds in the discus throw and one first.

Lou Peresenyi, Turtle Creek, is second in scoring with a total of 28 points scored in the 100-yard dash, hammer throw, broad jump, and low hurdles. Robert Deacle, Sharpsville, with 21 points, is third in scoring. Deacle has won all his points in the shot put and discus, scoring three firsts in the shot and one first and a third in the discus.

Others in order of scoring are: Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh, 15;

Deane Osborne, Youngstown, O., 15; Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis., 13; William Crowell, Sharon, 13; Kenneth Delahunty, Livermore, 12; James Smalley, Elizabeth, 11; Paul Banks, Youngstown, O., 11; Marvin Clark, Knox, 11; Bryce Yourd, Unity, 9; Wilson Botsford, Pittsburgh, 8; Elmer Myers, Sharon, 7; Samuel Stewart, McKeesport, 6; William Frack, Oakmont, 6; Lorenz Stocker, Pittsburgh, 5; Robert Wallace, Coraopolis, 5; William Williams, Sharon, 3; Glenn Rehfus, Sandusky, O., 3; Ted Bair, West Middlesex, 3; Donald Cleland, Portersville, 2; and Robert Pattison, Lyndhurst, N. J., 1.

With but one more meet, the Tri-State Conference championships at Beaver Falls on Memorial Day, the trackmen will have little opportunity for qualifying for letters if they have not done so already. But most of the men have already qualified for varsity letters, so the aim in the conference meet will be to collect as many medals for first, second, and third places as possible.

Records equaled were 15 homers in one League on the same day; ten circuit clouts by both clubs in a single game.

Ellwood City Boys Arrive In Altoona

Boys Who Will Represent W. P. I. A. L. In State Meet Arrive

Captain Mike Dunn, Paul McMurdo, Frank Gross, and Kenneth Knight members of the Ellwood City High school track team have arrived in Altoona, Pa., where they will represent this section of the state in the annual state track championship meet which is being held at Altoona, Pa., on Saturday.

The new W. P. I. A. L. ruling makes it possible for the four Ellwoodians to compete in the state affair. At a recent meeting of the league it was voted upon to choose the outstanding tracksters in the W. P. I. A. L. meet which was held last Saturday and sent them to Altoona to represent Western Pennsylvania. Last year any school could send athletes to the state meet.

Captain Dunn will compete in the low hurdles. Paul McMurdo and Frank Gross will run in the half mile while Kenneth Knight will show his wares in the pole vault contest. These four proved the outstanding stars in the W. P. I. A. L. meet and it was through their work that the Tube City school was able to win the beautiful cup.

These four also had a lot to do with the winning of the Beaver County meet for Ellwood City. Dick Bartholmew is the coach of the Ellwood City team.

Sharkey Is Just About Ready For Go With German

(International News Service)
ORANBURG, N. Y., May 23.—After what the scribes reported as a violent display of temper, Jack Sharkey was regarded today as closely approaching the peak of training for his fight for the heavyweight title against Maxie Schmeling of Germany on the New York milk fund card June 12. The Boston sailor boy was so cross in his workout yesterday an almost immediate letup in rigid training was expected.

Annoyed by remarks of spectators that Johnny Grosso, one of his sparring mates, might be as good a man as Sharkey himself, the irked Bostonian gave Grosso a severe put-meeling, flayed Paul Cavalier and King Solomon, two other shock absorbers, and called it a day by whacking his manager, Johnny Buckley, a good clout on the head.

Then Sharkey punched the bag viciously, finally smiled at peace in camp was restored.

The sailor boy displayed some vicious jabs and left hooks. He expects to leave probably Sunday for Boston to rest for two or three days, resuming training Tuesday or Wednesday.

Singer-Fernandez To Fight Tonight

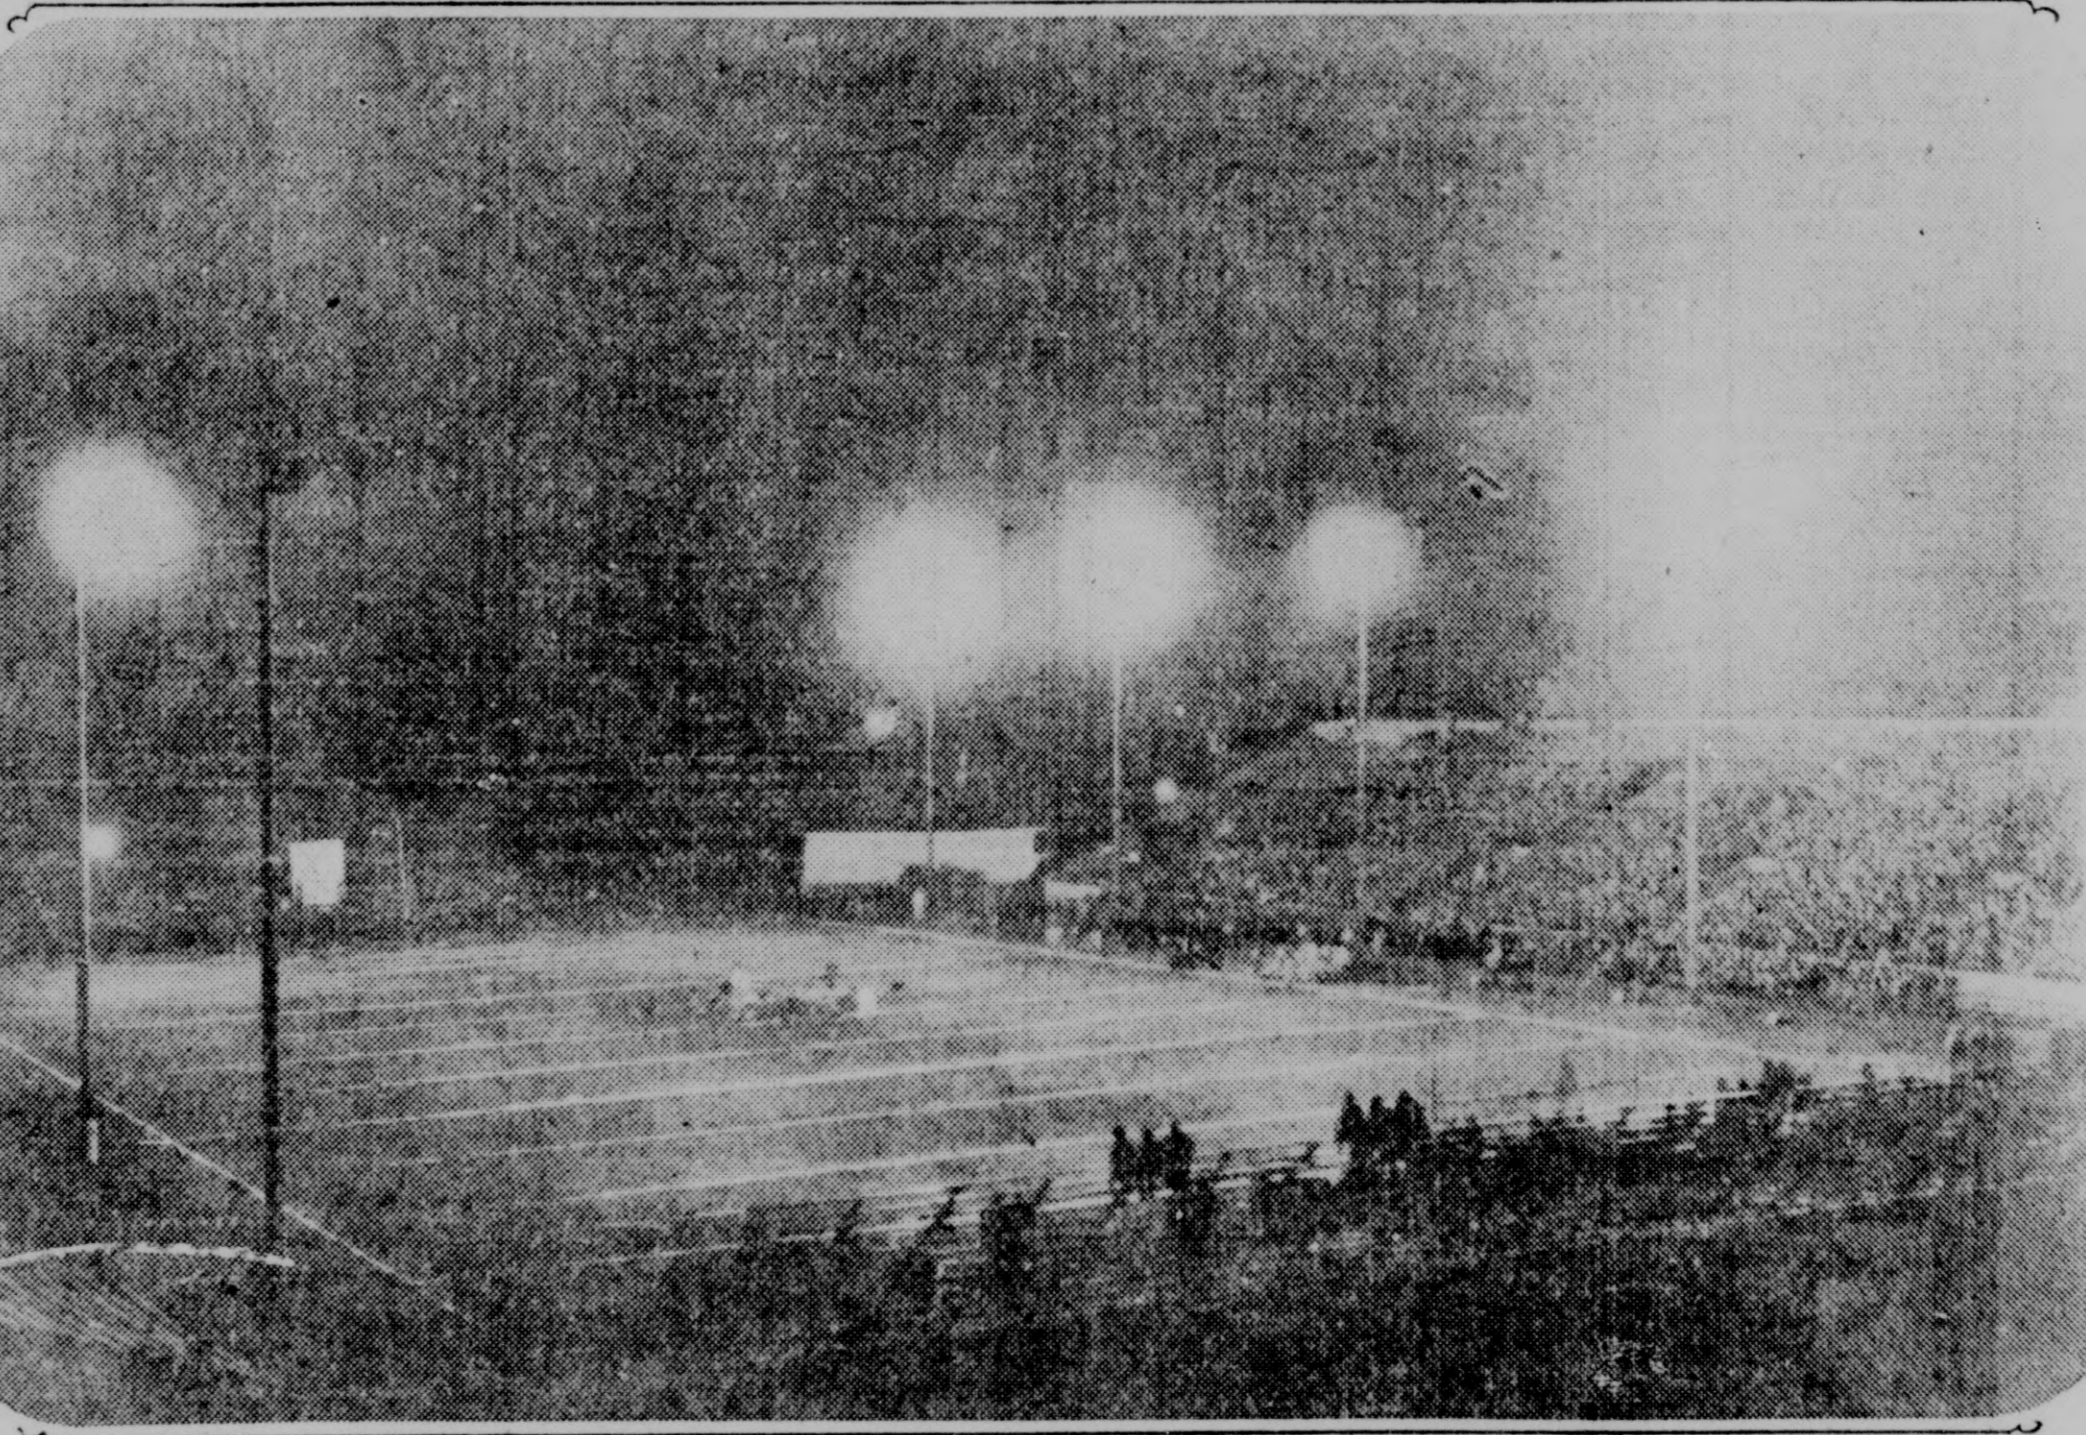

NEW YORK, May 23.—A sell out house at Madison Square Garden was to greet Al Singer, New York lightweight as he essayed revenge to-night upon Agnacio Fernandez, who knocked out Singer in a previous encounter.

The bout is for ten rounds. Singer is a heavy favorite, because he has fought some good bouts since beaten by the Filipino, while Fernandez has lost to Kid Chocolate and Tony Canzoneri.

Singer will weigh about 134 and his opponent 130.

Actual View Of Taggart Field Under Floodlights

If you have never seen Taggart Field during the progress of some sport event at night, pictured above is an actual newspaper photograph of the mammoth field taken during the New Castle-California night football game played last season. New Castle won 44-0.
This same field under floodlights will be the sight of another unusual sport classic tonight when over 500 schoolboy track artists will compete in the New Castle high school Night Relay Track Carnival which starts at 7:30 Eastern Standard Time. The novelty event tonight marks the third time some kind of unusual sport game has been tried. First night football was tried. A spring night football game was the next thing attempted and this evening a night track meet. What will be next?

Babe Ruth Again Has New York Fans Jamming Gates To Watch Homers

NEW YORK, May 22.—Around the headquarters of the New York Yankees, they are gibbering all over the floor space today, with a queue of important mugs reaching back to the bank of the elevator. It is a scene reminiscent of another day and a better day when the Yankees were champions and a world series was practically a New York institution but the clubs saw its last world series two years ago and may never see another. The answer?

The answer is a little word that speaks for genius in a guise that is almost grotesque in its physical absurdities—a little, four-letter word spelling Ruth.

The great man has stood the world on its apex with six home runs in the last two days and so tomorrow and Sunday the Yankees will play to a total crowd of more than 160,000 persons at the stadium, with the world's champion Athletics supposedly as the co-attraction. The latter is largely supposition. They may be playing their way into a couple of ball games but they are coming to see Ruth.

Equals Modern Record
Philadelphia saw more than a great plenty of the fellow while, among other precedent-breaking performances, he was equalling one modern record and bettering another, the former being six home runs in four games and the latter six on successive days.

But New York knows that, once on a rampage, his possibilities are almost limitless and hence it is buying out the ball park for two days in the hope that the carnage will go on against the Philadelphia pitchers, potentially the best staff in the league if not in baseball.

Thus in a single week end, Ruth will write off his $80,000 worth of wages and the club will have enough left to keep the ground keeper busy keeping ground for the rest of his comical life. Unfortunately there is no way of making both Ruth and Gehrig pay off their combined debt of $105,000, although many a sap will go to see both, following Gehrig's three homers in yesterday's record game at Philadelphia. The sap, in fact, gets the break in baseball, for while he may only pay to see one man, the rules say that you must show him at least eighteen or he ceases to be a sap and becomes a litigant. Anyhow, no matter how many men you show him, he only pays once, which is contrary to the suker's international code.

It may be that Ruth and Gehrig, having given their word, will be back in the old routine when two of the great crowds of New York history assemble for the fiesta. Certainly the boys already have done everything that can be expected of them against an all-star cast like Groves' Earnshaw, Quinn, Bonnell and Shores and it would be illogical to look for more. Ruth, in fact, has done enough to last him for a week.

Has Twelve Homers
In consequence of his three homers in Wednesday's first game and his two homers in yesterday's first game and his single homer in yesterday's second game, he has achieved the following within an interval of thirty six hours.

Jumped his total from six home runs to twelve, to the Hack Wilson for the intra-league leadership, drove in the nine runs in two days, six of these coming in the opening game on Wednesday, tied the record with five home runs in three games, tied the record with six home runs in four games, tied his own record, first with five home runs in two days and then made another within six home runs in the same period of time.

George Kelly, Ken Williams and Ruth himself had held the four record jointly but none of them had been able to do it on successive days. The five in three record is held by Ruth, Mike Muldoon, Mike Kelly, Williams and Floyd Scott. Previous to yesterday, Ruth already had done this twice in the second time saw him do it on successive days, September 6 and 7, 1927.

Managers and players have been telling me that, having chivvied his way into the $80,000, Ruth no longer is the ball player he was. They must have been thinking of Ignaz the ice-man. If Ruth is through, so is the Bank of England.

New Castle Indies Defeat Edenburg

Marino On Mound For Indies Allows Edenburg Only Two Hits

The New Castle Indies won their fifth game of the season on Thursday night at Edenburg when they defeated the Edenburg All-Stars 7 to 2. Marino on the hill for the Indies pitched a masterful game, allowing only two hits and fanning nine men. It was the third game this year that Marino has been the victorious pitcher.

P. Gennock did the heavy stick work for the Indies, having a single and two doubles to his credit. M. DiMuccio also hit timely for the winners. Tucker hurled good ball for the losers, but lost control in the first inning when the Indies scored five runs on four hits. Myers was the best hitter for the losers with a double.

Tonight the Indies play the C. A. C. at the Ryanan field. Saturday the Indies go to East Brook for a game.

The Indies still have a few open dates and games can be arranged by calling Jimmy DiMuccio at 9061.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, May 23.—The fans who came to Pittsburgh from Hog Hollow, Squeduck and Oskosh yesterday afternoon to see a lot of pitching in action sure got their money's worth as the Cubs settled the Pirates 12 to 5, in a game that had all the earmarks of a sandlot tangle. Seven pitchers paraded to the raised-mound to show their stuff.

Petty and Osborn started the fracas, but neither of them had much on the ball except possibly a prayer. Petty took his shower bath early along about the sixth inning and Osborn, who was dickered in the five and two-thirds innings route was awaiting Petty's arrival in the locker room to find how things were going. Spencer, Chagnon, Jones and Eason finished the game for the Ensmen in a row. Moss pitched fine ball for the Cubs after relieving Osborn.

Roger Hornsby came back to life and banged out two hits one of them a homer and the other a double. Suhr, Bartell, Traynor and Grantham hit the ball timely for the Pirates.

Hartz May Be Trumps On The Big Track This Year

FOR A LONG TIME HARRY'S WIFE WAS OPPOSED TO HIS RACING BUT FINALLY NODDED HER APPROVAL TO HIS PARTICIPATION IN THE COMING INDIANAPOLIS EVENT

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Cartoonist-Writer

Back to the big track comes Harry Hartz, missing for two years because of an injury which almost put him out of the running for all time. Hartz in the old days was one of the bright personalities who enlivened the great Hoosier bowl in Indianapolis, which every Memorial Day becomes a roaring circle of flashing speed.

Hartz overcame the handicap of his hurt in fine shape, but he had another battle to wage before he entered the 1930 speedway classic. Mrs. Hartz is adverse to Harry's continued activities on the track and she had to be convinced that he should get at least one more try at the big race prize. Harry has never won the Indianapolis grind though he has finished in the money many times. Jimmy Murphy noised him out of the bag money in 1922 and in 1923 Tommy Milton beat him to the tape.

In the Mercantile league the Richmans and Spencers teams are holding the top of the league with two victories and no defeats. Haney and the Bankers are crowding the league leaders closely.

There is just one that is holding up the League, and that is the fact that the players are not showing up in time to start the games at 6:30 o'clock. If everyone is ready to play at 6:30 o'clock sharp, the games can be finished in from 45 minutes to an hour, and then there is plenty of time to get home if you happen to be going out for the evening. Let's try and get at the field by 6:15 o'clock and start on the appointed hour.

Goodman To Box New York Fighter

Meets Augie Pisano In 10-Round Bout Here Week From Monday

FRANK SIMMS KAYO
BOOMS HIS STOCK

There will be no boxing show at Jolly bowl Monday night but when June 2 arrives the fans will witness a pugilistic whirlwind that should start off the summer season with a bang as Joey Goodman, the flashy Cleveland lightweight, has been matched to fight Augie Pisano of New York City.

There is no question but that Goodman is one of the foremost contenders for the lightweight championship of the world as recently he boxed Sammy Mandell 12 rounds at Cleveland and had the bout been a 10-rounder would have had a draw. The champion earned his decision during the last two rounds.

Pisano is one of the most popular Italian-American fighters in the country and has a big following wherever he goes. Tugie has boxed all the best boys in the country and when he comes to tackle Goodman here it will result in a fight that fans will like.

Frankie Simms, Cleveland heavyweight, who boomed his stock by registering a knockout over Ted Sandwina, will box here this summer, according to Jimmie Dunn, who now manages the Cleveland fighter who, like Goodman, got a start here. It is recalled he knocked out a heavy named Gibbons in the winter of 1929.

According to matchmakers and promoters who attended the Sandwina-Simms fight at Cleveland, Simms is one of the best prospects of the year. Sandwina has been boomed by Ike Dorgan but in the fight at Cleveland Simms demonstrated that he is going to be heard from.

According to Cleveland writers, Jimmy Dunn should get the credit for the bout Dunn was asked to take over the tutoring and management of Simms and the result of his tutoring and advice in the ring resulted in Simms putting over the dream kiss.

Phil Goldstein, Pittsburgh lightweight, and Joey Goodman circulated among friends at Pittsburgh and New Roch yesterday. Goldstein fought a good fight with Danny Delmont here and made a lot of friends. Delmont proved the type of fighter that gave Goldstein a chance to strut himself.

The Jolly bowl is now being put in condition for summer bouts and that is why no bouts will be held on Monday night. All the sides will be removed and the bowl will receive a thorough renovating. The seats will be painted and when the fans visit the bowl it will have a spic and span appearance.

Possibly no other man ever got back from a vacation with half the satisfaction felt by Jonah. The Toledo Blade.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Prices Go Upward In Market Today

International News Service
NEW YORK, May 23.—The rally in industrial stocks and specialties which started near the close of Thursday's session was carried into the early trading today and prices of the speculative leaders advanced 1 to 5 points or more on a 30 per cent increase in trading activity.

J. I. Case, in the high-priced specialty, rose 7 1/2 points to 302. Auburn Motor gained 2 points; Vanadium 1 1/2; Westinghouse 3 1/2; American Tel and Tel 2; Electric Power and Light 3 and American Waterworks 2 1/2. United States Steel advanced fractionally to above 170. National Dairy Products reached a new high for the year at 59.

Except for the comparatively small list of speculative favorites, the market was dull and quiet in this period. Professionals stirred up the amusements-making developments in sound-pictures entertaining, the motor stocks and accessories on the increase in buying demand for low-priced cars, and the utilities on the expansion in their business in recent months. American Tel and Tel sold ex-rights at 22 1/2. Call money loaned at 3 per cent.
